

Student Employment Has Available Jobs

Students interested in part time employment should register at the Student Union office for jobs now available, Allan Reece, assistant in charge of part-time student employment, has announced. Reece said plenty of part-time home maintenance jobs were available immediately. About 400 hundred full time summer jobs in camp and resort work are listed, he said.

Taylor To Talk On Rural Life

Dr. Carl C. Taylor, head of the farm population and rural life division, U.S. Department of Agriculture since 1936, will speak at the rural social science seminar at 3 p.m. Monday in 202 Horticulture. Dr. Taylor's subject will be "Farmer's Movements." He will tell the seminar about the progress of the farmer of today.

Taylor is a past president of the American Sociological Society, and American Country Life Association.

He is the author of "Rural Life in the United States," a widely used text, "Human Relations," and "Rural Life in Argentina." Dr. Taylor received his doctorate from the University of Missouri. He has also studied at the University of Chicago, Columbia, and University of Texas.

He has held professorships at the University of Missouri, North Carolina State, and the University of Texas.

The State Department sent Taylor to Argentina, Paraguay, Uruguay, Guatemala, and Puerto Rico, where he did some work in the sociological field.

Ed Group Names New Committees

The Industrial Education Society at a recent meeting appointed new committees and elected a member to the board of governors.

The members appointed to new committees were John Mattiel, membership committee; William L. Kodoich, publicity committee; and John Ferguson, social chairman. Carl Fenstermacher was elected to the board of governors.

Final plans were made for the annual exhibit which is to be displayed in Rea and Derick's show window from May 14 to May 19. A report was also made of the annual picnic which is to be held on Tuesday, May 15, at Holmes Forest Park. It is open to all students and members of the faculty.

Charles Schlow, prominent merchant of State College and a former industrial education instructor in the public schools, was guest speaker.

Reading Festival Is 'Well Attended'

The third Intercollegiate Reading Festival held at the College Thursday and Friday as part of the Combined Arts Festival was an "extremely well-attended affair," according to Mrs. Harriett Nesbitt, chairman of the festival.

Forty-five students from 12 Pennsylvania colleges and universities participated in the sessions, which included readings in drama, poetry, and short stories. Students representing the College were Phyllis Brenckman, Regina Friedman, James Beaver, and Ruth Johnson.

The festival was sponsored by the Speech department.

Players Show Tickets To Be Sold Monday

Tickets for Players' production of the musical play "Lady in the Dark" will go on sale at 1:30 p.m. Monday at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

The show will run next Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights in Schwab Auditorium. Prices are 60 cents for Thursday and $1 for the Friday and Saturday performances.

The musical fantasy was written by Moss Hart, with lyrics by Ira Gershwin and music by Kurt Weill.
