Gift Fund Source

An essential point in considering ideas for a class gift is the source and amount of the fund available. This point has been somewhat hazy in the minds of past senior class members.

A BRIEF STATEMENT of the source of the gift fund is presented in the College catalogue. It reads, "The general fixed fee includes a damage deposit of .50 cents per semester as guarantee against damage to College property; any remainder at the close of the College year is transferred to a class fund and expended by vote of the student body."

When damage to College property results from student group action, the costs of repairs are charged against the fund. Thus far this year, the only charge made was to replace flags removed from Beaver field during a football game, and to repair damaged flagstaffs at the field. Generally, charges rarely are made, and then only in cases of extraordinary damage.

This year, approximately $8000 will be available for appropriation by the senior class, assuming that no additional charges against the fund are made.

Assignments Vs. Hell Week

TO THE EDITOR: Several students have come crying to me this week that they can't get in their assignments because fraternity hell week doesn't give them time to study or sleep. These students get no sympathy from me.

In view of the fact that male college students are being given draft deferments, it would seem to me that the least the fraternities could do would be to avoid interference with their pledges' academic affairs.

One of the reasons given for draft deferments of college men is that the nation will need educated leaders in the future. God pity the nation if our present fraternity leaders exemplify the type of leaders our colleges are developing for that future.

Oath Bill Is Ineffective

TO THE EDITOR: The Collegian and John Daibor and Marv Krasnansky are to be commended for the stand taken opposing the loyalty oath bill, and the excellent reports direct from Harrisburg. This bill is ineffective, for what unscrupulous Communist would hesitate to perjure himself for the sake of carrying on his activities in secret? Only extremely honest persons would think of incriminating themselves, and usually we don't consider Communist sympathizers as our most honest citizens.

This bill is dangerous to our democratic way of life, for if we put limits on our freedoms of association, thought, and speech, and our thinking is force to follow one state-directed line, how can we differentiate our democracy from the one-party-line Communism from which we are seeking to stay free?

Let's fight Communism by the very method which has made our country the champion of democracy it is. Let's keep these controversial issues open for all to see and debate publicly without fear of persecution. If we have the best form of government, let's use it; it won't be improved by laying it away in mothballs.
