

Activity File System To Be Explained

A section of All-College cabinet's male activities card committee will begin next week to explain the recently established activities card file system to all campus organizations, James Worth, committee chairman, announced yesterday.

Worth said another section of the committee would start drawing up forms which campus organizations will use to send in lists of their male members to Student Union. The various school councils will gather information from the organizations' lists and note it on the cards filed in the dean of men's office.

Festival To Be Held For Funds

An international festival sponsored by the international committee of the School of Home Economics will be held in the Home Economics building March 3. The festival is designed to raise money for a foreign student scholarship at the College.

Varied entertainment, including a doll exhibit, illustrated talks, arts and crafts exhibits, folk dancing, and music, will be presented at each of two performances, from 3 to 5:50 p.m. and from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Refreshments will also be served.

Foreign Exhibits

The festival will include exhibits of articles from seven foreign countries. A collection of articles made by Dr. Hazel Hatcher on her trip to Germany will also be on display.

Illustrated talks on Japan and Guatemala and a discussion by five students from India will be held. An exhibition of Swedish arts and crafts will be featured.

Student To Sing

Kyong Ho Lee, a sophomore at the College, will sing Korean songs. Mrs. Vaclav Mares will demonstrate the making of apple strudle. Food from four foreign countries will be served in characteristic table settings.

Mrs. Jane Sheppard will lead audience participation groups in folk dancing at the afternoon performance. A folk dancing group from the Christian association will give a similar demonstration in the evening.

The sponsoring committee is composed of faculty, students, and townspeople interested in foreign students at the College. Their other activities include the sending of packages of food, books, and clothing abroad.

Tickets, for which there will be a small charge, may be obtained from committee members, or purchased at the door.

Rabbi To Give Chapel Sermon At Schwab

"The Task of Religion Today" will be the topic of Rabbi M. Robert Syme at the chapel service in Schwab auditorium at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Rabbi Syme of B'nai Abraham Synagogue, Butler, Pa., is a native of Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada. He was graduated from the University of Manitoba, and also attended the United college at Winnipeg. Following graduation, he studied at the Jewish Institute of Religion in New York. After obtaining his rabbinical orders, he was called to serve at Plainfield, N.J., and then went to Temple Israel, Sharon, Pa.

Rabbi Syme serves in the Juvenile Guidance clinic at Butler, and has spoken on weekly radio programs. While a student at the Jewish Institute of Religion, he served as resident chaplain at Bellevue hospital for two years. He now is the chaplain at Deshon hospital, Butler. As a reward for his work with those of all faiths, he was awarded a plaque by the Slippery Rock State Teachers college.

Mills To Head

Richard Mills is head of the speaking section of the committee. Others in that division are Ray Evert, John Moyer, and Sally Shoemaker. John Lee is in charge of the forms division of the committee. Members are David Bronstein, Joseph Lenchner, and Merlin Miller.

Activities cards were filled out by approximately 6000 male students at registration, Worth said. He added that the cards will be completely sorted soon and will be kept in card files in the front room of the dean of men's office.

Files To Be Opened

Worth said the files will be opened for a week in the near future for additions or corrections to the cards. He said the files would then be closed to individuals and groups except school councils and organizations screened by the dean of men's office.

Each male student's advisor will note the student's all-College average on the cards, according to Worth. He said the advisors will get the cards from the school councils. They will take them from the dean of men's office for that purpose.

Incoming Students

Worth said the dean of men's office will administer the card files. He said the office will make out a card for incoming students beginning with the next fall semester.

The cards will be placed permanently in the alumni files when the male students graduate, Worth said.

Talent Show Draws 1100 In Schwab

BULLETIN

Freshman pianist Robert Klug won the $25 first prize in the 11th annual Talent Show last night.

Don Hopkins and Bill Durborow, the "Nittany Ridge-runners," won the $15 second prize and baritone Edward Rolf won the $10 third prize.

By MARV KRASNANSKY

A near-capacity crowd of 1100 packed Schwab auditorium last night for the 12-act 11th annual Penn State Club Talent show.

John Cox, a funny man at times, handled the chore of master of ceremonies, assisted by the Frustrated Four, George Eyrich, Dick Kerwin, Eugene Raup, and Thomas Stabler.

The crowd was told that there was an outside chance that the winner of the show would be given a chance to appear on the Arthur Godfrey Talent show.

Noel Peterson and Frederick Humphreys, running under the name Pete and Muggs, had difficulty getting the audience to laugh with a comedy act that started the show.

Janice Berg, lovely blonde soprano, did a workmanlike job rendering "Some Day," and "Be My Love."

Accordionist Stan Meyers won long applause with his versions of "If," and "Dark Eyes," the latter a jazzed-up version.

Edward Rolf, a deep-voiced, confident baritone, won the approval of the audience with his performance of "On the Road to Mandalay," and the old-time favorite, "Old Man River."

The Troubadors, Herky Allison, George Jeffries, Theodore Myers, and Gordon Seward, a clever quartet, combined comedy, pantomime, and music to the delight of the audience. They ably performed "Coney Island Baby," "Dear Old Girl," and "Why the Roses Grow." The last was an impersonation of the Ink Spots.

Freshman Customs End Following 17-Day Period

Freshman customs will end at 8 a.m. today.

Neil See, chairman of Tribunal, announced the end of the customs period yesterday, releasing 61 frosh from the regulations imposed on them Feb. 7.

The hazing period was considerably shorter this semester than it was in the fall, in compliance with suggestions received from the men who went through customs then, See said.

Hazing Requirements

The men were required to wear dinks, name cards, and black bowties for only 17 days this semester, compared with 41 days in the fall.

"This customs period could have been better," See said, "but due to the small number of men this semester, the regulations were harder to enforce."

He remarked that the frosh-hatmen "polo" game, won by the hatmen, 2-0, was one of the highlights of the 17 day period.

Good-Natured Competition

See said that he hoped that some such event would be included in all the customs programs in the future. Events of this type helped to create a sense of good-natured competition between the first-year men and the hatmen, "policemen" of the customs rules, according to See.

Recommendations for next year's program will be left with Tribunal, the enforcing body for customs, he said. Chief among them will be a suggestion that the period of hazing be kept short, possibly about three or four weeks.

Canterbury Club To Hold Discussion

The topic for discussion at this week's meeting of the Canterbury club will be "Christianity Without God." This discussion is one of a series of Lenten talks based on questions of the Christian faith.

The meeting is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. at the St. Andrews' parish house and will follow the new coffee hour procedure with faculty guests.

Dance Band To Present Own Music

George Gershwin and Jerome Kern did it, and now members of Phi Mu Alpha Modern Dance band are writing original music.

The band, an outgrowth of the Modern Music workshop, has 19 members. Three members of the honorary music fraternity have had professional experience in arranging. They are Donald Smith, Thomas Anderson, and Jack Huber, president of the group, who leads the band.

Six Bands Represented

Four campus band leaders and personnel from six campus bands are represented in the group, which began practicing last fall. Instruments include five trumpets, five saxophones, four trombones, two drums, a bass, and a piano.

Huber, who plays the guitar, said a section of five trumpets and two drummers is an unusual feature of the band. Most bands, he said, have only three or four trumpets and one drummer.

The group will make an appearance at the Phi Mu Alpha concert in Schwab tomorrow afternoon and play for the Phi Mu Alpha Musician's ball in Recreation hall, March 2. These events will mark the first appearances of the group since the inauguration ball.

In addition to playing with campus bands, several members of the group played with semi-name bands. Donald Smith had experience with several Chicago bands and Jack Huber played in Tommie Tucker's band.

Composers In Group

Several of the pieces at tomorrow's concert were written by members of the group. "Abstract," and "Black and Green,"

New Material Being Accepted For 'Inkling'

Material for the Inkling, new literary magazine, will be accepted immediately, Florenz Fenton, managing editor of the publication, announced yesterday.

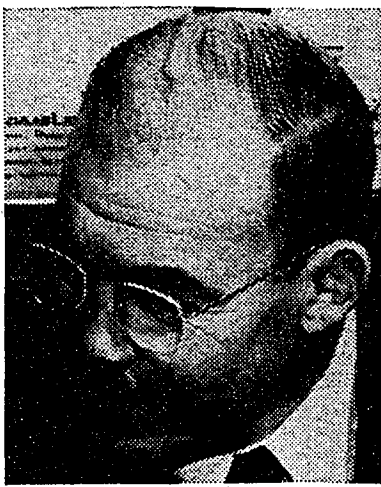

He stressed that the magazine would not be staff-written, but that the staff would serve as an editorial board for the work of the student body. Fiction, poetry, art, and special photographs is what Inkling is interested in for the first issue which is being planned for publication in April, Fenton said.

Students who wish to submit material to the magazine may have it considered by the editorial board and its faculty advisors by leaving it at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

Financial backing on the part of some student groups has enabled the staff to make plans for the first issue. Previously the staff had difficulty gaining financial aid.

Financial support is needed because the magazine is not being planned as a completely commercial venture, Fenton said. He added that Samuel Vaughan, editor, and other staff members studied the business situation thoroughly before deciding to publish.

Blue Key To Honor Speidel, Jeffrey

Charlie Speidel

Charley Speidel and Bill Jeffrey, two of the outstanding collegiate coaches in the country, will be honored for their service to Penn State tonight in Recreation hall when they are presented with sterling silver table bowls by Blue Key, junior hat society.

Speidel, now completing his 25th year as wrestling coach, and Jeffrey, who capped his 25th season as soccer coach by guiding the Lions to a national championship, are deans of the coaching staff. Both came to State in 1926, and like Ol' Man River have been jus' rollin' along.

Wrestlers Meet Navy

Now in the midst of his 25th season, Speidel will send his wrestlers in quest of their seventh straight win of the season when they tangle with Navy this afternoon at 2 p.m. in Recreation hall. The current Lion mat team is a strong favorite to cop the Eastern title. But winning teams are nothing new to Speidel, the gnarled, wise-cracking veteran of the mats.

Three other Speidel-coached teams have won Eastern laurels, and nine other teams had but one loss. In compiling the amazing record of 120 wins against only 37 defeats and 8 ties, Speidel's teams have won 73 per cent of their meets. He has coached 32 individual Eastern titleholders.

Jeffrey's Record

One of the most colorful figures on campus, Jeffrey, the comical Scotsman, has given his opponents little to laugh about. In 25 years Jeffrey-coached teams have won 76 per cent of their

NSA Vote Petition Signed By 3700

Over 3700 persons have signed the absentee voting petition, David Fitzcharles, chairman of the NSA absentee voting committee, reported last night.

The petition, prepared by the National Student association, will be circulated at the Student Union desk in Old Main this morning and at Recreation hall this afternoon. It will be sent to the

Fees Payable Today

Time for the payment of second semester fees has been extended from 8 until 11:30 a.m. this morning, College bursar David C. Hogan announced yesterday.
