AIM Group Names Officer Candidates

By ARNOLD BLOOM

AIM board of governors at its meeting last night nominated candidates for next years officers, voted to appropriate $50 to Town council, and discussed plans for spring social events.

The nominating committee presented the following names to the body as candidates: president—David Mutchler, John Laubach, William Raymond, and Joseph Galati; vice-president—Richard Mills and William Brown; secretary—John Stoudt and Joseph Haines; treasurer—Douglas Hoerner and Richard Klingensmith.

Other nominations will be accepted from the floor at the next meeting. Final elections will be held on Wednesday, May 9.

A measure to appropriate $50 to Town council, which would enable them jointly to sponsor a square dance with West dorm council at Rec hall this Saturday, was passed. The measure, introduced by Robb Keener, met with opposition until the financial status of the board was determined.

Richard Mills, social chairman, announced plans to hold a starlight dance on the terrace in front of Old Main, Thursday night, May 17. Plans for a house party to be held in the West dorm lounge were also discussed. Both affairs will be part of the AIM "Senior Weekend" celebration.

A committee was appointed to work on a system of housing cards. The cards would enable AIM to determine how many students would be eligible for next year's fall elections. Richard Mills was appointed chairman of the committee with William Brown, Joseph Haines, Robert Faust, and Weston Tomlinson working under him.

In other business, the board accepted a suggestion by William Zakor that Miss Joan Harvie, Gamma Phi Beta, be sponsored by AIM in the Miss Penn State (continued on page eight)

Film Depicting College Life Here Tomorrow

"This Is Penn State," a film showing life at the College, will have its campus opening tomorrow.

Special showings of the 20-minute color film, which is now being shown in high schools throughout the state, will be held at 4:10, 4:40, 6:30, 7:00, 7:30 and 8 p.m. tomorrow in 121 Sparks.

The film reviews the college life of two Penn State freshmen as seen by a returning alumnus. William Whiteford and Barbara Klopp play the students and Charles Williams enacts the role of the alumnus. Students and faculty members appear throughout the picture.

Students are shown in classroom scenes, in dormitory rooms, as participants in extra-curricular activities such as the College choir, a soccer game, the Daily Collegian, and relaxing at the Corner and at football games.

The Motion Picture and Recording studio at the College produced the pictures. James J. Ambandos was writer and director; Delmer P. Duvall, cameraman; Paul H. Seitzinger, sound engineer; Gerald G. Hutchison, assistant cameraman; and Frank S. Neusbaum, general production supervisor.

Van Wegenan Speaks Tonight At Ag Ec Club

Dr. Alfred Van Wegenan, director of the North-eastern Poultry Producers' council, will speak to a combined meeting of the Agriculture Economics club tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Alpha Zeta fraternity house.

New officers of the Poultry club are Thomas Stabler, president; William Haensly, vice-president; Roger Strait, secretary and James Allison, treasurer.

Chapel Choir Opens Festival

The annual Combined Arts festival opened last night at Schwab auditorium with the presentation of Verdi's "Requiem" by the Chapel choir and four guest soloists. Willa Taylor directed the choir.

Included in the festival which will continue until May 20 are the Intercollegiate Reading festival to be held next Thursday and Friday, dramatic productions, musical presentations, lectures, films, and modern dance recitals.

A combined arts exhibit with work in architecture, painting, murals, sculpture, dance, scene design, art education, landscaping, and home arts is scheduled to open May 10 in the Temporary Union building. Also as part of the festival, work of students in fine arts, architecture, art education, home arts, and demonstrations in weaving, puppet shows, and pottery making will appear in other exhibits to start May 12.

8 Seniors Get Dieticians Jobs

Eight senior women in the School of Home Economics have received positions as intern dieticians. They will work in hospitals and universities approved by the American Dietetic association. It was announced recently by Esther Atkinson, head of the Department of Hotel and Institutional Administration.

Applications For Booths Reopened

Booth applications for the Spring carnival to be held May 17 have been reopened by the Spring week committee.

The committee took the action at a meeting Tuesday night. They also extended the deadline for entries in the Miss Penn State contest until Monday at 5 p.m.

All booth applications, including those returned by the committee for revision, must be turned in at the Student Union desk in Old Main before noon Saturday.

Final processing of the applications will be held Sunday. Groups submitting applications which duplicate ideas for booths already approved by the committee, will be notified privately by committee members. Ideas for booths are processed in the order received, and duplications must be revised.

Entries for the contest to choose Miss Penn State, who will reign over all Spring week activities, may be made until 5 p.m. Monday. Clair George, co-chairman of the coronation committee, reported seven entries in the contest at the committee's Tuesday night meeting.

David Schmuckler, publicity chairman, emphasized yesterday that all coeds are eligible for the contest. He said that there had been an erroneous report circulated that senior women were ineligible.

Schmuckler said also that there was no limit as to the number of entries any individual organization could enter.

The three finalists will be picked early next week by the entire Spring week committee from photographs submitted with the entries.

Ed Council Opposes Oath In Letter To Harrisburg

Education student council has sent a letter to the minority and majority leaders of the state Senate and House of Representatives opposing the Pechan loyalty oath, it was revealed yesterday.

The council, in a letter signed by President Ralph Egolf Jr. and Chairman George Lemshock of an investigating committee, said it unanimously opposed the oath for four reasons.

Council Approved Letter

The letter, approved by the council Monday night, said:

"We unanimously oppose this bill which would require all faculty members of state-supported schools to sign a loyalty oath for these reasons:

"1. The constitutionality is doubtful. Proof of this lies in the fact that a similar bill in the state of California has been voided by court action.

"2. Any person unscrupulous enough to overthrow our democratic way of government would not hesitate to lie and perjure himself in order to remain in his position to further carry on his treachery.

"3. Should there be any faculty members so affiliated with Communist organizations, we believe the board of trustees and President of the College are intelligent, competent, and capable enough to handle such a situation.

"4. It is an intrusion and infringement of the academic freedom of the members of such a great profession, the majority of whom are above reproach."

Copies of the letter also were sent to President Eisenhower and Dean M. R. Trabue of the Education school.

Army Set To Cut June Draft Quota

WASHINGTON—The Army plans to cut its June draft call to 20,000 men, and to bring home upwards of 20,000 battle-tired veterans from Korea each month starting in May, the Associated Press Press reported yesterday.

In May and June the Army expects to recall 15,000 reserve officers to active service. They will help train an Army expected to total 1,552,000 men by June 30.

Given In Closed Hearing

These figures were given by top Army spokesmen to the House appropriations committee in closed hearings earlier this month. They were made public by the committee yesterday as it stamped approval to an emergency fund bill of $6,468,206,000.

Army officials said the 20,000 draft call in June—it had been expected to be 40,000—was made possible chiefly by a rush of voluntary enlistments, lower battle losses in Korea, and an "over-delivery" of draftees in the past.

As for bringing veterans home from Korea, the Army said it hopes to return 20,000 men in May, another 20,000 in June, and 25,000 a month after that. The men will be assigned to units in this country and then returned to civilian life as soon as possible.

'Project X' Appropriation Made

The emergency funds bill includes a $46,800,000 appropriation for a top secret "project X" which the Atomic Energy commission is in a hurry to carry out.

Details of the secret project were given to the committee off the record and were not made public. The committee voted every cent asked, although trimming $4,500,000 from other atomic energy requests.

Final Vote Tonight On Dance Fund

All-College cabinet will vote for the final time tonight on the $300 appropriation for a closed freshman class dance, to be held May 26. It will be the final meeting of Cabinet before the installing of new officers.

Harry Kondourajian, All-College vice-president, will preside at the meeting in the absence of All-College President Robert Davis, who is attending a student union convention at Michigan State college, East Lansing, Mich. Cabinet will also hear a report on the budget for the coming year from Emerson Jones, All-College secretary-treasurer.

Klisanin To Give Report

According to the preliminary agenda, final reports also will be given by William Klisanin, chairman of the National Student association committee, and by Marlin Brenner, chairman of the Community Forum committee.

A second vote will be taken on the proposed constitutional change which would add business managers to the board of publications.

Samuel Vaughan introduced the resolution at last week's meeting for Dean Gladfelter, chairman of the publication's committee. Vaughan said he requested the change to permit better coordination of publication dates.

The request was approved at last week's meeting, and if pass- (continued on page eight)

Navy Lab Men To Interview

Representatives of the U.S. Naval laboratories in California will be on campus Monday to Wednesday to interview graduating seniors, graduate students, and alumni for employment, it was announced recently.

Students majoring in engineering, physics, electronics, chemistry, mathematics, or biology will be considered for employment. Definite commitments for employment will be made to students who fulfill the requirements for work in mechanical, electronic, electrical, and aeronautical engineering, and physics.

Individual interviews will be conducted by previous appointment. Students may make such appointments with the College Placement office, 112 Old Main.

A group meeting for interested students will be held April 29 at 7:30 o'clock in Old Main. Movies pertaining to the research facilities and activities of the laboratories will be shown along with other information regarding the positions available. The exact place for the meeting is not known, but further information can be obtained in the Placement office.

Blood Donor Pledges

Fraternities are reminded to turn in blood donor pledge cards to Harold Leinbach at Pi Kappa Phi by noon Saturday. The Red Cross bloodmobile will visit the College next Thursday.

Dietetics Unit To Meet At Inn

Research findings in foods, nutrition, and diet therapy will be reported at the Pennsylvania Dietetics association meeting today at 10 a.m. in the Nittany Lion inn.

The reports will be given by Dr. Mary L. Dodds, Dr. Nollie B. Guerrant, and Dr. Ruth L. Pike, faculty members.

Faculty, students, and townspeople interested in work with foods may attend the meetings. Registration for the meetings begins today at the Nittany Lion inn at 8 a.m.

Tours of the Foods Stores buildings, new dining halls, Home Economics building, and the Ellen H. Richards institute will start at 2 p.m. A tea will be held at 4 p.m. in the Home Economics living center.

A. O. Morse, provost, will speak at the annual banquet of the association at 7 o'clock tonight in the State College hotel.

Cornell English Prof To Lecture Tonight

Dr. David Daiches, professor of English at Cornell university, will lecture today at 8 p.m. in 121 Sparks on "Graduate Study in the Humanities."

The lecture is sponsored by the Graduate school and the Departments of English Literature and English Composition. The meeting is open to the public.

Science, Phys Ed Seniors Get Gowns

Seniors in the Schools of Chemistry and Physics, Physical Education, and Mineral Industries will order their caps and gowns at the Athletic Store from today to Saturday.

Invitations and announcements are also available at the Student Union desk in Old Main for 10 cents each.
