

Truman Told MacArthur That Russia Was Threat

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP)—President Truman told Gen. Douglas MacArthur last Jan. 13 that Soviet Russia was the "main threat" and that any spread of the Korean war might involve Japan and Western Europe in a large-scale struggle.

The chief executive wrote a letter to the five-star general outlining the aims of the American Government in Korea and saying:

"Steps which might in themselves be justified and which might lend some assistance to the campaign in Korea would not be beneficial if they hereby involved Japan or Western Europe in large-scale hostilities.

"In reaching a final decision about Korea, I shall have to give constant thought to the main threat from the Soviet Union and to the need for rapid expansion of our armed forces to meet this great danger."

The letter—in paraphrased form—was read to the Senate armed services and foreign relations committees by Secretary of Defense Marshall in the fifth day of his defense of administration policies in Asia.

It was written by the President after General MacArthur had advised Washington that he might have to evacuate United Nations troops from Korea unless he were permitted to bomb Red China, blockade the Red-held coast, and use Chinese Nationalist troops.

Poultry Club Show Opens On Campus

Complete dressing of poultry for market is one of the features of the fourth annual poultry show to be held today at the College.

The exhibit will be open from 1 to 6 p.m.

This year's show, sponsored by the Penn State Poultry Club, is educational in nature. No contests are planned, director Roger Strait has announced.

Other features of the show will be a caponizing demonstration by Hugh Lesley and Harrison Bornmann, and a demonstration of the correct method of cutting up chickens by Morris Brown and Bridget Hollen.

Double Tent
A double tent will be erected between Patterson Hall and the Livestock Pavilion to house the various exhibits.

In the double tent will be displays featuring eggs, turkeys, embryo development inside the egg, growth stages of chicks, live birds, and electric feather pickers.

Corsages made from turkey feathers will be sold by club members at the show.

Poultry Banquet
The first annual poultry student-faculty banquet will be held Thursday at the State College Hotel.

L. W. Steelman, former poultry extensionist in Pennsylvania and now owner of the Valley Forge Farms, will deliver the main address.

The club's newly elected officers, Thomas Strait, William Haensley, Roger Strait, and Hugh Lesley, will be installed at the banquet.

FRENCH ASSEMBLY
PARIS, Saturday, May 12 (AP)—The French National Assembly voted early today to end its own life, thereby making certain that a general election will be held next month.

The date for the election is expected to be June 17.

Moran Gets Sentence For Lying

NEW YORK, May 11 (AP)—Ambassador William O'Dwyer's long-time pal, James J. Moran, drew a five year prison sentence today for lying to the Kefauver Senate crime committee.

Federal Judge Charles A. Dewey, adding a $2,000 fine to the penalty, threw the book at the ruddy, gray-haired Moran.

To Launch Appeal
Moran flushed and bobbed his head at the sentence. Then, grimly and silently, he strode from the courtroom to launch an appeal from last Tuesday's conviction.

His freedom on $25,000 bond was continued pending the outcome of the appeal.

The 49-year-old Moran was convicted of perjury for telling Senate crime probes March 16 that he met Brooklyn numbers racketeer Louis Weber no more than half a dozen times.

On Television
Millions of persons for the first time in history watched the actual commission of the crime on television and heard the words that branded Moran a liar.

His conviction and sentence was the first growing out of the dramatic cross-country series of Senate crime hearings that ended last March.

The government said Moran and Weber met more than 100 times and called Moran's lie "part of a calculated scheme rooted in the monstrous alliance between crime and politics."

Weber went even further and denied ever meeting Moran in his life. He is awaiting trial on a perjury charge and Moran was subpoenaed today as a witness against him.

Donnon Chosen Rec President

Francis Donnon of Pottstown was elected president of the Pennsylvania Recreation Association yesterday at the fourth annual recreation conference which was held on the campus.

Donnon succeeds Allen E. Risendorph of Pittsburgh.

Other officers elected at the three-day event were Michael Wargo, Clairton, vice-president; Norma Heinrich, Beaver Falls, secretary; and Frances Hartzell, Chambersburg, treasurer.

2nd Division Alerted For European Duty

WASHINGTON, May 11—(AP)—The alerting of the Second Armored Division today for service in Europe increased the prospects that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will have from 12 to 14 ready-to-fight divisions by the end of this year.

Six of those divisions will be American. The First Infantry Division and the Constabulary Force, which is considered the equivalent of a combat division, are already in Germany. The Fourth Infantry Division is in the final stage of preparation to sail for Europe, nearly one month after it received alert orders at Fort Benning, Ga.

Today the Second Armored, based at Fort Hood, Tex., was notified to be ready for overseas duty.

The two divisions being prepared for Europe are not at full strength and will need more training before they are combat worthy. Both their strength and their training, however, are expected to be built up after they reach Europe.

Fresh Red Troops Stream Into Action

TOKYO, Saturday, May 12—(AP)—Fresh Chinese Communist troops streamed boldly into four main concentration areas on the western and central Korean fronts Friday in a new and ominous buildup.

The no-mans-land separating the Reds and the United Nations forces across the 100-mile wide front narrowed steadily.

Crisis Hits S. Korean Government

TAEGU, Korea, Saturday, May 12—(AP)—A cabinet crisis, brought about by a financial scandal and a mass execution, is threatening the South Korean Government while Allied Forces battle to defend the Republic against the Reds.

There is some informal talk of impeaching Dr. Syngman Rhee, 76-year-old first President of the UN-sponsored Republic, but he appears strong enough to stay in the saddle.

Rhee fired three cabinet ministers recently as an aftermath of the execution of 187 villagers at Kochang. Charged with communist sympathies, the villagers were convicted by a military court and shot Feb. 12.

The opposition party, the National Democrats, charged meanwhile that $2,000,000 in Defense Department funds had disappeared. During an assembly debate on this matter one delegate sank his teeth into a colleague's cheek.

Dawson Hit By Senators

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—White House aide Donald Dawson today encountered sharp senatorial skepticism as he denied wielding political influence on the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, government lending agency.

When Dawson wound up his testimony, he told newsmen that he felt the hearing "clearly demonstrates there has been no impropriety on my part."

But Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark), chairman of the Senate inquiry committee disagreed.

"That's only his opinion," Fulbright said. "There's quite a difference of views on what is proper and improper."

Allied defensive positions were braced with sandbags and strung with barbed wire barricades. Booby traps sprinkled approaches to UN strong points.

The possibilities of Red air attacks were fully weighed. U.S. Eighth Army headquarters, for the first time in the war, prepared air raid sirens, camouflaged key buildings and fixed sandbag shelters, said AP correspondent William C. Barnard.

On the central front, AP correspondent Jim Becker said the Reds have "suddenly put in an appearance and have been reported moving south."

Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet's Eighth Army headquarters conceded Friday night that "large concentrations of the enemy and considerable movement" of the Reds were reported north of Seoul and north of Chunchon. Chunchon is 45 miles northeast of Seoul.

Water Tunnel Open Today For Inspection

The College's new Garfield Thomas Water Tunnel will be open this afternoon and this evening for inspection by the general public for the first time since its completion, officials said yesterday.

Tours and demonstrations will take place in the tunnel from 2 to 4:20 p.m. and from 6:40 to 9 tonight.

A torpedo model will be in the tunnel during the demonstrations. Water will be sent past the model at 25 feet per second, and the efficiency of the propellers on the model will be measured. The torpedo has within it two 20 horsepower motors that aid in determining the efficiency of the propellers.

The tunnel is a part of the Navy Ordnance Research laboratory under the School of Engineering. It is used to test designs of propellers, body shapes, and auxiliaries of underwater devices through the use of powered models.

An operating console is used by engineers to control and gauge the velocity and pressure in the working section. The tunnel is capable of sending water through the testing area at a speed of 80 feet per second.

Well Equipment To Be Exhibited

A modern well logging truck will be on campus Monday to conduct demonstrations of electric logging and other geophysical techniques.

The demonstrations, which are open to the public, will take place hourly, starting at 8 a.m., in the area between the Mineral Industry and Mineral Science buildings.

The demonstrations were arranged by the Department of Geophysics and Geochemistry of the School of Mineral Industries through the courtesy of the Schlumberger Well Surveying Corporation.

Coronation Parade To Form On Ag Hill

The coronation parade will form near the College barns on Ag Hill at 6:15 Tuesday night, David Schmuckler of the Spring Week committee, announced yesterday.

Groups sponsoring booths in the Spring Carnival may enter decorated cars in the parade to publicize their booths, Schmuckler said.

The parade will precede the crowning of Miss Penn State in Schwab Auditorium.
