

Nominations—

Harry Cover, vice-president, and Thomas Jurchak, secretary-treasurer. Cover recently resigned as State party clique leader.

Senior class steering committee nominations went to David Olmstead, president; Robert Amole, vice-president; and Sally Shoemaker, secretary-treasurer.

Michael Hanchek, president; Samuel Marino, vice-president; and Lee Coy, secretary-treasurer, were the steering committee's junior class nominees.

Kathryn Scheetz, the only other nominee entered, was named as a candidate for senior class secretary-treasurer.

Not Choice Of Leaders
Like Carlson, Joseph Haines, nominated for the senior class presidency on the Lion ticket, did not seem to be the choice of party leaders. On the other hand, indications were that Jack Beiter, nominated for vice-president of the senior class, did appear to be a party choice.

Both Beiter and Haines were nominated by campus sports personalities. Carlson was entered by Jay McMahan, basketball player, and Beiter by boxer John Albarano.

A light turnout of party supporters was recorded at both meetings. About 125 attended the Lion party meeting, and about twice that number the State party conclave. Veteran Lion party leaders, however, predicted a heavier turnout this Sunday.

Work To Begin
Murray Goldman, State party clique chairman, announced that work will start on the party platform this week. A platform committee meeting is scheduled for 7 o'clock tonight at Sigma Phi fraternity. Goldman requested party members having plank suggestions to attend the meeting.

Goldman also announced five appointments. They were George Jeffries, membership chairman; Bernard Friedman, publicity chairman; Ralph Craine, campaign director; and Jules Lippart and Joseph Simons, co-chairmen of the ward leaders.

Lion clique chairman Milton Bernstein announced the appointment of Richard Cameron and Peter Sarantopoulos as chairmen of personnel, and Leonard Friedman as photography manager.

Ability of eliminating finals for eighth semester seniors, said that such a file could point up the important points of the courses.

It wouldn't be good in cases where nearly the same examinations are given every semester, Brenner said.

Even Things Up
Neil See, chairman of the student tribunal, thought that the file "would even things up. The fraternity man has the advantage over others."

Dean Warnock also pointed out the educational advantages that the file might realize. He said that it wouldn't help those who are looking for a shortcut, but that any student who studies back examinations through a ten-year period would really know something about the course.

cases in the area, reported that 53 cases a day were mailed from the area and requested that the investigation be continued. Dunlap said that he would meet with Wilmer E. Kenworthy, director of student affairs; Russell E. Clark, director of housing; and Mildred Baker, director of food services.

Plan Meeting
Friday at noon, the foods committee, to air the complaints of the area residents, will meet with Miss Baker, Clark, comptroller S. K. Hostetter, dean of men H. K. Wilson, Frank Simons, chief resident adviser of the area, and the food committees of Nittany-Pollock and West dorm councils to discuss the complaints.

The meeting, held in 119 Osmond laboratory, was open to the residents of the area. Three men attended besides the council members.

Debators—

seven out of ten teams at the Brooklyn college tourney. The affirmative team, including Gene Bouch and David Schmuckler, defeated Hofstra, Rensselaer Polytechnic institute, and St. John's. Queens and Utica won over the College's affirmative team.

Brooklyn Tourney
John Boddington and Donald Yenko debated the negative at Brooklyn. They defeated Rutgers, New Haven State, Kings Point, and Linfield. (Ore.). They lost to New York University heights. Colgate won the tourney.

The women's debate team did not place in the Temple tournament. The affirmative team, including Miss Fahringer and Miss Weaver, defeated St. Josephs and Westminster. Bucknell and Seton Hill women defeated the affirmative team.

Phyllis Kalson and Sylvia Silver debated the negative. They defeated Westminster women and lost to Lehigh, Duesquesne, and Temple.

Topic for both the Temple and Brooklyn tournaments was the national intercollegiate debate question, "Resolved: That the non-Communist nations should form a new international organization."

Lewis And George
Lewis and George represented the College in the men's division of the state oratorical and extemporaneous speaking contests at Temple. Lewis was eliminated in the first round. George entered the finals but failed to place.

Brenner, men's debate team manager, said the championship cup is on display in Keeler's store window.

Brenner and Lois Pulver, women's debate team manager, said that men's and women's teams will leave next Tuesday for the grand national debate contest in Fredricksburg, Va.

Schools Slate Open House

A joint open house for all the schools of the College able to participate will be held on May 12, Mother's day, David Ludwig, chairman of the inter-council committee, announced yesterday. The committee, composed of student council presidents of the eight undergraduate schools, decided on a common date for the open house in preference to the old system of having the programs on different dates.

The group also discussed the NSA faculty-rating system at a meeting last week but declined to take action on it until the respective school councils had time to discuss it further, Ludwig said.

The all-College award committee informed the inter-council group that each member should hand in one or two names of faculty members in the respective schools.

The persons named by the council president will be considered for honors by the committee.

Elections—

Linda Jacobs, Diane Miller, Rose Monack, Carolyn Pelczar, Marian Ungar, and Nancy White are nominees for the WSGA sophomore senatorship.

Robin Brunner and Sylvia Powers, candidates for town senator, will not be voted upon until the final election.
