

AIM Holds Final Elections Tonight

The Association of Independent Men's board of governors will hold final elections for next year's officers at its meeting tonight.

Nominees presented to the board on April 25 by the nominating committee are David Mutchler, John Laubach, William Raymond, and Joseph Galati, president; William Brown and Richard Mills, vice-president; John Stoudt and Joseph Haines, treasurer; and Douglas Hoerner and Richard Klingensmith, treasurer.

Nominations will also be accepted from the floor. The meeting will be held at 8 tonight in 214 Willard.

This will be the last meeting of the old AIM board. The new officers elected tonight will be installed at the AIM banquet on May 22 and will then take over the board functions.

The West Dorm Council will carry results of its recent laundry box service survey to the board for action, Richard Bard, AIM president, said. The council has been seeking mailing facilities from the West Dorm post office and has conducted an inquiry among area residents as to the advisability of such a plan.

The third reading of a proposed amendment to the AIM constitution concerning grants and loans will also be held. The amendment would limit grants and loans to AIM's individual councils.

The board will also hear committee reports on an AIM dating code, the AIM banquet, and the proposed housing card system that would aid in determining who would be eligible for next year's fall elections.

WD Council To Present Service Keys

The West Dorm Council Monday night decided to present council keys to area men not on the council in recognition of outstanding service to the area.

Those to receive the honorary keys will be designated by the executive committee with the approval of the council.

Action was also taken to bar members, who had been absent from council meetings in violation of the constitution, from purchasing the keys.

Open House
Open house will be held in the West Dorms from 1 to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Thomas Durek, president, announced. Plans are to have room doors kept open so the visitors in the area may view rooms and facilities in the new dorms.

John Clark, public relations committee chairman, reported on the laundry box service survey recently conducted in the area.

Of those filing questionnaires in the inquiry, 56 mailed their laundry home once a month, 251

Late Permissions

All women attending the Folk Dance Festival in Recreation Hall tomorrow night will be given 11 o'clock permissions. The festival will start at 8 p.m. and last until 10:45.

The late permissions were granted by the Senate Committee on Student Welfare at its recent meeting.

Navy To Use Part Of PUB For Research

The Naval Ordnance will take over the recreational portion of the PUB, Nittany Council President John Laubach announced at the council meeting Monday night.

Laubach said that the building would be occupied for approximately two or three years. However, he added, the back end of the building would still be used for student activities, such as the student dry cleaning agency. Laubach also said that the Navy planned to do submarine and torpedo research here.

The washing machine committee reported that thus far the custodians have failed to install power lines for the washing machines. The reason given for the failure to install the machines was that the custodians have been "un-cooperative." The committee added that if action is not taken soon, the matter would be taken up with Wilmer E. Kenworthy, Director of Student Affairs.

The council also went on record as favoring an amendment which would return 40 per cent of the dues collected by AIM to each area with the remaining 60 per cent to be retained by AIM.

The council passed a motion which would transfer $20 from the council's treasury to Pollock for reimbursement for a square dance held last semester.

German Scientist Aids In Research

A noted German scientist, Dr. A. W. Hussman, has been appointed professor of engineering research in the Engineering Experiment Station at the College, assisting Dr. P. H. Schweitzer in diesel engine and military research projects.

Hussman was one of the German scientists brought to this country in 1946 by the Air Force to work with the Air Materiel Command at Wright Field. Before coming to the College, he was a special lecturer in diesel engineering at North Carolina State College.

Collegian Promotes 16 To Sophomore Board

Ed Council Announces Committees

Ralph Egolf, president of the Education Student Council, appointed committee members at a council meeting Monday night.

The committees are social: Sally Shapiro, chairman; Jean Richards, Ann Porter, Joan Yerger, and Harry Shank; awards: Ruth Eddy, chairman; Terry Moslak and Carol Mermelstien; publicity: John Beiter, chairman; Jane Hillsman, and Marian Whiteley; ways and means: Ray Evert, chairman; Donna Esterbrook, Dave Arnold, and Kathy Kiester; Edits: Joe Gronick, chairman; Betty Champlin, Mary Foucart, Jean Richards, Eleanor Griffith, and Edward Crosley.

George Demshock, senior, will be a member of the education faculty next fall and will assist the Edits committee. Edits is the council publication.

Egolf reported that 2,000 copies of Edits will be printed for distribution during Orientation Week next fall. It will contain information about the School of Education, its clubs and honoraries.

Beginning next year, the council will award trophies to two outstanding seniors in education. Education faculty and students will nominate the students with the awards committee of the council making the final selections.

The council voted unanimously for the purchase of a scrapbook to record clippings and items of interest concerning the council.

'Of Mice And Men' Movie To Be Shown

The movie version of John Steinbeck's "Of Mice and Men" will be shown at 7 tonight in 119 Osmond.

Although the showing is intended primarily for students in Dramatics 61 classes, the public may attend.

Festivities Planned For Spring Week

Spring Week festivities will open Tuesday night when President Milton S. Eisenhower, Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh, and soccer coach William Jeffrey choose Miss Penn State from among the four finalists in Schwab Auditorium.

A parade preceding the coronation will form on Ag Hill, move down Shortlidge road to College avenue, up College avenue to Burrowes road, to Pollock road, and ending at the auditorium.

The Spring Week committee has announced that groups sponsoring booths in the Spring Carnival may enter floats and decorated cars in the parade to publicize their booths. The four finalists will ride in the parade on separate floats, each decorated by one of the women's honoraries.

Banquet At Corner

A banquet will be held in the Corner Room to honor the judges and finalists prior to the parade. Mary Anne Hanna, last year's Spring Week queen, and members of the general Spring Week committee will also attend.

A special campus tour which had been planned for Mayor Lawrence has been canceled, since the mayor will be unable to leave Pittsburgh until early afternoon.

Crazy and unusual hats will reign on Wednesday of Spring

Midnight next Tuesday is the deadline for submission of applications for the Selective Service College Qualification Test, Major Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, has announced.

The deadline pertains to all testing dates, including the special testing date for students whose religious convictions prevent Saturday participation.

A deadline was set, Hershey said, to allow the Educational Testing Service time to process all applications and assign dates and testing centers to students.

The testing dates are May 26, June 16, and June 30, all Saturdays. The special test will be given Thursday, July 12.

Applications Available
Applications for the test, the results of which will be used by local draft boards in considering deferments for students, may be obtained from the nearest local board, not the local board of each particular student as previously indicated.

Local Board 44, Bellefonte, is open Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 12 noon, and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Applications may be obtained by students appearing in person at the board.

Students taking the tests will be required to pay transportation to the assigned testing center. No fee will be charged for taking the test itself.

Requirements
The requirements for taking the test are that an applicant:

1. Must be a registrant who intends to request occupational deferment as a student.
2. Must be under 26 years of age at the time of taking the test.
3. Must have already begun and plans to continue his college or university studies.

The applicant need not be enrolled in a four year college, but the school must have the standards that would permit transferring of credits to an institution which grants degrees.

Approximately 3500 of the 5000 draft eligible students at the College turned in applications for the test.

Government officials and educators have repeatedly urged college students to take the tests regardless of the "unofficial" aspect as far as deferments are concerned.

Tests Vital
President Milton S. Eisenhower and H. K. Wilson, dean of men, have stated that the tests are vital and will determine to a large degree the students who will be deferred.

Students now deferred under the ROTC program and who are under 18 years of age are urged to apply for the test, according to Hershey. Deferments under the Selective Service Act will be based largely on the tests, he said.

Health Group Meets Today

"Mobilizing Resources for Pennsylvania's Recreation" has been chosen as the theme for the fourth annual Pennsylvania Recreation Conference to be held at the College today through Friday.

Dr. Harold D. Meyer, professor of sociology at the University of North Carolina and consultant of the North Carolina Recreation Commission, will be guest speaker at the meeting of the Centre County Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday in 3 White Hall. Mr. Meyer will talk on "Recreation as a Profession."

Others included on the program will be Hugh B. Masters, director of the Division of Education, W. K. Kellogg, Foundation; and Conrad L. Worth, of the National Park Service, Washington, D.C.

Rounding out the program will be brief talks by a host of Pennsylvanians who are outstanding leaders in recreational activities.

Child Ed Group To Hear Hooper

Dr. Laura Hopper, vice-president of the Association for Childhood Education International, will be the guest speaker at tonight's meeting of the local Association for Childhood Education.

Dr. Hooper, who is director of elementary education at the University of Pennsylvania, will speak at 7:30 p.m. in Atherton Hall on "Learning about Children through the Mid-Century White House Conference."

Representatives from schools in Lock Haven and Altoona will be special guests of the local group for the meeting.
