Baltzell, Sechler, Stine Vie In Final May Queen Election

The 1951 May Queen to reign over WSGA May Day festivities, will be elected today from three senior finalists—Martha Baltzell, Sally Sechler and Charlotte Stine.

Her maid of honor will be chosen from Phoebe Erickson, Juliana Fees, and Louise Robertson. Voting will take place in the second floor lounge of Old Main from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The runners-up will serve as attendants. All women students are eligible to vote.

The first fifty senior women to sign up for participation in the hemlock chain will appear in May Day ceremonies. Applicants may sign up while voting for the queen.

The six beauties, in spite of being accustomed to contests of this sort, all expressed pleasure and amazement when informed that they had reached the finals. Remarks ranged from "I'm very happy" to "I still can't believe it."

Stine Was Dairy Queen

Charlotte Stine, a dark-eyed brunette is an eighth semester Home Ec major from Hershey, Pa. Charlotte has been Pennsylvania dairy queen for the past three years, and last year reigned over the Dairy Exposition here.

A candidate for La Vie Belle, she is also past publicity chairman of Kappa Delta sorority and past secretary of the Home Economics Club.

Sechler Was Edinboro Queen

Sally Sechler, eighth semester art education major, modestly admits she was elected to three courts at Edinborough State Teachers College, and also chosen one of four belles of the Edinborough yearbook. A member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, Sally is active in intramural sports—volleyball, baseball and swimming, and was in last year's aquacade. She is five feet six inches tall with brown hair and eyes.

Baltzell Belle Candidate

Martha Baltzell, blonde Home Ec major, is a candidate for La Vie Belle. Blue-eyed "Marty" is a member of the College symphony orchestra, the Home Ec club, and the ski club. Her major interests are in sports, of which she prefers swimming, tennis, and golf. Aside from these, she likes dancing and sewing. She spent her freshman year at Indiana State teachers college.

Erickson Is A Singer

A music major in the School of Liberal Arts, blue-eyed, blonde Phoebe Erickson is planning to join the vocal groups at State. She is also an accomplished equestrienne. In September she was a finalist in the Belle Hop Ball Queen contest. At her home in DuBois, she spends much of her free time riding.

Louise Robertson, known as "Rusty" because of her short, reddish-blond hair, came to State in February after spending her first semester at Albright College. She is in the School of Liberal Arts and expects to go into merchandising.

In spite of being elected from nine finalists to represent her town on the Be-Teen fashion board last year, Rusty flashes her quick broad smile and con-fides that she was "speechless" when she found she was a candidate for maid of honor.

Beauty And Brains

Petite Juliana Fees, a brunette second semester student, combines beauty and brains. She was a candidate for May Queen in high school, and at State has been pledged to Alpha Lambda Delta freshman womens scholastic honorary. Juliana is majoring in art education, and hopes to include art in her extra-curricular activities. One of her other interests is swimming, which she taught one summer as a Red Cross instructor, in Harrisburg.

Those mending hands are hands to fly with... the skilled fingers that bring the flying and supporting men of the Air Force back to duty strong and healthy.
