

Leonides Begin College Belles Don Net, Lace, Organdy, For Spring Dance Wed. Election

By BETTIE LOUX

Campaigning for the first election in the history of Leonides in which all independent women are eligible to vote, began this week.

Approximately 1200 women on campus will have the right to vote for Leonides officers next Wednesday. Previously, officers have been elected by the representatives to the council.

Some of the girls nominated to offices declined because of their ineligibility according to the elections code. The final slate is as follows:

Snyder, Sher

Sorley Snyder and Doris Sher are competing for the presidency; Edna Baylson and Alice Hennessey, vice-president; Eleanor Miller and Louise Kolano are nominees for recording secretary; Vivian Peterson, corresponding secretary; Ann Burlingame, and Avis Dalton for treasurer; and Betty Johnson, parliamentarian.

At a special meeting of all candidates Wednesday night, Joan Wentzel, Leonides president, explained all the rules of the elections code stressing the fact that signs will be limited to bulletin boards in the dormitories, and door to door campaigning will be forbidden. Pictures of the candidates will be placed in the main lobbies.

Voting will be held in all dormitories except Grange. Women in Grange and the home management houses will vote in McAllister hall. Ballot boxes will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. with the exception of the dinner hour.

Women Leaders Attend Convention

"Today's Women Tomorrow" was the topic of the national convention of the Association of Women Students, held last weekend at Purdue university in Indiana.

The convention was attended by Mary Jane Woodrow, newly elected president of WSGA, Yvonne Carter, WSGA vice-president, and Virginia Miller.

Discussions were held at four work shops. Problems under consideration were "Women in the Present Emergency," the National Student association, extracurricular activities, and "Higher Education for Women."

Phi Gamma Delta

Newly-elected officers of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity include Frederick A. Rodgers, president; Wesley Blaha, treasurer; Jared W. Darlington, recording secretary; Harding Williams, corresponding secretary; Robert Gray, historian; Marion Burton, caterer, and Allan Wampler, house manager.

College Belles Don Net, Lace, Organdy, For Spring Dance

The smooth strains of Ray Anthony's music and the spring-like decorations of blossoms and greens will make a perfect background for the filmy whirling skirts as over 3000 girls become queens for tonight and look their loveliest.

A preview of what some girls are wearing shows that wide skirts, both cocktail and full-length, tightly fitted bodices and bare shoulders are typical of most of the gowns. Sheer spring fabrics—net, lace and organdy—are making an appearance and are in keeping with the theme of the ball.

Jane Ashenfelter, date of Harold Leinbach, IFC president, will model a two-piece cocktail length gown of gray-blue satin. The jacket has a low V neckline which extends from the shoulders, revealing the bodice of the dress, and boasts three-quarter length sleeves and a wide band at the waist. The skirt is of a wide circular cut, with four pleats giving fullness in the back. Jane will dance in dainty white brocade slippers.

Bouffant Gown

A filmy white net bouffant gown is the choice of Barbara Sprengle, WSGA president. Tiny tucks of net cover the strapless top, which is trimmed with white crochet lace in a leaf motif. Barbara plans to wear rhinestone jewelry to match the tiny sparklers which are sprinkled over the lace. A very full hoop skirt and net stole complete the costume.

Mary Alyce Strom, sophomore and Hotel Administration major, will appear in a cloud of net and brocade. A flounce on the left shoulder trims the tucked strapless bodice of champagne brocade, embroidered in gold thread. Two layers of crisp net lie under an overskirt of champagne taffeta, around which is a border of the brocade. The overskirt is gathered high in the front and dips to the floor in back.

Kappa Alpha Psi

At a ceremonial dinner held Monday night the following pledges were initiated into Lambda chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi; Louis A. Ivey, Herbert R. Winston, Barton Fields, W. Roger Snead, Alan C. Haile, and Walter Hutchins.

White Organdy

Charlotte Stein, candidate for La Vie belle and May Queen, has chosen frosty white organdy to complement her dark hair. The off-the-shoulder gown is made in Southern Belle style, with tight-fitting waist and bell shaped skirt, with a flounce of embroidered organdy around the bottom. Charlotte plans to wear a necklace of tiny red camellias.

Co-Edits

Zeta Beta Tau

The new officers of Zeta Beta Tau are Stanley Silverman, president; Donald Averbach, vice-president; Robert Wiser, secretary; Ascher Barmish, treasurer; and Howard Yanks, historian.

Delta Zeta

Miss Cleora Crosby, field secretary of Delta Zeta sorority visited the local chapter this week. A tea was held Monday in the suite. Actives, pledges, and alumni attended.

Ha. Ha. Stop sticking that knife in my back. Ha. Ha. It's national Laff Week.

Anything Goes
That is, to jokers in the drab outside world. But in The Penn State of Utopia, it's IFC Ball Week. And "Anything Goes" (plug). Which reminds me, Ethel has everything that goes with a wonderful week-end.

For instance, some of the prettiest evening bags that ever went on a date. Gold and silver mesh bags to reflect the light in his eyes. There are lovely embroidered bags with intriguing Chinese designs. White bead pouch bags large enough to carry your lunch. Just to mention a few. Easy on your everyday wallet: many under $5.

Dazzle 'im
Dazzle him with rhinestone necklace or bracelet. Or lure him with pearls. Ethel has them by the dozens... and they're beautiful without being expensive.

And how about a cigarette lighter? Ethel has slim ones, and petite ones that can be worn on a charm bracelet. In gleaming silver, gold, natural and colored leathers.

Attention Fraternity Men

Fellas, check Ethel's for the nice touches your imports will remember. Massinn guest towels $.49 and napkins: .49 a doz. (Pledges can reuse as polishing cloths.) Kem plastic playing cards guaranteed for 600 rubbers. Candles that burn a weekend. Ash trays in glass, copper, silver and brass. Elegant cigarette boxes and table lighters. Relish dishes, silver services, Steig cartoon tumblers, new lampshades... you name it; Ethel has it. And prices right.
