Lion Slogan

"Leadership, Experience, Ability" will be the slogan of the Lion party, clique chairman Milton Bernstein said. "The slogan says more than 100 words can say," Bernstein said yesterday. He indicated that the party's six-point platform will be stressed in the campaigning.

State Planks

State party candidates will stress four planks in the party's platforms. Murray Goldman, clique chairman, said yesterday. The planks calling for student referendums on all future assessments, investigation of the cost of text books, investigation of the procedure of women's Judicial, and sophomore class representation on Tribunal, will be emphasized by the State party, Goldman said.

Goldman added, however, that of paramount importance was the State party's promise to carry out its platform.

"I would like to see every pledge carried out," Goldman said.

Bernstein issued the following statement: "We are quite sure the student body recognizes the need for good student government, and good student government is achieved by electing good candidates. We feel confident the Lion

Club To Sponsor Chess Tournament

Plans have been completed for an all-College chess tournament to be sponsored by the Penn State Chess club, Jerome Movsovich, president, announced yesterday.

Any student is eligible to participate in the tournament. Those interested should attend the next meeting of the organization in 7 Sparks at 7 p.m., Tuesday.

The type of tournament will be decided by the number of entrants. It will either be single elimination or a round robin competition.

New Ag Honorary To Accept Members

Applications for membership in the Coaly society, newly organized agriculture honorary, must be turned in to Ruth Martin in 111 Agriculture by noon today, Charles Zellner, society spokesman, said yesterday.

All agriculture students active in extra-curricular activities and holding a 1.3 all-College average are eligible for membership.

candidates can give the students the government they desire."

Unlike recent years, there will not be the traditional parades. The decision to abandon the parades was made by joint agreement between Goldman and Bernstein. Both agreed that the parades accomplished nothing and were a waste of effort.

men. Ruler of the Eastern 145-pound class, Albarano was eliminated in the first round at East Lansing.

Co-captain of the 1951 football team, Betts is expected to be a big factor in the forthcoming campaign. Last year he held down a starting position at end for Rip Engle's gridders.

Maurey To Run

Ruler of the 137-pound division in the recent Eastern wrestling championships, Maurey is the middle man on Penn State's number-one wrestling family. James, an older brother, was captain of the grapplers in 1950 and a two-time Eastern champ, while Jerry, a younger brother, is star of the freshman mat team and president of the freshman class.

Basketball Co-Captain

A two-year veteran of the basketball team, the 6-foot, 7-inch McMahan was recently elected co-captain of the 1951-52 court squad. A native of Canada, he is the son of a former Penn State athlete.

Bonn Mot—

no more than usually overloaded truck. In front of us an immense sergeant was standing up, earnestly searching the sky for enemy airplanes. This was Indiantown Gap, Pennsylvania, but he was looking for enemy airplanes.

SUDDENLY THE TRUCK hit a pebble in the road. Aboard a two- and one-half ton, this is a major catastrophe. The immense sergeant sat down heavily right on top of our helmeted head. The other guys in the truck thought that was the funniest thing they had ever seen. They were laughing uproariously until little by little one of the more intelligent ones began to realize that we were no longer breathing. To us, sitting there dead with our eyes open, the whole scene looked like something out of Dante. Then after a while someone pumped some air back into our lungs and we weren't dead any more but only very very sick. Then they stopped laughing.
