

WRA Aquacade Opens Tonight

"Hits and Misses," the WRA swimming club's aquacade, will run tonight and tomorrow at White hall beginning at 8 o'clock. Tickets must be obtained from participants in the show.

Sixty-three swimmers will take part in the program which consists of twelve musical numbers. As listed on the program the tunes are "In the Mood," "Radar Blues," "Sentimental Journey," a comedy number, "Our Waltz," "Serenade to a Lemonade," "The Charleston," "Blues In the Night," "The Syncopated Clock," "Lunette," "The Flying Dutchman," and the finale.

The comedy number is a take-off on the maneuvers of the Air Corps men on campus. Marjorie Brunner will narrate for the show and will read a verse before each number.

Script Writers

The script was written by Elizabeth Green and Jo Hornberger. Jacqueline Mitchell designed the program cover.

Helen Pond and Anne Wentz were co-chairmen of scenery. One large mural and 12, six by eight smaller pictures will decorate the walls around the pool.

A new picture will be used for each scene. A chorus line of bathing beauties was painted on the large mural by Lois Sealy, Jean Bixler, and Jacqueline Mitchell. Kasja Craig and Lois Brown drew the scenery for the Charleston number and "Our Waltz."

Crew Members

Other members of the scenery committee were: Margaret Becht, Sally Diehl, Henrietta Klevan, Lolita Robinson, Elizabeth Spencer and Patricia Wertz. Eloise Fogo is music technician. Lighting will be supervised by Nancy Barclay, Ann Broomall, Grace Davis, and Jodela VanEs.

Ruth Leonard is adviser to the swimming club. Mary Lee Goodman and Ruth Minkel will help with scenery changes.

See any horses on campus lately? Must be some, since some horses of longer ear length stuck a hitching post in the middle of a driveway next to Carnegie Hall.

For Fair Damsels

Which reminds me to mount my steed and spread the good tidings from Ethel. To wit: Heraldic jewelry. Here's an entirely new approach to feminine flattery. It's out of this world. From the world of armor and amour when knights tore around in a coat-of-arms rescuing damsels in Distress in Altoona.

You'll swoon when you see how stunning heraldic bearings have been incorporated in scatter pins, pendants, bracelets, and earrings. Gold coat-of-arms on white, blue, or red backgrounds. Big crests, little crests... they're fascinating.

Old gold filigree worked into many designs belie the low cost of these works of art. Scatter pins start at only $1.50.

So charge down to Ethel's while there's a full selection. These won't gather dust for Ethel, but they will gather a good selection of males for you when you wear them. Might even get you a beer baron.

Straw and White Beads

And now that it's really spring, don't forget straw handbags and hats at Ethel's. Many have gone to early shoppers, but there's a pretty fair selection left. A few warm days and they'll be gone. So hurry. Prices from $3.50 to $7.50.

And 16 different styles of white bead chokers have just arrived starting at $1.50. More about these next time... if any are left.
