

Lamie's 587 Pts. Set Lion 3-Yr. Cage Mark

Penn State Courtmen Trample Rutgers 73-50 For Eleventh Win

The Nittany Lions' basketball captain, Lou Lamie, became Penn State's new "Mr. Basketball" when the rangy Lion forward's claim to the three year scoring record was confirmed as a new Penn State standard.

Lamie's 587-point output eclipses the mark of 576 set in 1941-'42, '46-'47, and '47-'48 by Jack Biery. The Lion ace piled up his record output with 98 points in his sophomore year, 249 last season in his junior year, and 240 this season with six games still to be played. Biery scored 118 as a sophomore, 198 as a junior, and 260 as a senior.

Close To 300 Pts.

With six games remaining on the schedule, Lamie stands an excellent chance of becoming the first Penn State cager to score 300 points in a season.

The Arnold, Pa. product needs only to average 10 points per game the rest of the way to shade by one point the one-year scoring record of 299 set last year by Marty Costa.

Amid the confusion of whether Lamie had broken the three-year mark, Coach Elmer Gross' cagers jumped back on the win trail with a loud bang Saturday night by soundly trouncing Rutgers university at New Brunswick, 73-50.

Williams Injured

But even with their eleventh win safely tucked away, the Lions have their collective fingers crossed, waiting for the report on the x-ray taken of Hardy Williams' foot. The Nittany forward injured his toe in the Rutgers contest and it is believed it might be broken.

The ever-improving Tiny McMahan and Joe Piorkowski stole the thunder from their high-scoring team mates, Lamie and Ted Panoplos, Saturday, by leading the Nittanies to an easy win over the Scarlet cagers.

McMahan, with 16 points, hit his season high against the Queensmen while Piorkowski played a sparkling all-around game besides chipping in 12 points in helping the State courtmen capture their seventh win in their last eight starts.

Big Halftime Edge

State was never behind in the game, piling up a 39-29 lead at halftime and then coasting to one of its easier victories of the year.

The Lions will go back into action tomorrow night, when they entertain American university in Rec hall. Penn State defeated the Eagles in Washington, D.C. earlier in the season, 66-63.

Edwards, Ex-State Soccerman, Quits

WEST CHESTER, Pa., Feb. 18.—(P)—West Chester Teachers college has lost its assistant soccer coach and head tennis coach to the business world.

Selwyn 'Shorty' Edwards announced yesterday his resignation of the two coaching positions, effective March 1, to take a post in the Industrial Relations department of General Motors Corp. at La Grange, Ill.

The former Penn State all-American soccer player will be replaced by Roland B. Macomber, physical education director at Elkns Park (Pa.) high school.

Block And Bridle Club

Plans for the Little International agriculture show in March will be discussed at a meeting of the Block and Bridle club tonight at 7:30 o'clock in 206 Agriculture building.

Dr. J. J. Shigley, retired veterinarian of the College, will address the club.

Penn State football teams have been undefeated on their home gridiron for 41 of the last 62 years. They were undefeated from 1888 until Notre Dame's victory in 1913.

Matmen Topple Syracuse 17-9 To Keep Unbeaten Streak Intact

It's six down and two to go for Coach Charlie Speidel's wrestlers who added another win to their season's string of five victories and no defeats by taking a 17-9 decision from defending Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling association champion Syracuse.

The Lions will try for number seven, against the Midshipmen of Navy Saturday afternoon in Rec hall.

Nittany Captain Homer Barr extended his personal dual meet win streak to 22 when he pinned Orange heavyweight Pete George in 1:20 of the first period with a half-nelson and bar-arm. Barr scored a 30 second takedown on the Orange footballer.

Middie Gymnasts Defeat State, 56 1/2-39 1/2; 2nd Loss

The veteran duo of Dave Benner and Rudy Valentino were the only shining lights for Penn State in the meet Saturday which saw the Naval Academy team jolt the Lions, 56 1/2-39 1/2.

Benner's 261 points was tops in the sidehorse event while Captain Valentino turned in a 277 for his fourth win of the season.

Valentino has yet to lose this year. Both men took first places while Coach Gene Wettstone's squad was sustaining its second loss of the season. It has won twice.

Three 1sts For Lewis

The combined efforts of Benner and Valentino were not enough to even offset the brilliant performance of Navy's Cliff Lewis who captured three individual victories. Lewis earned the highest rating of the day with a 280 score on the horizontal bar as well as winning the parallel bars and the flying rings events.

The hope-climb also resulted in a Navy victory when two Middies tied for first. Dave Schultz, No. 1 Nittany climber, tied for third place with another Navy man.

State's strongest point of attack was the sidehorse where Larry Jamieson followed Benner's win by finishing in second place. Bob Shaffer took fifth.

Hot In 3 Events

Navy finished 1-2 in three events, the H-bar, rope-climb, and the P-bars, piling up a total which had already clinched the meet before Valentino turned in his win in the final competition of the day.

State's Tom Campbell, Dave Douglas, and Jim Hazen placed in two events. Douglas gained a third on the P-bars and a fifth on the rings. Hazen took second on the rings and a fifth in the rope-climb while Campbell earned a third place on the H-bar and a fourth on the P-bars.

Freshman Five Trip Bucknell

Penn State's freshman basketball team ended its three-game losing streak and avenged a previous setback last Saturday at Rec hall by trouncing the Bucknell frosh, 56-39.

Having taken their previous 51-31 licking to heart, Coach Joe Tucci's youngsters battled the Bisons on even terms throughout the first quarter and finished the half with a slim 23-22 lead. Stan Poff, the Bison's high-scoring center, cut the cords for eight of his 11 points during the first half to keep Bucknell within breathing distance.

Big 3rd Quarter

However, the baby Lions steamrolled for 22 points in the third quarter, giving them a 45-35 margin going into the final period, and practically eliminating any hope of a Bison victory.

With this advantage, the Nittanies put on the "squeeze" in the fourth quarter allowing the Bisons to register only two fouls and a field goal, while they scored 11 counters.

The victory gave the Penn State frosh a three-four record for the season. They resume action again next Wednesday when they travel to the Altoona Center.

Jayvees Wrestle LH Eagles Tonite

Penn State's junior varsity wrestlers will engage the Lock Haven State Teacher's college junior varsity squad tonight on the Rec hall practice mats starting at 8 p.m.

The match is an informal practice with no student AA books necessary. Charlie Speidel, who will handle the junior varsity team, plans to start with Paul Miller in the 123-lb. spot.

Wrestling in the 130-lb. class will be Larry Levin. In the 137-lb. division, according to Speidel, will be Nick Vigilante, while Jack Waters is expected to hold down the 147-lb. spot.

At 157 will be Ray Markle, who received the nod in a last minute decision. Burt Orban will start at 167 for the junior varsity squad while Bill Garrison is expected to hold down the 177 spot.

In the heavyweight position for the Lions will be Lynn Illingworth of State College.

An old tradition at Penn State was the "Hello" tradition, by which students and faculty members had an opportunity to win cash or dance tickets merely for saying "hello" to the right person.

Including Beaver field, the central campus of State College consists of 217 acres. The golf course is spread over 130 acres, and there are 2600 acres of farms.

For the third time in five years, Penn State football will be in command of co-captains next fall.

Frey Wins Again

Don Frey also furthered his streak to six in his first season for the Statemen with a 7-2 decision over Syracuse's Lee Nethersole in the 147-pound battle.

Frey scored Penn State's first three points after the three lower weight class decisions had been copied by Syracuse, giving them a 9-0 lead before the Lions started to roll.

Johnny Reese, who returned to the lineup for the first time since the Virginia meet, dropped a 7-1 verdict to Syracuse's lone EIWA champion, Bob Gerbino in 123.

Dreibelbis Hurt

Jack Dreibelbis became Lou Tschirhart's eighth straight victim over two seasons' as Syracuse added three more points on Tschirhart's 8-2 decision. The match was stopped for three minutes by referee Wilbur Lehman when Dreibelbis was injured. Team physician Dr. Alfred Griess said that Dreibelbis had bruised a rib cartilage and might possibly be out for a week.

Don Maurey became the third and last victim of a Syracuse wrestler when sophomore Bob Bury garnered an 8-3 decision. Maurey had a 3-1 advantage in the second period, but Bury tied it up with a takedown and pulled ahead on a near fall.

Bill Santel engaged Orange Captain Howie Tice and took a 5-0 verdict.

Strategy Works

Speidel's strategy apparently paid off as both Mike Rubino and Joe Lemyre turned in white-wash victories over their Piety Hill opponents.

Rubino, wrestling 167 for the first time in his career, turned in a 5-0 victory over Murray Winer to even the team scores at 9-9. Winer preserved his own streak of never having been pinned in college.

Lemyre put the Lions ahead with a 4-0 win over sophomore Enzo Marinelli, who has yet to post a win this season for Orange Coach Joe McDaniel. Lemyre took his points on a takedown in the first and a reverse in the second periods.

Frosh Cagers In Action

ALL EYES are on the ball as Ed Harris takes a shot at Bucknell's goal during the Lion cubs game at Rec hall Saturday afternoon. An unidentified Bucknell frosh (No. 4) tried to block the shot, but missed. The Lions won, 56-39.

Collegiate Sports Belong On Campus Says Beebe

College basketball and football belong on the campus in the opinion of the Rev. Keith Beebe, Religion-in-Life speaker and former Little All-American football player at California's Occidental college.

Referring to the charges of game-throwing against Ed Roman, Ed Warner, and Al Roth of City College's basketball team, Beebe leveled the blame "not so much on the colleges as on the promoters in Madison Square Garden."

Money-Hungry

The players' interest in money, Rev. Beebe said, was just another example of the materialism of the present-day world.

Rev. Beebe is now the assistant dean of the chapel, and director of the student Christian association at Princeton university. A member of the 1944 professional New York Giant football team, he now coaches the freshman eleven at Princeton in addition to his other duties.

There should not be scholarships for football players or any kind of athletes, the Rev. said. Athletics are "just another extracurricular activity," he said. The only assistance athletes at Princeton receive is based on scholastic standing and need. The athletes pay for their own training table, he stated.

Every Boy 'All-American'

Chosen as a member of the Little All-American backfield in 1942, Rev. Beebe believes there is too much emphasis on the All-American selections. "Every boy who plays the game is an All-American."

The Reverend said he was "not particularly proud" of his being chosen an All-American. Under Coach Gus Henderson, he said, "we played for the fun of it."
