At that time all undergraduate students except eighth semester in regard to their interest in courses which might be offered in special summer sessions.

Undergraduate men students will also be required to provide information concerning their draft status. This information will help the College plan for next year, Maloney said.

Committee To Probe Book Rates

The high cost of books to students will be investigated by a special committee consisting of Dean Ben Euwema of the School of the Liberal Arts, chairman; Richard C. Maloney, executive secretary to the president; and Dean George L. Haller of the School of Chemistry and Physics. Dean Euwema said yesterday that he would meet with the Liberal Arts student council and Dean Haller would probably consult the Chem-Phys student council, for suggestions on how to proceed in the study.

"The committee urges that other interested student groups submit suggestions to it," he said.

President Milton S. Eisenhower announced the naming of the committee at Tuesday's faculty meeting in Schwab auditorium. He said he had been disturbed both by the high price of new books to students, and the practice of continuous minor revisions in texts, preventing students from saving money by buying used books.

Lecture Canceled

The senior engineering lecture scheduled for tomorrow has been canceled, Dean Harry P. Hammond announced yesterday.

Soccer Team's Trip Canceled

The Penn State soccer team, making quiet plans for a proposed 15,000 mile round-trip to Iran, had to postpone indefinitely the project because of political upheavals in the Near East country, Wilmer E. Kenworthy, Director of Student Affairs, said yesterday.

Bill Jeffrey's national championship team was selected by the U.S. State department to represent the country in a series of soccer games planned for three weeks in April.

Internal uprisals in Iran made the project doubtful from the beginning and finally the trouble culminated in the assassination of the Iranian prime minister. The College received word yesterday that the trip was postponed.

The project had been kept confidential because the College had not given final approval to the athletic trip. About 18 men would have had to miss nearly three weeks of classes.

Jeffrey conducted practice sessions twice this week in preparation. Some of the players were already getting class assignments so that the work could be done before or during the trip. Most of the plans were being made by the government so that little was known at Penn State except that the State department had selected the Lion team.

IFC Passes Joint Buying Set Up

By MOYLAN MILLS

Interfraternity council last night approved in principle a constitution for a Fraternity Management association to jointly buy all fraternity supplies.

IFC also passed a motion to publish the IFC Newsletter in conjunction with Panhellenic council, and heard a report on the IFC-Panhel sing.

Boner Explains

Patrick J. Boner, economics instructor at the College, and Allan Uhl, FMA committee chairman, explained the FMA set up. Boner said the next step would be to have the Association of Fraternity Counsellors approve the management program in principle and then have FMA incorporated.

The association is tentatively scheduled to go into operation next fall, Boner said. He said FMA could be set up now but did not have to go into operation until later if the national economic situation were bad.

Would Buy Foodstuffs

Boner said the organization would primarily buy foodstuffs at first and then branch out. He said the constitution was based on that of a similar organization in operation at Ohio State university.

This organization does $750,000 worth of business and saves the Ohio State fraternities $2,000 annually, Boner said. He said the constitution has been fitted to the Penn State fraternity system and may be changed if future need arises.

Boner said the association would be run by a paid manager. He said it would be administered by a board of trustees including fraternity alumni and students.

'Show-Off' Will Begin Tonight At 8 In Schwab

"The Show-Off," George Kelly's comedy about a braggart in the Philadelphia of the early 1920's, will begin a three-night run in Schwab auditorium at 8 o'clock tonight.

Tickets are priced at 60 cents for tonight's performance and $1 for tomorrow and Saturday. They are available at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

W. H. Walters, who last staged "The Time of Your Life," at Centre Stage, is director.

Hartle Will Play Aubrey

Richard Hartle will portray Aubrey, the "Show-Off," who moves into a middle-class Philadelphia family and almost completely disrupts its ordinary schedule of life.

Joyce Rexford will be seen in the role of Mrs. Fisher, mother of the family, who provides an ordinary, common-sense foil for Aubrey's bragging and lying.

Joe Fisher, the inventive gadget-loving son, will be played by William Ghost.

Betty Lou Morgan As Amy

Amy Fisher, who eventually becomes Aubrey's wife, will be portrayed by Betty Lou Morgan. Shirley Gallagher will play Clara, Amy's sister.

Others in the cast are William Neuwiler, John Pagonis, William Sullivan, and Edward Girod.

Sets were designed by Harry Woolever and Joyce Rexford, students in set design. The sets will be formed into a stylized shell showing the interior of a house.

Costumes, given by Mrs. Staley Wilson, were taken from a collection of Mrs. Thomas Staley, of State College. Since the play deals with the pre-flapper era, it was necessary to unearth dresses with long ankle-length skirts and almost non-existent waist lines.

A search for the old-time costumes uncovered some material among various members of the faculty. However, the discovery of Mrs. Staley's clothes collection, found in an attic, provided nearly all the dresses needed for the show.

5 Changes Proposed In AIM Rules

By GEORGE GLAZER

Five amendments to the present constitution of the Association of Independent Men's board of governors' constitution were proposed at the meeting of the board last night.

According to the constitution of the group, the proposed amendments must be read at two consecutive meetings before being voted upon.

The board also brought in Dr. George Guthrie, chief resident advisor for all male dorm areas; Frank Simes, chief resident advisor for the West dorm area; and Joseph Errigo, chief resident advisor for the Nittany-Pollock area, for a discussion of the present dorm advisor system.

First Amendment

The first of the five constitutional amendments would change the election requirements for representatives-at-large from election by the various councils to election by the residents of the area under the jurisdiction of the council.

The amendment would also add the stipulation that in case of districts where less than 500 men reside, one representative would be appointed. The second change would delete the section describing ex-officio members, and adds that the chairmen of the project, social, publicity and athletic committees, as well as the editor of the Independent, may be members of the board or ex-officio members.

Minimum Number

In order to accommodate the Pollock dorm council and West dorm and Town councils, the minimum number of men in a district would be 20, with the maximum number 200. Under elections, it was suggested that the new board members be selected. (continued on page eight)

Tribunal Hears 5 Traffic Cases

Tribunal heard five cases of traffic violations last night, four for illegal parking and one for illegal use of a campus parking permit.

Three of the violations were first offenses, and the men were fined $1 each. One had parked in the Old Main service drive, another in the Atherton hall service drive, and the third at the main service drive at Thompson hall.

One man parked illegally for two days in a restricted area near Thompson hall, and was fined $2 for the double offense.

The last violator was parked in a reserved space on campus, and displayed an illegal permit. He was fined $3 for illegal use of a parking permit. (continued on page eight)

WSGA, WRA Elect Today

Final elections for WSGA and WRA offices will be held today from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. in the lobbies of all women's dormitories except Grange hall.

Women from Grange may vote in MacAllister hall, and town women may vote at any one of the voting stations, Betty Lou Jones and Audrey Brua, election chairmen, announced yesterday.

Tuesday's primary election, in which 79 per cent of the women students voted, left Virginia

Miller, and Mary Jane Woodrow to vie for the top women's government office. Candidates for the WRA presidency are Marilyn Williams and Nancy Worthington.

Janet Herd and Yvonne Carter, both sophomores, will run for the WSGA vice-presidency. Candidates for class senatorships are: senior senator, Esther Beck and Nancy McClain; junior senator, Joan Hutchon and Virginia McMillin; and sophomore senator, Marian Ungar and Nancy White.

Teresa Moslak and Meredith Williamson will compete for the recreation association's vice-presidency. Running for the WRA secretary-treasurer position are Olive Cochran and Barbara Wallace.

Ann Broomall and Mabel Marple will run for the chairmanship of WRA's intramural program. Assistant intramural chairman candidates are Nancy Lusk and Nancy Maloy.

Tuesday's primary election raised the voting percentage to an all-time high of 79 per cent for women's elections on campus. The previous top percentage for the elections of the fairer sex was 50 per cent, which was reached last fall.

In Tuesday's election 100 per cent of the residents in the Women's building, MacAllister hall, and the three home management houses voted.

Election officials believe the rise in voting percentage has come about from the convenient placement of voting stations in the women's dormitories and the longer hours for voting.

Reports Will Be Heard By Cabinet

All-College cabinet will hear reports of progress from IFC Panhel, AIM, and Leonides, tonight at its meeting in the northeast lounge of Atherton hall at 8 o'clock.

The reports will include the accomplishments, present programs, and aims of the organizations for the future.

All-College President Robert Davis said that the meeting will be held in Atherton hall in order to make it easier for women students to attend. Attempts will be made in the future to find other more convenient sites for cabinet meetings, Davis said.

The final vote on the appropriation of $150 for the payment of the dues to the National Student association will be taken tonight. Two votes are necessary for appropriations over $100. The initial vote was passed by cabinet, 21-2.

Orientation Report

David Ludwig, chairman of the Orientation week committee, will make a report to cabinet on the plans being made for the fall semester orientation program.

A report on the Student Book Exchange will be given to the body by Robert Fast, chairman of the board of control for that organization.

Chairmen of the Awards committee, David Mutchler and Mary Ellen Grube, will make a report of the work of that group at the meeting.
