UN Advances As Red Air Buildup Is Seen

TOKYO, Saturday, April 14—(AP)—United Nations troops thrust deeper into North Korea along a 120-mile front Friday while the U.S. Far East air force commander gravely warned of impending Communist air attacks on Allied frontline soldiers and installations. Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer, the Allied air commander, reported "unmistakeable evidence" the Red air force was preparing all-out support of Chinese and North Korean ground forces.

Thus far the Reds have kept their Russian-built planes, mostly MIG jets, based in Manchuria, where Allied planes are forbidden to venture. Red ground troops have had virtually no air support since the small North Korean air force was knocked out in the first few weeks of the Red invasion of South Korea last summer.

Six New Fields

General Stratemeyer said at least six new Red airfields were now being constructed in Korea, between Manchuria and the front lines just north of the 38th Parallel. Existing Communist airstrips are being improved, he added.

In ground action Friday, American troops fought forward on hands and knees to win new mountain positions on the Western front.

Enter Yongchon

An Allied tank-infantry force on the West-Central front entered Yongchon, seven miles north of the old boundary line, and found it deserted.

On the Central front, allied troops captured a dominating ridge south of the important Hwachon reservoir.

General Stratemeyer's warning of preparations for strong Red aerial attacks on the ground coincided with an Air Force announcement in Washington that two U.S. B-29 superfortresses were shot down by Red jets Thursday near the Yalu river. Three other B-29's were lost earlier to Communist air action.

Margiotti Will Defend Nuzum, Steeler Gridder

PITTSBURGH, April 13—(AP)—Attorney Charles J. Margiotti said today he will defend Jerry Nuzum, Pittsburgh Steeler football player, on a murder charge and predicted Nuzum "won't even be indicted."

The professional football player was arrested here last week and charged with killing Ovida (Crick) Coogler. The girl's body was found buried in a sandhill April 16, 1949, near Las Cruces, N.M.

Nuzum was arrested shortly after the body was found but a New Mexico grand jury failed to indict him. New Mexico authorities said Nuzum was rearrested after new evidence was discovered.

Margiotti, one of the east's top criminal lawyers, declared:

"From what I have learned after a conference of many hours there is no justification to the prosecution of Jerry Nuzum. I believe that he will not even be indicted. A great injustice is being done to him."

Nuzum was returned to New Mexico last week and posted $10,000 bond for his appearance at a hearing there on April 24.

The hearing was originally scheduled for April 18. Attorney W. A. Sutherland, who is now representing Nuzum, asked for the postponement.

Reds Can't Help Write Treaty - U.S.

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP)—The U.S. responded with a firm "no" today to a proposal by Britain to let Red China help write the Japanese peace treaty.

Rebuffed at the same time was a British suggestion that the treaty contain a clause returning Formosa to China. Since Britain recognizes the Chinese Communist regime and the U.S. does not this was regarded by American officials as meaning handing the Nationalist island stronghold over to the Communists.

The State department announced the American stand shortly before Ambassador John Foster Dulles left by plane at 4:35 p.m., on a 10-day trip to Tokyo. President Truman ordered the trip to speed the Japanese settlement. Dulles, Republican foreign advisor who is the American spokesman in the treaty negotiations, disclosed in advance he hoped to draw further on the "wise counsel" of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, despite Mr. Truman's removal of the Far East commander.

Draft--

(Continued from page one) the Senate and House, the hottest question was that of lowering the draft age to take boys of 18 or 18½.

Biggest Change

The biggest change the House made in the Senate bill was to drop original administration plans for universal military training (UMT). It said both the House and Senate would have to consider training plans submitted by a civilian commission and enact an entirely new law before UMT could go into effect.

One of the last pre-passage actions of the House was adoption of an amendment requiring that draft boards call all available men between the ages of 19 and 26 (the present draft age range) before drafting any youths under 19. The Senate has a similar provision.

Other Major Provisions

Other major provisions of the House bill:

No drafted man may be sent into a combat area until after he has been in service six months. None may be sent to land bases outside the United States during his first four months.

Physical and mental standards for inductions would be lowered in an effort to draft some of the 608,000 men now catalogued as 4-F.

The existing deferment of married men whose only dependents are their wives, is eliminated.

More liberal deferment for high school students is permitted so that they may finish their four years.

State Calls Appearance 'Fitting Honor' For General

WASHINGTON, April 13—(AP)—President Truman gave a signal today which assures Gen. Douglas MacArthur a chance to defend his Asian policies before Congress.

Amid mounting demands from Republicans and some Democrats for a Senate-House session to hear the deposed commander, Mr. Truman issued a statement saying:

"I regard it as fitting that Congress bestow this honor on one of our great military men."

This stand by Mr. Truman quickly cleared the way—except for the formalities—for MacArthur to come before a joint session possibly next Thursday.

Will Talk

The general has let it be known through his advisors that he will be happy to address Congress if invited. But his appearance will be the first time that an ousted commander—at odds with his commander-in-chief—has been given such an invitation.

churia and attacking the Chinese Red mainland with Chinese Nationalist forces—in opposition to administration policy.

Join Republicans

Mr. Truman spoke out today after Democratic leaders began lining up behind Republicans in a series of moves designed to bring the general before Congress.

First the Senate Armed Services committee voted unanimously to invite MacArthur to testify in a broad-scale inquiry into the Asia dispute.

Then the House Democratic leadership—obviously with Mr. Truman's approval—agreed to support the GOP resolution asking MacArthur to speak before a joint session. The Senate's Democratic leaders agreed to vote next Tuesday on the resolution.

Kill Critical Language

The Republican leaders made it easier for the Democrats to go along with them by knocking out language in the resolution which was critical of the administration.

Dairy Husbandry Grants Are Made

Two grants from private concerns totaling $2850 will sponsor a research project and a fellowship at the College. Both will be conducted by the Department of Dairy Husbandry.

A grant of $2000 from the Publicker Industries, Inc., will sponsor research on the value of ethyl and butyl molasses solubles as milk replacements for dairy calves. The program is under the direction of Dr. C. B. Knott of the Department of Dairy Husbandry.

The Dairy Industrial fellowship, established with the grant of $850, has been awarded to Willis E. Parkin, a graduate of the University of Connecticut, according to Dr. Donald V. Josephson, head of the department.
