

Faculty—

 President said there would probably be a large number of students taking courses this summer. "There is some evidence that students continuously in school will receive better treatment from draft boards," he said.

Faculty Raises
 Cost-of-living increases for the faculty are now being planned, the president said. The average boost would be 15 per cent for the first year and five per cent for the second. He emphasized, however, that increases would be on an individual basis, not across the board.

Speaking of student fees at the College, the President said they are higher than at most land grant institutions. He said that here the student pays about two-fifths of the cost of his education, with the state assuming the other three fifths. The average for land grant schools, he said, is for the student to pay one quarter of his costs. The President then called for assumption by the state of a larger proportion of student costs.

Cost Higher
 He also pointed out that the per-student cost of education here is $585 per year, and that this is far higher than at most land grant schools, yet teacher salary is lower than at most land grant schools. He suggested that the disparity may be due to the large number of courses offered here—some 3000—although he said he was not sure.

President Eisenhower announced that the College will begin giving business courses to Air Force personnel on March 19. The contract calls for a 12 week program, with 50 new students entering each week until a total of 600 have been processed.

Committee On Books
 A committee to study the high cost of books to students has been appointed, the President told the faculty. He said he had been disturbed both by high book costs and by the practice of frequent minor revisions in texts, which prevented students from saving money by buying used books.

The President said he had talked to students who had paid up to $60 for books in one semester.

 quiring only Senate approval and the other calling for joint action by the House and Senate.

The section relating to the four divisions said in part: "The Senate (Congress) hereby approves the present plans of the President and the joint chiefs of staff to send four more additional divisions of ground forces to western Europe."

Truman already has placed the two American divisions now in Germany under Eisenhower's command.

 toward the end of the convalesce. A college is considered successful if any of its members receive officerships, Brenner added.

'Gavel Girl'
 He said a "Gavel Girl" will be chosen at the convention's Friday night banquet. She will be the girl attending the convention who has the best combination of personal charm, intelligence, and oratorical ability, Brenner said.

He said three candidates would be chosen by the committees. The "Gavel Girl" will be chosen at the banquet following after-dinner speeches by the candidates.

Participating colleges will be Slippery Rock state teachers, Dickinson, Lehigh, Pittsburgh men, Pittsburgh women, Allegheny, Carnegie Tech, Duquesne, Gettysburg, St. Francis, Seton Hall, Mount Mercy, Albright, St.
