drawal from the program—could be listed as follows:

1. High prices. He said the Office of Price Stabilization's margin-of-profit provides "price ladders instead of price ceilings."
2. "Lack of an effective rent control law. The government is not manifesting strong leadership in the effort to prevail upon Congress to adopt an effective new rent control law."
3. "Wages are frozen by government order. Nothing else in the economy has been frozen."
4. Taxes. The plain people "are being asked to pay taxes just as high as the wartime peak. But the taxes on business are still far below that level."
5. Civilian manpower. "During the last war, free American labor proved beyond any doubt that it can outproduce conscripted labor. There is no justification now for dangerous experiments with labor conscription, yet that is exactly where the Office of Defense Mobilization is heading."
6. Representation on defense agencies. "Labor can have no confidence in defense agencies which are completely dominated by big business representatives who see only the big business point of view."

ranged by de Paur, "Quiet Flows the Don," by Dzerzhinsky and de Paur, "Songs of the French Partisan," arranged by de Paur and "Roger Young," by Loesser and de Paur.

Spirituals
Following the intermission, the group will resume with a section of five negro spirituals and work songs: "His Name So Sweet," arranged by Hall Johnson, "I Want Jesus to Walk With Me," arranged by de Paur, "Listen to the Lambs," by R. Nathaniel Dett, "Water Boy," by Robinson and de Paur, and "Great Gawd A-Mighty," by Jester Hairston.

The chorus will conclude the concert with a group of four songs of faith: "Adoramus Te Christe," by Palestrina, "Ani M-Amin," arranged by de Paur, "Bless the Lord, O My Soul," by Ippolitoff and Ivanof, and "The Lord's Prayer," by Malotte and de Paur.

The de Paur Infantry chorus began its civilian career in 1947 after having given more than 2,000 concerts for the armed forces.

92 Animals Drawn For Stock Show

Ninety-two animals were drawn to be shown in the College's 1951 Little International Livestock Show on April 28, Edna Grabiak, secretary of the Block and Bridle club, said yesterday. Drawings were held Tuesday by the club, sponsors of the show.

Animals in both the sheep and swine divisions are still available, Miss Grabiak added, but the horse and cattle divisions are closed.

Because of the quality of the livestock to be shown this year, the exposition has attracted far more than usual interest, James Gallagher, show co-chairman, said. New additions have been made in the Shorthorn, Hereford, and Angus beef cattle, Morgan horses recently purchased by the College and outstanding Yorkshire hogs will also appear in this year's show.

Matric Cards Ready For New Students

Students new on campus this semester may exchange their temporary student identification cards (matriculation cards) for permanent ones at 110 Willard hall any time up to and including 5 p.m. next Thursday. A fee of $1 will be assessed for exchange after next Thursday.

Jeffries Elected Fellow By Mineral Society

Dr. C. D. Jeffries, soils technologist at the College, was recently elected a Fellow by the Mineralogical Society of America. Jeffries, a member of the School of Agriculture staff, has been devoting much of his time to soil research.

He was elected a Fellow by the American Society of Agronomy in 1948.

Scientists Rate Crop Work High

Experimental work at the College in forage crops was rated the most outstanding in the nation recently by a team of scientists for the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Dr. D. R. Dodd, of Ohio State university, headed the survey. The scientist view breeding, management, fertilization, and other forage research under way.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

Number 14...THE BEAVER

"How eager can they get?"

For once in his life, our fervent friend admits that eagerness can be over-done! He's alluding, of course, to all these quick-trick cigarette tests—the ones that ask you to decide on cigarette mildness after just one puff, one sniff, one inhale or one exhale! When the chips are down, he realizes cigarette mildness can't be judged in a hurry. That's why he made . . .

The sensible test . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test which asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke—on a pack after pack, day after day basis. No snap judgments needed. After you've enjoyed Camels—and only Camels—for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), we believe you'll know why . . .

More People Smoke Camels than any other cigarette!
