

Tilles To Appear In Last Production

Sonya Tilles will climax a three-year record of appearances with the Penn State Players when she appears as Liza Elliott in "Lady in the Dark" tomorrow, Friday, and Saturday nights in Schwab Auditorium.

In the role of the fashion magazine editor whose subconscious thoughts and dreams form the basis for the plot of the musical play, Miss Tilles will be on stage for almost the entire show.

She will have nine costume changes, and for the first time she will be required both to dance and to sing. She has been devoting one hour a day for the past three months to singing lessons for her performance.

Miss Tilles, or Sunny, as she prefers to be called, will graduate in June with a bachelor's degree in dramatics. Her current role in the Moss Hart fantasy will end a career in Players which began two years ago when she appeared as Mrs. Antrobus in Thornton Wilder's "The Skin of Our Teeth." The Daily Collegian drama critic at that time wrote that it was her performance which "kept the pieces of the show together."

Last year Sunny alternated in both female roles in the Center Stage production of Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie." She played both the domineering mother and the sensitive young daughter. She also appeared as the simple servant girl, Julie, in Ferenc Molnar's "Liliom," and as Lady Capulet in Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet."

This year she has been seen at Center Stage in such widely different roles as that of the nagging old wife, Florence Goodman, in Irwin Shaw's "The Gentle People," and the young prostitute, Kitty Duval, in William Saroyan's "The Time of Your Life."

Sunny started her dramatic training at the widely-known Hedgerow Theatre, while attending West Philadelphia High School.

In her freshman year at the Carnegie Institute of Technology she appeared in college productions of Rose Franken's "Another Language" and Joseph Priestley's "Music at Night."

Sunny is social chairman of Players and a member of Theta Alpha Phi, national dramatics recognition society.

After graduation, she plans to act professionally.

Sonya Tilles

Phi Beta Kappa To Initiate 34

Thirty-four seniors will be initiated into Phi Beta Kappa, the nation's top scholastic honorary, Thursday, May 17.

The list of initiates, arranged by schools, is:

Liberal Arts: Ruth Aaron, Joanne Ashman, Patricia Bender, James Dente, William Forest, Lloyd Gladfelter, Ronald Groff, Mary McAllister, Marguerite Maitland, Frances Markowitz, Preston Peightal, Henry Progar, Patricia Roseberry, Mary Rowland, Betty Sellers, Anne Wiggins, and Soloman Yoder.

Chemistry and Physics: David Aicher, Donald Bedo, William Brooks, Irvin Kricheff, Donald Rauscher, Andrew Skumanich, and Bernard Yurick.

Education: George Brehman, Jr., Audrey Brua, Gay Brunner, Hazel Hubbard, David McNelis, Janet Rosen, Seymour Ruberfeld, and Elizabeth Spencer.

Agriculture: Lorraine Driesbach and Michael Dufala.

PSCA Discontinues Games Program

The freshman council of the Penn State Christian Association will take charge of the after-school recreation at Stony Point School for the last time today at 2 p.m.

Freshman council has been taking charge of this game period each Tuesday between 2 and 4 p.m. to assist the teacher by planning recreation for her pupils. School is over at Stony Point at 2 p.m., but the bus does not come for the children until 4 p.m.

Lenore Staats, adviser to the freshman council, and Patricia Jones and Kirk Garber, co-chairmen of the Stony Point School committee, are in charge of the project.

Journ Prof Writes Newspaper Textbook

Charles H. Brown, assistant professor of journalism at the College, is the author of a new college textbook on newspaper copyreading and editing. Publication of the book has been scheduled for next winter by Harper and Brothers, New York.

Illustrations for the book include a photographic sequence of printing processes in the plant of the Centre Daily Times. Arrangements for the pictures, taken by Richard O. Byers, instructor in journalism, were made by E. J. Reilly, associate publisher and business manager of the Times.

For Best Results Use Collegian Classified

Arts Exhibit Will Open Tomorrow

The annual Combined Arts Exhibit, including work in architecture, painting, murals, sculpture, the dance, scene design, art education, landscaping, and home arts, will open tomorrow in the Temporary Union Building.

Exhibits opening on Saturday will include work by fine arts students in the Fred Lewis Pattee Library, architecture students' work on the 3rd floor of Main Engineering, art education in Temporary Building, home arts in Home Economics and weaving, puppet show and pottery making in the Temporary Union Building.

All exhibits will continue until May 20, the closing date for the Festival.

Included on the program of the Combined Arts Festival for this week are three recitals of the Dance Concert Group at 8 tonight, tomorrow, and Saturday in White Hall. Free tickets may be obtained in White Hall.

The Players will present "Lady in the Dark" in Schwab Auditorium at 8 p.m. tomorrow, Friday and Saturday, and "John Bull's Other Island" on Friday and Saturday nights at Center Stage.

The film, "Of Mice and Men" is scheduled for 7 tonight in 119 Osmond.

Doty Begins Modern Chem Series Today

P. M. Doty of Harvard University will speak on "Light Scattering, High Polymers and Proteins" at 11 a.m. today in 119 Osmond.

This is the first of three lectures Doty will give this week in the Chemistry 570 Special Topics in Modern Chemistry series.

At 4 p.m. tomorrow he will speak on "Structure of Colloidal Solutions" and at 4 p.m. Friday on "Polymeric Electrolytes and Nucleic Acid."

Doty is a graduate of the College where he also did graduate research in physical chemistry. He spent the war years working on plastic research problems for the Army Quartermaster Corps at Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute.

The lecturer is one of three men in the world specializing in the light scattering study of the structure of protein molecules.

Fellowships Given For Study Abroad

Two fellowships have been made available for both men and women by the Deutsche Austauschdienst, Bonn, Germany for the academic year Nov. 1, 1951 to July 31, 1952. Applications will be received until tomorrow.

Applicants for the fellowships must be American citizens, guaranteed a bachelor's degree by Nov. 1, have a good knowledge of German, and be in good health. For further information, write to the Institute of International Education, 2 West 45 street, New York City.

Pet. Society To Meet

The Petroleum Engineering Society will meet at 7:30 tonight in 203 Willard Hall.

Election of officers will be held at this time and a movie entitled "Oil Production and Exploration" will be shown.

For Best Results Use Collegian Classified

SU Requests Names

All fraternities, clubs, societies and other organizations are requested to turn in the names of their new officers to the Student Union desk in Old Main as soon as possible so that they may be included in the Student Union Directory.

Candidates Picked For Honorary Titles

Twelve outstanding seniors have been nominated for the five men's honorary titles to be given class night in Recreation Hall, June 10.

The men are Homer Barr, Marlin Brenner, Robert Davis, Owen Dougherty, John Erickson, Robert Fast, Dean Gladfelter, Emerson Jones, Harry Kondourajian, Harold Leimbach, Neil See, and Samuel Vaughan.

To Speak Today

Dr. Herbert E. Longenecker

Longenecker To Lecture At Osmond

Dr. Herbert E. Longenecker, dean of the Graduate School at the University of Pittsburgh and an alumnus and former faculty member of the College, will present the third in the Priestley lecture series at 5:15 p.m. today in 119 Osmond.

Dr. Lyman E. Jackson, dean of the School of Agriculture, will serve as chairman for the address, which is titled, "A Prediction for the Future of Biochemistry Based Upon the Past Quarter Century."

Following the lecture, the annual Phi Lambda Upsilon banquet will be held at the Nittany Lion Inn, where A. O. Morse, provost, will present a scroll to each of the five lecturers who participated in the Priestley lecture series this year.

At the same time, Dr. S. C. Carlson, of the Standard Oil Co., national vice-president of Phi Lambda Upsilon, will present Dr. M. R. Fenske, director of the Petroleum Refining Laboratory an honorary membership in the society.

Another national officer attending the banquet will be Dr. A. W. Hutchison, professor of chemistry, who recently was named national historian.

A native of Lititz, Dr. Longenecker received his B.S., M.S. and Ph.D. degrees at the College and served on the faculty from 1933 to 1936.

Voting for the awards will be done by mail. Double post cards will be mailed to all seniors in a few days, Herbert Stein, co-chairman of the class night committee, said yesterday.

Senior men will choose five from the above list, while senior women will list six outstanding women for the female honors.

Men's Honors

The men's honors include spoon man, barrel man, cane man, pipe orator, and class donor. The nominee receiving the highest number of votes will be spoon man, and the other honors will be filled by those with next highest votes.

Women's honors are bow girl, slipper girl, fan girl, mirror girl, class donor, and class poet.

The committee will make no advance nominations for the women's awards.

Senior class valedictorian and salutatorian will be named shortly by retiring senior class President John Erickson. Both will speak at the class night ceremonies.

Committee

In the past a committee composed of the senior class president, chairman of the class night committee, and a representative of the Speech department have made the selection, with the senior class president announcing the final choice.

Usually the senior with the highest four year scholastic average is named valedictorian and the second highest salutatorian, but the actual choice has been left to the committee.

Students Report For Physicals

Thirty-three men have been ordered by Local Draft Board 44 in Bellefonte, to report at the Post House at 7:15 a.m. tomorrow to go to Altoona for their pre-induction physical.

The men are William Betz, David Bronstein, Maynard Calkin, Jr., George Colbert, Ronald Coleman, Paul Cressman, Norman Duffy, Donald Felker, Robert Flick, Richard Heisler, William Holt, William Horn, James Keightly Jr., George Hertler, Albert Kishbaugh Jr., Allan Kohn, Walter H. Knoth Jr., Donald Korson, Albert Kuhn, Paul Kulp, Richard Kutz, George Lafferty Jr., Carl Liachowitz, Thomas Morton, Alan New, Theodore Roderer, Robert Schlabach, Edward Smith Jr., John M. Smith, Thomas Stabler, Herbert Tomlinson, Walter Vilsmeier, and John Walker.

Pershing Rifles Take Honors At Duquesne

The Penn State Pershing Rifles team of Company B-5 won the standard drill meet of the fifth regimental competition with 13 different schools held at Duquesne University Saturday.

The second and third place winners of the standard drill were Maryland and Duquesne in that order.

A prize winning cup was given to the College team for the victory. This was the second time Company B-5 has captured drill honors; they had previously registered such a victory at Lehigh University a year ago.

Capt. Wolfe and Lt. Brown of State's Company B-5 received first place awards for being the outstanding company commander and the outstanding cadet, respectively.

Virginia Tech was named as the most proficient trick drill company, while Penn State was awarded second place.

In the rifle shoot, Maryland took outstanding marksmanship and Duquesne received second award. Penn State was third.

College-Owned Bull Takes Silver Medal

Glenafon Montvic Marksman, registered Holstein-Friesian bull owned by the College, was recently named the Silver Medal Production Sire by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Based upon the superior milk production of the bull's daughters as compared to their dams, the Silver Medal honor marks him as an outstanding sire of the Holstein breed of dairy cattle.

Check This . . .
be sure and see

"LADY
in the DARK"

a play with music

May 10, 11, and 12 at Schwab

Tickets:
Thurs., 60c Fri. & Sat. $1.00
at Student Union