

Cabinet Proposes 25 Cent Decrease In Assessments

By JIM GROMILLER

All-College cabinet last night passed unanimously a motion recommending that the student interclass finance fee be lowered from 75 cents to 50 cents a semester.

The recommendation must be passed a second time by a two-thirds vote to be submitted to the board of Trustees.

Emerson Jones, All-College secretary-treasurer, recommended the reduction as a part of his proposed budget for next year.

Dance Income Unused
Jones said that in the past income from class dances, amounting to approximately $2600 annually, had not been used in making up the budget. He said that at present the interclass fund contained an accumulated balance of nearly $17,000 from dance receipts over a period of years.

Jones also pointed out that up to last year 25 cents of the semester class assessment was designated for the Blue band, but that last year an additional 25-cent assessment was levied upon all students for the Blue band. He said the class assessment was never reduced to bring it in line.

The motion, if approved by cabinet at its next meeting, would only be a recommendation to the board of Trustees.

$2000 Reduction

The budget submitted by Jones and adopted by cabinet reduces by $2000 the appropriation to cabinet for next year. Jones said the reduction appeared plausible because the present cabinet would use only about $2500 of the $5000 appropriation.

The budget also calls for a cut in scholarships to freshman, sophomore, and junior class presidents. The presidents of the freshman and sophomore classes will each receive $50 and the junior class president $75. In the past all class presidents received scholarships of $100.

Scholarships Dropped

The $50 scholarship for class secretary-treasurers has been dropped in the new budget.

Tribunal chairman will be given a scholarship raise from $50 to $75.

Fall Semester Registration Postponed Until May 21, 22

First phase registration for the fall semester at the College has been postponed from May 7 and 8 to May 21 and 22, C. O. Williams, acting dean of admissions, said yesterday.

Williams said the postponement was caused by the inability of the printer to deliver the required time table booklet before the middle of May.

Approval of the change in date was granted by the Council of Administration in a special meeting yesterday.

Printed forms for first phase registration will be made available as soon as possible, Williams said, and he advised students to await announcements concerning future developments. Otherwise, forms will be given to advisors for distribution on the designated dates.

The procedure for pre-registration of individual schools and departments will be according to their individual desires this year, Williams said. In the past, upperclassmen were usually given top priority in registration, he said. Each school and department will chart their plans well in advance of the May 21 and 22 date.

The purpose of first phase registration, Williams said, is to allow both students on campus and College officials greater leeway in setting up their schedules for the coming semester.

H. K. Schilling, dean of the Graduate school, said that graduating seniors and all others wishing to enter the Graduate school in the fall semester should signify their intention at first phase registration.

Frosh Women 'Moved Up'

Second semester freshman women were officially recognized as upperclasswomen last night when the Freshman Customs and Regulations board announced move-up day.

This recognition means that all second semester women will have upperclass hours as of last night. Hours will include 10 o'clocks Mondays through Thursdays, one o'clock on Fridays and Saturdays, and one special 11 o'clock during May, according to Virginia Preuss, chairman of the board.

The announcement was made last night when all hostesses of freshmen women called dorm meetings supposedly to give out information on registration. The meetings were interrupted by members of the customs board wearing black robes and carrying signs, who made the official announcement of move-up day.

50 Airmen Arrive

Fifty additional airmen arrived on campus Tuesday, Capt. William L. Mitchell, commanding officer of the school squadron, said yesterday.

The men came from Lackland Air base, Texas, and brought to 500 the number of Air Force personnel enrolled in the school for clerk-typists.

Nominations To Councils Close Today

Nominations for student council representatives will close at 5 o'clock today. Elections will be held next Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Physical Education school has already elected its student council, but the other seven schools will vote for their representatives next week.

The Home Economics, Education, Agriculture, Liberal Arts, Mineral Industries, and Chem-Phys schools have already elected student council officers.

The Engineering school will elect their officers and representatives at next week's election.

Elections for the Home Ec school will be held in the hall of the living center in the Home Ec building, Huber Stevens, former president said.

The Education school election will be held in 105 Burrows.

The LA School will use the lobby of Sparks and the MI School will use the entrance to the MI building for their elections.

Elections for the Chem-Phys and Engineering schools will be held in the lobbies of Osmond lab and Main Engineering, respectively.

Men Debaters Enter Tourney At Pittsburgh

Four members of the College men's debate team will travel to Pittsburgh today to compete in the first annual Carnegie Tartan Debate tournament to be held Saturday at the Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Twenty-two college debate teams from four states and the District of Columbia will be battling for the tournament trophy, to be retained permanently by the winning school. This is the first time that an inter-state college debate tourney of this size has been staged in Pittsburgh since before World War II.

Robert Alderdice and David Lewis will take the affirmative side of this year's national intercollegiate debate question, "Resolved: That the non-Communist nations should form a new international organization." John Boddington and Clair George will argue the negative side.

There will be four rounds of debate in the morning and afternoon. Winners will be announced and awards will be presented at a banquet Saturday night.

Saturday's meet will be the last event of the season for most competing schools. Participating in the tourney will be teams from Case Institute of Technology, Cornell university, Duquesne university, Geneva college, Georgetown university, Hiram college, Houghton college, Howard university, Otterbein college.

Also, Purdue university, St. Francis college, St. Vincent college, Seton Hill college, Slippery Rock State Teachers' college, Steubenville college, University of Pittsburgh, University of Rochester, Washington and Jefferson college, Waynesburg college, Xavier college, and Youngstown college.

Stock Show Begins With Parade Tonight

The parade for the College's 34th annual Little International livestock exposition will usher in this year's show tonight.

Led by six matched dapple gray Percheron horses from the Menzie dairy in McKeesport, Pa., the parade will include a float with the six coeds entered in the show's pig derby feature. Several trucks of beef cattle, sheep and swine, and some of the College horses, including the new Morgans, will also appear in the parade.

The six horse team has won top honors at the National Percheron show for two successive years. The team will pull a callopie mounted on a wagon in the parade. The horses arrived on campus yesterday and will be on exhibition in the sheep barn until tomorrow evening.

Starting Time

Starting time for the parade will be 6 o'clock and it will move over Shortlidge road, College avenue, Pugh street, Beaver avenue, Burrows road, College avenue, and return to the sheep barn. Carl Everett is the parade organizer.

Competition in this year's exposition will begin tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock in the livestock pavilion, and will feature outstanding animals recently purchased and being shown for the first time at the College.

The sheep division will open tomorrow's program with the showing of Dorset, Hampshire, Southdown, and Shropshire yearling ewes. Carl Everett is the division superintendent. Joe Williams is assistant. Raymond Henderson will judge the sheep.

Swine competition will follow under Frank Zorn, division superintendent, and Guy Temple, his assistant. Duroc Jerseys, Hampshires, Berkshires, Poland Chinas, and Yorkshires will be shown. M. M. Smith will judge the division.

Eight Classes

Eight classes will be featured in the beef cattle division. Angus, Shorthorn, and Hereford (continued on page eight)

Wesley Group Dinner Tonight

The Wesley foundation will hold its annual spring banquet tonight at 6:30 o'clock in St. Paul's Methodist church.

The banquet this year will mark the 30th anniversary of the Methodist student organization on the campus.

The program, featuring a theme of "Past, Present, and Future", will include group singing, special entertainment, and installation of 1951-52 officers.

The Rev. Ralph Ward, pastor of the Mt. Lebanon church in Pittsburgh, will be guest speaker. Former foundation pastors will receive special recognition during the evening.

Chairmen for the banquet include Joanne Church and Glenn Haneey, general chairmen; Gloria Beepler, Roland Sickler, and Richard Wright, decorations; Barbara Harford, publicity; and James De Voe, program. Edwin Rohrbeck, senior in Liberal Arts, will be master of ceremonies.

Film Of Campus In 121 Sparks Today

The new College film, "This is Penn State," will be shown today at 4:10, 4:40, 6:30, 7:30, and 8 o'clock in 121 Sparks.

It is a 20-minute color film which explains briefly the life of two Penn State students, a boy and a girl. William Whiteford and Barbara Klopp play these roles. Faculty and other students also appear throughout the picture.

The film is now being shown in high schools throughout the state.

Keller, '50 Graduate, Wounded In Korea

Second lieutenant Robert S. Keller, 1950 graduate of the College and former Tribunal head, has been wounded in action in Korea.

The former student had been in combat less than a week before he was wounded, and is expected to return to the front soon. The action in which he was wounded took place about April 15.

He was stationed with the 65th Regiment Tank company, Third Infantry division, and was wounded while commanding a platoon of heavy tanks behind Communist lines. Enemy gunfire severed the nerves in his right arm and he has been returned to Tokyo for an operation.

Lt. Keller received an army commission upon graduation from the College last year and underwent intensive tank and infantry training in the United States. He served in the Air Corps for 18 months following World War II, and was a weather instructor at Chanute Field.

While at the College, Keller participated in many extra-curricular activities. He was 1949-'50 Tribunal chairman; president of the International Relations club and the Council on Racial
