

Pearl Weston Attends Two Conventions.

Pearl O. Weston, dean of women, and two of her assistants, Mary Brewer and Patricia Thompson, have returned after attending a dean of women's convention in Chicago, and the national women's student government convention at Purdue university, Indiana.

Approximately 2000 persons attended the convention in Chicago representing three main groups: the National Association for Deans of Women, National Vocational Guidance association, and the American College Personnel association.

Dr. Lillian Gilbreth, Dorothy Stretten, executive secretary of girl scouts, and Martha Higgins, only woman reporter who has been in Korea, were some of the speakers who made the convention an outstanding one, Miss Brewer said.

Purdue Conference

Miss Weston and her staff members joined the three student representatives who attended the Purdue conference, Mary Jane Woodrow, new WSGA president, Yvonne Carter, WSGA vice president, and Virginia Miller.

Miss Miller will be chairman of the regional WSGA convention to be held on this campus next spring. This conference will include all the schools east of the Mississippi river and seven schools west. Approximately 200 persons are expected to attend this convention next year.

While at Purdue, the representatives were housed in the Purdue Memorial union.

To Honor Blanding At Reception Tues.

A reception honoring Sarah Gibson Blanding will be held Tuesday night in Simmons lounge immediately following the Women's Student Government association convocation in Schwab auditorium at 7 p.m.

Miss Blanding, president of Vassar College, will speak on the topic "In the Time of Our Lives" at the convocation at which the newly-elected WSGA officers will be inaugurated. All women students, faculty women and wives, and town women are invited to attend the convocation and the reception following.

Members of the WSGA senate will serve as hostesses at the reception. WSGA will award a $5 prize to any dormitory unit with full attendance at the convocation.

Visiting Professor Author Of Article

Dr. Fernando Diaz-Plaja, visiting professor at the College, was author of a story carried in a recent issue of the Destino, published weekly in Barcelona.

The article concerned the National Art gallery of Washington, emphasizing the Spanish section.

The extension services of the Pennsylvania State college provide opportunities for vocational, humanistic, and social education not available through the usual educational channels. Organized as a service to the people of the state, the extension work actually extends the resident facilities of instruction to communities throughout the state.

Engagements

Heppenstall-Moylan

Mr. and Mrs. W. Staunton Moylan of Merion, Pa., announce the engagement of their daughter, June, to Walter L. Heppenstall, Jr., of Wynnewood, Pa., son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Heppenstall, Sr., of Wynnewood, Pa.

Miss Moylan is a sophomore in the School of Home Economics, a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, and the Home Economics student council. Mr. Heppenstall attended Duke university.

Stauffer-Brenner

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Brenner of Lititz, Pa., announce the engagement of their daughter, Catherine, to Mr. Franklin K. Stauffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stauffer of Farmersville, Pa.

Miss Brenner is a member of the graduating class of Warwick Township High School and Mr. Stauffer is a sophomore in electrical engineering at the College.

Heckman Wed To Lyn G. Brenneman

June Heckman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Heckman of Boiling Springs, became the bride of Lyn G. Brenneman of Mount Holly Springs at an informal wedding the afternoon of March 31. The marriage took place in the United Brethren church of Boiling Springs, followed by a reception at the Allenbury Inn.

Miss Heckman wore a pink faille suit with navy accessories and carried a white orchid on a Bible. Her sister Carolyn, wearing a lavender suit and carrying a large spring bouquet, was her only attendant. Ruth Johnson, a sorority sister of the bride, recited "How Do I Love Thee" by Elizabeth Barrett Browning. Miss Johnson wore a champagne faille dress and a corsage of violets.

February Graduate

The bride, a major in hotel administration, was graduated from the College in February. She is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority. Mr. Brenneman is a graduate of Dickinson college, and now works for a recording studio.

After a honeymoon in Texas the couple will reside in Carlisle.

Additional Candidates To Speak Before IFC

Additional candidates for Interfraternity council offices will be introduced and will make short speeches at the IFC meeting in 219 Electrical Engineering at 7 o'clock tonight.

Four candidates were introduced at last week's meeting. They were Stanley Wengert, Alpha Tau Omega, candidate for president; James Wharton, Sigma Nu, for vice-president; and John Allison, Phi Kappa Psi, and Richard Hartle, Sigma Chi, for secretary-treasurer.

Alpha Nu Holds Mixer At Fraternity Tomorrow

Alpha Nu Astronomical Society will sponsor a mixer for prospective members at the Phi Kappa Sigma house tomorrow night.

Officers elected for the coming year are Eugene Raup, president; Dean Ungar, vice-president; Julianne Crisman, secretary; and June Phillips, treasurer.

Plans are being completed for the Spring opening of the College Observatories for general student observations.

Trousseau A La Queen

World's Most Costly Gown

Madame Germaine Le Comte, creator of the future queen of Egypt's fabulous trousseau, refused Monday to divulge much information to reporters concerning the 30 dresses and wedding gown which, according to her, "should go down in history as one of the world's most expensive."

She also declared that the hats of Narriman Sadek, the queen-to-be, "are a millinery secret." When interviewed about the gown the black-haired designer said "It's a secret, a very great secret. We couldn't think of letting you see it." She did admit, however, that the veil alone cost over 1,000,000 francs, or $2,800.

The wedding gown is being stitched by hand, and according to the Madame it would take one girl over two years to make the dress; if she were working on it alone. Four seamstresses are sewing on the dress and it should be completed in about two weeks.

In addition to the gown the future queen had Madame Le Comte furnish her with dresses, shoes and accessories. When asked how many pairs of shoes Narriman Sadek chose to wear with her thirty dresses, Madame Le Comte looked surprised. "Why, thirty, of course!"

General Ed Internship Awarded To Gwynn

Mine Representatives Will Meet Tonight

Representatives of six of the larger mining industries in and near Pennsylvania will be present at the meeting of the Mining Engineering society tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the art gallery of Mineral Industries building.

The men will be present to explain their companies policies as part of a job forum given by the society semi-annually.

Those interested may use this forum as an opportunity to obtain summer positions or permanent employment.

Coeds To Elect May Queen

Tomorrow the final elections for May Queen and Maid-of-Honor will take place in the second floor lounge of Old Main from 8-5 o'clock.

At this time one senior will be chosen from the three finalists for May Queen and one freshman will be chosen as Maid-of-Honor. The two runners up for each position will serve as attendants. During the election tomorrow all senior girls who are interested in participating in the Hemlock chain should sign up when they vote. The first 50 girls to sign up will make up the chain and an additional 25 will be called on in case some drop out.

The May Queen will reign over May Day, Saturday May 12. She and her court will be honored at the May Day dance Saturday night, May 12th, in Recreation hall.

A special committee selects the remainder of the Queen's court. The coeds they pick will be sophomore and junior attendants, freshmen jesters, sophomore heralds, and 20 senior women who will form the Honor Arch.
