Lucius Clay Resigns As Top Mobilization Advisor

WASHINGTON, March 30—(P)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay, target of labor union criticism, resigned today as a top adviser to defense mobilizer Charles E. Wilson.

His departure may help end the union leaders' "revolt" against the administration's home-front policies.

There was no suggestion that Clay was forced out or that he had broken with Wilson, a close friend. In denying that he stepped out to pave the way for an agreement with the unions, Clay told newsmen:

"Any such thought is a real injustice to Mr. Wilson and myself. That did not enter into it."

Union spokesmen commenting on Clay's action said it alone was not enough to bring them trooping back to Wilson's setup.

James B. Carey, CIO secretary-treasurer, said he saw no significance in Clay's resignation "unless participation (by labor) is broadened in the mobilization effort."

Wilson said today there had long been an understanding that Clay could return to private business when the Office of Defense Mobilization in which he held the rank of special assistant, was well embarked on its gigantic task.

Local Foundations To See Movies, Hold Discussions

At 7:30 p.m. two movies, "Americans All" and "Boundary Lines," will be shown.

Roger Williams fellowship will meet at 5 p.m. to hear a recording of the speech of the president of the Northern Baptist convention. After a supper meeting, Dr. Francis Whiting of Philadelphia will talk to members of the fellowship on "Discipleship" and will show film strips.

A Lutheran World Action film, "The Turn in the Road" will be shown at the Lutheran Student association at 6:45 p.m.

The nomination committee will report to the group and hear nominations of students for next year's officers.

Kefauver May Extend Hearings

PHILADELPHIA, March 30—(P)—A spokesman for the Kefauver Crime Investigating committee said today the Senate group may yet conduct some more hearings.

Alfred M. Klein, assistant counsel, said that "at this time," the committee doesn't plan to go into any more cities to hold hearings but he made it clear that "this decision is subject to change."

The question came up when Klein was asked whether subpoenas served on prospective witnesses are being rendered ineffective because of a halt in the committee's investigation.

The committee, headed by Senator Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), was to have expired tomorrow, but Senate action has extended its life until April 30.

Klein said that if the life of the committee is extended beyond that date, new hearings may be held. Or, if there is a change in plans, hearings may be scheduled even before that date.

Right now, Klein said, the committee is busy drafting a report to make to the Senate.

Borough Drive Deadline Today

Today is the deadline for Red Cross contributions in State College and the surrounding area, which has a $7500 goal. Ned Cummings, chairman of the drive, said yesterday that so far the drive is $400 short of its mark, with no outlying areas reporting.

The local chapter of the Red Cross hopes to purchase a bloodmobile unit with the donations. Donations can be mailed to the Red Cross office, Elks building, South Burrows street.

Captain Wm. L. Mitchell, commanding officer of the cadets, will solicit the airmen's contributions.

William and Mary expects its strongest basketball team next year unless the mobilization program interferes.

Southern Rivers Pose New Threat

By the Associated Press
Rampaging southern rivers, which already have driven 1,200 persons from their homes, posed new threats today to south Alabama and east Mississippi rural areas. Two drowned in Mississippi and an Alabama man was missing.

The rivers crested at some danger points in north and central Alabama and began a slow decline but the muddy torrents were on the rise downstream. Near-record stages were threatened there.

The streams were swollen past bursting by two days of record rains in mid-week.

There was no authoritative estimate of the damage so far. But indications were that it would run into the millions of dollars. This includes damage to roads and bridges, homes and stores in the path of the flood waters, and the loss in livestock and early crops along the river sheds.

Italian Red Convicted In Papal Insult

CHIETI, Italy, March 30—(P)—Communist deputy Laura Diaz was convicted tonight of insulting Pope Pius XII by saying his hands "are dripping with blood." A three-judge court gave her a suspended sentence of eight months in jail.

Once Society Girl
A Communist party belle who was once a society girl of Levhorn, Miss Diaz is the first member of Italy's parliament ever brought to trial on charges of "offenses against the Pope."

She testified she had never said the Pope's hands were bloody, but had said he did nothing to prevent bloodshed in Greece, Spain, and Palestine.

Insulted Pope
The prosecution charged she insulted the Pope in a speech at Ortona-A-Mare June 13, 1948, two months after Italy's Catholic Christian Democrats trounced the Communist-led popular front in a general election.

The charge was lodged under the Lateran pact of 1929, regulating regulations between Italy and the Vatican. Insults against the Pope are punishable by fines and prison terms up to five years, as are insults against the Italian chief of state.

Brannan Lowers Two Top Officials

WASHINGTON, March 30—(P)—Two top Department of Agriculture officials were demoted today by secretary Brannan in a major shakeup of the Production Marketing Administration.

PMA administrator Ralph S. Trigg and his deputy, Frank K. Wooley, were transferred to lesser posts as special assistants to Brannan.

There have been rumors for a long time the shakeup was pending.

Communists Launch New Attacks

TOKYO, Saturday, March 31 (P)—Chinese Reds counter-attacked boldly in the mountains of west-central Korea Friday in a series of small local actions apparently designed to screen a massive buildup underway north of the 38th parallel.

These first counterthrusts in six weeks were bloodily repulsed by Allied artillery fire.

At least 30,000 rested Chinese troops were rushed into central front positions, field reports said. These replaced battle casualties and troops incapacitated by disease.

Massive Buildup Underway

Once again a massive Red buildup appeared definitely underway. Allied commanders anticipated a spring drive sometime during the first three weeks of April from as many as 270,000 fresh or well-rested Chinese of the third field army.

Red aircraft also were more venturesome Friday. Up to 48 Russian-built Mig jets crossed south of the Manchurian border to attack American jets. One Mig was shot down in flames. Two more were damaged but escaped. No American planes were lost.

Sneak Attack

A Red sneak attack six miles south of the 38th parallel in the Uijongbu area was nipped by a deadly barrage of American artillery.

Renewed reports of disease-riddling Communist forces in north Korea were being received at general MacArthur's headquarters.

A reliable source which could not be named said Red soldiers and civilians are dying by the thousands from smallpox, typhus, and typhoid fever.

Not Enough Help

Some farm groups have accused the department of not giving farmers enough help in obtaining machinery, fertilizer and insecticides. Increasing amounts of these are necessary for the defense program. PMA was given the job of obtaining necessary allocations from defense agencies.

Trigg is a hold-over appointee from the administration of former secretary Clinton P. Anderson, a Democrat and now Senator from New Mexico.

Not Popular

He has not been very popular with some of the ardent supporters of a controversial farm subsidy plan advanced by Brannan two years ago but not accepted by congress.

Trigg directed that his agency was not to be used to broadcast literature about the plan, and his employees were not to campaign for or against it.

Anderson has opposed the Brannan plan. Last year there were published reports that some Brannan opponents were promoting Trigg as a successor to Brannan.

Costello, 11 Others Cited For Contempt

WASHINGTON, March 30—(P)—The Senate topped off the sensational packed hearings of its crime committee today by voting contempt citations against 12 balking witnesses headed by Frank Costello, reputed New York gambling kingpin.

The committee's authority originally was scheduled to expire tomorrow night but the Senate, acceding to popular demand, voted late yesterday for a month's extension.

15 Dairy Students End Trip Today

Fifteen dairy students will return today from a ten-day inspection of dairy herds in eight states.

Howard J. Merrill, instructor of dairy husbandry, planned the tour of outstanding dairy barns in the South and of land-grant colleges.

The traveling students are: Richard R. Brandon, Jack Canouse, Stanley Davidson, William Erb, Myles Horton, Donald Leathers, Donald Lechner, Roger Madigan, Garner Mitchell, Edwin Montgomery, Russell Orner, James Pasike, Jr., Victor Plastow, Andrew Stewart and Arthur Yeatman.

Paul Prince, instructor in dairy production, and Merrill accompanied the group.

William and Mary's tennis team holds the organized athletic winning streak of 82 consecutive wins.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) crime committee chairman, asked the Senate to cite Jacob (Greasy Thumb) Guzik, reputed former treasurer for the Chicago Al Capone gang. The senate voted unanimously for that, and then Kefauver sent over the other 11 names, including Costello.

This list, besides Costello, included Frank Erickson, big time New York bookmaker who is serving a two year jail sentence for gambling; Joe Afonis, New York and New Jersey gambler described as a Costello lieutenant; Morris Kleinman, said to have once been the king of Cleveland bootleggers; and Louis Rothkopf, another alleged former Cleveland bootlegger.

Then there was William G. O'Brien, Florida gambler; John Doyle of Gary, Ind., questioned about gambling and slot machines; Ralph J. O'Hara, Chicago race wire figure; George S. Bowers, Florida gambler; John Croft, linked with Kentucky gambling, and Stanley Cohen, identified by the committee as a San Francisco race wire figure.
