Army Freezes Increase For R.R. Workers

WASHINGTON, April 10—(P)—The Army froze cost of living increases for about 1,000,000 railroad workers today at the joint request of their unions and management.

No payments will be made until a special three-man panel decides whether a six cents an hour boost promised the non-operating workers by April 1 can be permitted under stabilization policies.

The freeze was announced by Assistant Army Secretary Karl R. Bendtsen. Technically the Army has been operating the nation's railroads since it took them over last summer to avert a strike.

Bendtsen emphasized that the order does not affect a 12½ cents an hour increase awarded the workers—mechanics, clerks, track men and others who do not run the trains—in a mediation agreement March 1.

Leighty Requested Freeze

He said the freeze was made at the request of G. E. Leighty, chairman of the 15 unions involved, and representatives of the Railroad Management committees. Leighty and the management did not say why they did not want a partial payment, but it was indicated that they preferred to wait for a final settlement instead of possibly getting a piecemeal one.

Bendtsen said he hopes the panel appointed by the Economic Stabilization Agency (ESA) will reach a decision within 10 days.

Navy Suspends Dr. Brunauer, A-Bomb Expert

WASHINGTON, April 10—(P)—The Navy suspended "as a security risk" today a high-ranking explosives expert who has been connected with atomic bomb work.

He is Hungarian-born Dr. Stephen Brunauer, named with his wife, Esther, by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) last year on a list of government employees McCarthy called subversive.

Mrs. Brunauer also was suspended from her post as a State Department liaison officer to the United Nations. The State Department said this was done solely because of the Navy action against her husband.

The Navy gave no details of its charges against Brunauer, chief of the high explosives section in the research and development division of the Navy's Bureau of Ordnance.

Brunauer has acknowledged having Communist connections as a youth, but he said in a sworn statement to the Senate subcommittee which investigated McCarthy's Communism-in-government charges: "I am a loyal American. I am not a Communist. I am bitterly opposed to Communism."

Wife Comments

His wife, a native of Jackson, Calif., said at that time she was not, "never have been and couldn't possibly be a communist."

In New York, Brunauer said he thought someone made a mistake in suspending him.

He paused briefly enroute by plane from Boston to Washington and told newsmen:

"I do not know for what reason I was suspended. I think someone made a mistake. I telephoned Washington and a Navy spokesman said he did not know the reason for the suspension. I do not want to comment further on anything."

Bill Will Be Meaningless Without Subsequent Law

WASHINGTON, April 10—(P)—The House chopped Universal Military Training down today to a bare authorization for drawing up a plan to be written into law if Congress then is in the humor to do it.

After that the representatives put off until later in the week a vote on whether they want any UMT at all.

The House approved by voice vote amendments to the pending draft extension-UMT bill that stripped the measure of any real commitment to a training plan for the future.

At the end of the day, with all actions tentative, the expressed attitude of the House was this:

Five-Man Commission

Pending a chance to vote outright against UMT in any form, it will agree to setting up a five-man commission to draft a UMT plan which would be meaningless until implemented by a subsequent law; it favors providing for a National Security Training corps (UMT) but won't approve inducting any youths into it until another law is enacted.

While the House was taking that action Defense Secretary Marshall said he is "very fearful we may get a result which will largely emasculate the Universal Military Training phase of the military manpower bill."

The general told reporters at a Pentagon news conference that he had not seen the latest modifications but that his fear has to do with efforts by some congressmen to divorce the training program from the draft extension.

Loss Of Time

Marshall said proposed modifications would cause the loss of "valuable months and years."

The amendments approved today were sponsored by the Armed Services committee, which originally wanted a tougher UMT plan but gave ground in a bid for votes to save even a skeleton.

Some committee members still hope to salvage a strong UMT plan when the bill goes to a Senate-House conference. The Senate has passed a bill which would let the President push the button to set up UMT when the need for drafting youths for military service ends.

Coupled with the training program is an extension of the draft law and a lowering of the age of induction—to 18 years in the Senate measure and 18½ in the House bill.

Guest Newly Elected IE Society President

The Industrial Educational society elected new officers at a meeting Thursday with Howard Guest succeeding Robert Krayer as president.

Other members elected were: Leroy Mohn, vice-president; Stanley Whary, secretary-treasurer; Nevin Andre and Duane Muir, board of governors; and Edgar Benner, faculty adviser.

An annual spring picnic will be held on May 15 and the committee for the affair was elected as follows: Bruno Najaka, chairman; John Humbert and Anthony Serge.

MacArthur Denies Pace Reprimand

TOKYO, April 10 (P)—General MacArthur made it plain today that he intends to keep right on fighting for a freer hand in the Korean war.

He authorized a spokesman to deny news reports that Secretary of the Army Pace had reprimanded him for recent public statements deemed to be verging on politics.

Pace conferred here with MacArthur for two hours yesterday and the spokesman said today that the question of a reprimand "was not even discussed."

He added that since the reports were carried by a British news agency, Reuters, "probably the wish was father to the thought."

Some British voices, among others, have been clamoring for MacArthur's scalp.

Wants Nationalists

The general has endorsed a proposed second front by Chinese Nationalists in China, a move Administration backers say might lead to all-out war with the Reds and possible Russian intervention.

Britain and France have expressed disturbance over the statement.

Informed sources here said that MacArthur, in his conference with Pace, stood pat on his views that an all-out war must be waged against communism wherever the threat appears; that it would be a mistake to neglect Asia in order to emphasize defense of Europe.

More Troops Asked

Informed sources said MacArthur not only had asked Pace for more troops, but for greater latitude in fighting the Korean war. Presumably MacArthur sought the right to bomb Chinese bases in Manchuria which are supply heads for Communist troops in Korea.

Critics have accused MacArthur of departing from purely military problems to engage in discussions of a political nature.
