Quaker Speaks Tomorrow

Clarence E. Pickett, former executive secretary of the American Friends Service committee will speak on "Christian Ethics and International Violence" tomorrow at 8 p.m. in 121 Sparks.

Pickett is a graduate of Hartford Theological seminary and served as a minister in Quaker churches from 1913 to 1922. After doing graduate work at Harvard, he was appointed professor of Bible literature at Earlham college, Richmond, Ind., where he remained until 1929. He then became associated with the American Friends Service committee and served as its executive secretary until 1949.

There were a large number of straight ballots in the All-College election, while the senior and junior class balloting was heavily split, according to election officials. This would explain why there was only a difference of four in the votes for Worth, vice-president elect Harry Cover, and secretary-treasurer elect Thomas Jurchak.

The natural reaction theory is supported by the records of past elections. The State party won the 1947 and 1948 elections, taking eight of the nine offices, only to be blasted out of power by the Lion party in 1949. All complaints against student government, the theorists claim, whether legitimate or otherwise, fall on the party in power.

How important the anti-Worth leaflet was is a question that will probably never be answered. The leaflet, slamming Worth's record as an independent, was distributed in the West dorm area on the eve of the election.

Mystery surrounds the leaflet's origin. Neither Milton Bernstein, Lion clique chairman, nor Clair George, defeated presidential candidate, seem to know who wrote it or distributed it.
