

TODAY'S WEATHER:
CLOUDY
AND MILD

The Daily Collegian

FOR A BETTER
PENN STATE

VOL. 51—No. 110

STATE COLLEGE, PA., THURSDAY MORNING, APRIL 5, 1951

PRICE FIVE CENTS

Students Deferment Plan Set

Selective Service yesterday confirmed reports that the upper half of the nation's present freshman class, two thirds of the sophomore class, and three quarters of the junior class will be deferred to continue school next year.

The draft headquarters announcement still did not clarify the relation between deferment on academic standing and deferment on the basis of aptitude tests to be given nationally on May 26, June 16, and June 30.

A definite policy was announced, however, concerning seniors planning to enter graduate work. If they are in the top half of their class or can score 75 on the aptitude test, they will be deferred. Deferment grade for other students is 70. The 70 score equals 120 on the Army General Classification test, while 75 equals 130.

Selective service emphasized that students are not required to get a deferment either by ranking in the top percentage of the class or by getting a high enough test score.

Eisenhower Is Mentioned For UN Post

President Eisenhower was named recently as a candidate for an assignment as UN mediator, according to reports from Lake Success, N.Y.

The next day, however, an authoritative source from Washington said that Eisenhower would not be called upon to take the post.

At Lake Success it was revealed that Dr. Eisenhower and Dr. Frank P. Graham, former president of the University of North Carolina, were being considered for the job as mediator to try to promote demilitarization of Kashmir.

Kashmir is claimed by both India and Pakistan, and the situation is believed to involve the danger of war between the two major non-communist countries of Asia.

Eisenhower is now in Washington, attending meetings of the Council of Education and the UNESCO sessions. He was not available for comment.

Russian Books, Arts Controlled-Simmons

Literature and the arts in Russia today are rigidly controlled by the Communist party, Dr. Ernest J. Simmons, of the Columbia university Russian institute, said last night.

He spoke before about 350 persons gathered to hear the lecture co-sponsored by the Liberal Arts lecture series and the Simmons series.

This regimentation, he said, may be due to the fact that Communism is the faith of the people. There seems to be a general acceptance of controls until now they are convictions, Simmons said.

No Collapse

If this is true that the controls are convictions, Simmons said, the collapse of the Soviet government may not occur as some observers maintain.

In explaining how literature, music, and art can be controlled, Simmons offered these reasons:

1. The length of time the people have lived under controls make them a force of habit.

2. The writers are rewarded with money and prestige, publicly acclaimed throughout the Soviet, live under improved conditions, and regarded as one of the highest members of society.

Gathering At John's Bar

—Collegian Photo by Stone

THESPIANS Tom Lewis, Nancy Thomas, Joe Bird, Patricia Hale and Edward Rolf gather at John's bar in one of the scenes from "Anything Goes," which opens in Schwab auditorium tonight.

Soccer Team Scores Diplomatically In Iran

The Nittany Lion soccer team turned in a "stunning diplomatic success" with its good-will trip through Iran, according to State department officials.

Cables from the United States embassy in Tehran describing the enthusiasm with which the collegians were received were called the first good news that has come from troubled Iran for a long time.

American prestige has been at a low ebb there. Early last month 5000 leftists staged a peace demonstration outside the U.S. embassy, shouting "death to MacArthur."

Caused Enthusiasm

Cables from the country during the tour said, "There has never been a group of Americans who have caused so much enthusiasm on the part of Iranians, from officials to the man in the street."

Soccer is Iran's national sport and when the Lion team arrived there, 500 cheering fans met the plane. Those who couldn't get into the first game at Isfahan swarmed over nearby trees and rooftops. The Penn State team lost, 2-0.

Second Game

The second game, in Shiraz, which was won by the Nittanies, 3-0, drew 5000 fans. The governor of the city gave each player a picture album.

The final game was witnessed by 6000, who saw the Tehran team defeat the Lions, 5-0.

The president of the Iranian National Physical Education association said, "This is only the beginning of further contact and strengthening of friendly relations."

Speed Traps To Be Set Up

Speed traps to eliminate "unnecessary fast driving," are being set up in State College, according to Police Chief John R. Juba.

Traps will be established on several of the town's busier streets and on the four main highway entrances.

"With warmer weather on the way and a noticeable increase in the number of cars on the highway," Juba said, "more and more complaints about fast driving have been coming in to the police department."

He pointed out that speeding is a big factor in many accidents and that special enforcement emphasis will be placed on the downtown section of State College.

'Anything Goes' Ready For Opening Tonight

The Thespians' production of Cole Porter's musical comedy, "Anything Goes," will open in Schwab auditorium at 7:30 tonight.

The play will also be presented tomorrow and Saturday nights and Saturday afternoon. Tickets are on sale at the Student Union desk in Old Main. Price is 90 cents for tonight's performance and $1.20 for each of the others.

The plot, originated by Guy Bolton and P. G. Wodehouse and revised by Howard Lindsay and Russell Crouse, concerns an assortment of characters who become involved with each other on a luxury liner.

Porter Songs

Included in the score are such Porter standards as "You're The Top," "I Get A Kick Out of You," "All Through The Night," "Anything Goes," and "Blow, Gabriel, Blow!"

Ray Fortunato is production director. Fred Leuschner and Nicholas Morkides are dialogue directors. Don Smith will conduct the orchestra.

Choreography is by Harry Woolever. Jeanne Wiener is assistant dance director.

Play's Cast

Featured in the cast are Patricia Hale, as Reno Sweeney, night-club entertainer; Ed Rolf, as Billy Crocker, urbane young stowaway; Nancy Lou Thomas, as Hope Harcourt, young society woman; Joe Bird, as America's public enemy number 13; Tom Lewis, as Sir Evelyn Oakleigh, British nobleman; and Patricia Marsteller, as Mrs. Wadsworth T. Harcourt, blustery mother of Hope.

Featured in the dance numbers are Mike Claysmith, Pat Bowles, and Woolever.

Dance In Dark

Highlighting the dances will be one in which dancers perform in darkness, outlined in luminous paint. Other featured numbers will include a classical ballet to the music of "All Through The Night" and a sailors' hornpipe.

When the show opened in New York in 1934, critics acclaimed it as the best Porter musical ever produced.

In the original version were such popular performers as Ethel Merman, William Gaxton, and Victor Moore.

Settings for the Thespian presentation were designed by Caroll Chapman and Joel Kranich. Chapman also designed the costumes.

Hat Societies Accept Letters Of Application

Androcles and Blue Key, junior men's activities honoraries, will begin accepting letters of applications today from candidates who believe themselves eligible for membership.

Letters should be addressed to either Blue Key or Androcles and left at the Student Union desk in Old Main before next Friday. To be eligible, a candidate must be a sophomore and have at least a one All-College average.

Members Limited

Androcles membership is limited to 35 men, but membership can be less if there are not 35 eligible men, Donald Carlson, president, said. Androcles selects men on a point system with a minimum of three points necessary for membership. Points are awarded for forensics, politics, athletics, publications, and other activities.

Blue Key has 40 members, of which 25 are first assistant managers. Sophomores who are first assistant managers should submit their applications to Blue Key, David Mutchler, announced.

Managers in sports which have

FTA Holds 3rd Annual Convention

"The Impact of Education on World Affairs" will be the theme of the third annual convention of the Pennsylvania Future Teachers of America to be held tomorrow and Saturday at the College.

The convention is sponsored by the committee on professional activities in teacher education institutions of the Pennsylvania State Education association.

Clara Cockerille, supervisor of elementary education, Altoona, will give the main address at the general session beginning tomorrow at 2 p.m. in 105 White hall. Joseph Denham, president of PFTA, will preside for this session. Dr. M. R. Trabue, dean of the School of Education, will greet the convention members.

A dinner-meeting will be held tomorrow at 6:30 p.m. at the Westminster foundation. John Lumley, president of the PSEA, will be the speaker.

Tickets for the dinner, priced at $1.75, may be purchased in 109 Borrowes.

Saturday morning's program will include five workshop meetings, all beginning at 9 o'clock. The topics to be considered and the places of meeting are: "How May We Increase the Impact of Education on World Affairs?" 1 White hall; "How May Future Teachers Secure Pre-service Ex-

(continued on page eight)

Bonn Named New Editor Of Froth

Ronald Bonn, sixth semester journalism student, was named editor of Froth, campus humor magazine, last night for the next year.

Marc Kimelman will be the new business manager and Laird Kinnaird was named managing editor.

Other promotions to the senior board are: editorial director, Peter Whelan; co-advertising directors, Julie Arnold and Philip Zimmerman; promotion director, Anne Hibbs; Photographic Director, Bernard Gutterman; Circulation Director, Marvin Berk; associate editor, Marilyn Levitt; circulation associates, Barbara Waska and Byrne Tetley.

Junior Board

Promoted to the junior editorial board were Paul Beighley, Janet Bleutge, Joan Hoffman, Renee Kluger, and Richard Neuwiler.

Anita Klein, William Harkins, and Irv Lindeberg were promoted to junior advertising board. John Condit and Robert Flick were promoted to the junior promotion board and Jerry Clauser, Arthur Stevens, Ted Schutawie, and Bud Dunkle were moved up to the art junior board.

Promoted to the circulation junior board were Joan Harvie, Natalie Adler, Sara Bassel, Jerry Frank, Don Andrews, Elsa Pasline, Betty Zimmerman, and Nancy Jones.

Promotions to the circulation

(continued on page eight)