

Ballots Mailed For Nomination Of Trustees

Nomination ballots for the annual election of three alumni to serve on the College board of trustees have been mailed to alumni, the alumni office announced yesterday.

The names of alumni who have received 50 or more nominations will be placed on the final election ballots. These ballots will be mailed about May 1, Ross Lehman, assistant executive secretary of the alumni association, said.

Each eligible alumnus has the privilege of naming three candidates on his nomination ballot. The three alumni trustees elected each year serve a three year term without pay and may serve any number of consecutive terms.

The alumni trustees whose terms expire this year are J. E. Holtzinger, C. L. Kinsloe, and G. H. Young.

Under the rules governing trustee elections, all graduates of the College of not less than three years standing who have received bachelor's degrees and all persons who have received advanced degrees are eligible to vote.

According to the regulations, this would not permit holders of bachelor's degrees in the classes of 1948, 1949, and 1950 to vote this year. All holders of bachelor's degrees in the classes prior to and including the class of 1947 may vote.

Those eligible to be elected trustees of the College are all holders of bachelor's degrees or advanced degrees from the College who are not a member of the faculty or the board of trustees of any other Pennsylvania college or university.

Drawings Planned For Livestock Show

Drawings for animals in the College 1951 Little International Livestock show will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in 206 Agriculture, according to William King and James Gallagher, co-managers of the affair. The show will be held April 28.

Contestants will fit and show the animals they choose under the guidance of division heads and herdsmen at the College. Any student may participate in the show.

CA To Hear U.S. Friends Representative

Ray Hartsough, of the American Friends Service committee, will speak on "The Why and What of the American Friends Service Committee Program" at the PSCA round table discussion in 304 Old Main at 7:30 tonight.

Hartsough is a graduate of Heidelberg college, Tiffin, Ohio, and of the Hartford Theological seminary. In 1949 he went to Palestine under the auspices of the American Friends Service committee. While in southern Palestine, he was the Quaker representative at Camp Breig, where 13,000 Arab refugees were located.

Later Hartsough was transferred to Acre, Israel, where he was in charge of the Quaker unit which distributed relief supplies to the city of Acre and to Arab villages in western Galilee, and which sponsored a program of reconciliation at the Quaker center, the meeting place for Jews and Arabs.

On his way home from Palestine, Hartsough visited Quaker workers in Switzerland, Germany, and France. Back in the U.S., he became college secretary for the American Friends Service committee in the middle Atlantic region.

Hartsough is currently visiting colleges, universities and seminaries in the middle Atlantic region. Following his speech tonight at the PSCA round table, he will be available tomorrow for interviews with students interested in projects of the American Friends Service committee.

Judging for the show will be based on the quality of fitting and showmanship capabilities. Ribbons, prizes, and trophies will be awarded to winners in both phases of livestock and exhibiting.

To Limit Drawing

An unlimited number of animals is available in the swine, sheep, and beef cattle divisions, but only 17 horses are owned by the College. Ralph Yergey, manager of the horse division, has announced that the Block and Bridle club, sponsors of the show, voted to limit the first drawing of horses to club members only because of the limited number of horses and the number of seniors desiring to show them.

The remaining horses will be distributed to anyone else desiring to show one.

Students drawing beef cattle for the show will have an opportunity to work with some of the best cattle at any college in the nation, according to A. H. Imof, assistant in agricultural journalism. Numbers of top quality animals purchased recently in all three breeds will assure everyone showing a first rate animal, Imof said.

To Give Advice

Alex Buchan, Philip Houston, and Walter Welker, experienced men in fitting and showing, will give advice and instruction to the contestants, he added.

Committees for the show's various divisions are, Houston and Welker, beef cattle; Frank Zorn and Guy Temple, swine; Carl Everett and Joseph Williams, sheep; and Yergey and Donald Clapper, horses.

In charge of other activities are Lester Burdette, catalogue; James Huet, awards; Dorlin Hay, special features; and Daniel Pierce and Edna Grabiak, refreshments, decorations, and banquet.

LA Newspaper To Make Debut

The LA Angles, newly organized publication of the Liberal Arts Student council, will make its initial appearance in the halls of Sparks building tomorrow.

Copies will be placed at several locations for students of the school, who have been requested to take only one copy. Posters will identify the distribution spots.

The Angles is a four-page off-set publication designed to acquaint students of the LA school with activities of the council and to provide a medium for the expression of student opinion. Those desiring to submit material for publication should contact members of the staff or the council, it was announced.

Financial limitations will probably restrict publication to one more issue this semester, it was said. A full publication schedule is planned for next year.

Staff of the Angles includes Jack Boddington, editor; George Glazer, managing editor; and William Harral, circulation manager.
