

The Carnival Goes On Despite The Downpours

—Photo by Hanlon

CARNIVAL SCENES—Mary Bambrick (left), Delta Delta Delta, shivers after being dumped into a bathtub full of cold water in the "Dunk a Delt or a Theta Chi" booth of the carnival. Joyce Gardiner, cringes as an unidentified sharpshooter, squirts her with water from a squirt gun at the "Hoop-O" booth sponsored by Leonides and the Barons. The carnival lot was almost deserted during the height of the early afternoon rainstorm. Two figures can be seen darting for cover. The crowd returned when the sun came out, as shown at the far right.

AIM Will Honor Independent Men

Awards to outstanding independent men will be presented at the second annual Association of Independent Men banquet in the Eutaw House at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Awards for scholarship, athletics, and general activities will be presented in each dorm area and on an All-College basis.

Pi Omega Pi Local Chapter Holds Initiation

Fourteen students and two faculty members were initiated as charter members of the Gamma Zeta chapter of Pi Omega Pi, business education honorary, at its recent installation.

Mina M. Johnson, national organizer from Ball State Teachers College, Muncie, Indiana, officially installed the College chapter.

Dr. Dorothy Veon, associate professor of business education, and Margaret Swartz, instructor of economics, were initiated as honorary faculty members.

Undergraduate charter members of the organization are John Barrons, Melvin Bock, Blaine Crooks, George Demshock, Ina Epstein, William Faurot, Joyce Flora, Harold O'Hazzo, Ruth Schenley, Evelyn Stuban, Malvin Wance, Barbara Waska, Patricia Weaver, and Barbara Wink.

Officers elected for next year are Barrons, president; Bock, vice-president; Miss Stuban, secretary-treasurer; and Miss Epstein, historian.

Mary Stella, instructor of business education, is sponsor of the group.

Student On Probation For Breaking Alarm

A student was placed on probation Wednesday night by Tribunal for breaking the glass on a fire alarm. If he is brought before Tribunal again for any disciplinary action, a recommendation of expulsion will be given to the Dean of Men.

Another student received a suspended fine of $1 for driving on Pollock road during class hours.

Insurance Clubs Elects Gray New President

David Gray was elected president for the coming year at the meeting of the Penn State Insurance Club Wednesday night.

Other officers elected were Edwin Herring, vice-president; and Anthony Eagle, secretary-treasurer.

LECTURE CANCELED

The senior engineering lecture scheduled for 4 p.m. today in Schwab Auditorium has been canceled.

Dorm Group Votes Down Tenure Plan

The tenure of office proposition allowing Pollock area council officers to hold office for a full year rather than one semester was defeated for the second time in the past few weeks at Wednesday night's Pollock Council meeting.

William Waters, council secretary, stated that the proposal was defeated by a 5-4 margin, and since the other night's meeting was the last for this semester, the proposal would have to remain a dead issue until next year.

President Leonard Tomazin announced that the council had voted to donate its whole treasury balance up until July 31 to the Displaced Person's Loan.

Russell E. Clark, director of housing, informed the council that there was a good possibility of installing a water fountain on the tennis court grounds in the not too near future.

Clark paid a visit to the area in order to demonstrate the use of the new washers which have recently been installed.

George Donovan, head of student activities, notified the council that its recent plea for the installation of a stamp machine in the PUB couldn't be fulfilled because of various circumstances beyond his control.

Group To Talk On Gifted Child

A workshop to discuss the teaching of gifted children will be held at the College this Saturday.

Margaret A. Neuber, associate professor of special education, who is planning the program, said the sessions will open with registration at 8:30 a.m. followed by discussions by leaders in this field.

Dr. John Cartwright, superintendent of the Allentown public schools, the first schools in Pennsylvania to recognize the importance of special education, will preside at the luncheon to be held at 12:30 p.m. at the Hotel State College.

From 2:15 to 4:30 p.m. work groups will meet in Willard Hall. At the morning session in 10 Sparks building speakers will include Dr. Hedwig O. Pregler, principal of Colfax School, Pittsburgh, and Dr. Arthur I. Oliver, assistant professor of education at the University of Pennsylvania, who have also done extensive work in special education. Mrs. W. N. Harley, of the Pennsylvania Congress of Parents and Teachers, Inc., also will be a leader at the morning session.

Inkling Staff Works To Meet Deadline

By NANCY LEUTZEL

All staffs concerned with the publication of Inkling worked until midnight Wednesday in an all-out effort to have the magazine on sale for Carnival day.

Authors, editors, and circulation, promotion, business, and advertising staffs worked late into the night binding, stapling, and trimming the issues.

Sales were hampered by sudden showers yesterday afternoon which forced the circulation staff to set up its stands in the buildings for the duration of the rain. However, Marc Kimelman, circulation manager, said that he expects a sell-out by tonight.

Eisenhower To Speak At Banquet

President Milton S. Eisenhower will be principal speaker at the Agricultural Engineering banquet at 6 tonight at the State College Presbyterian Church.

The banquet is sponsored by the Farm Equipment Manufacturers Association of Pennsylvania in cooperation with the Department of Agricultural Engineering.

A feature of the evening will be the distribution of the first printed directory of the alumni of the agricultural engineering department. The directory was published by the Pennsylvania Farm Equipment Dealers Association to replace annual mimeographed copies.

Several prominent guests, including representatives of national equipment manufacturing firms, will attend. Officers of the Pennsylvania association are Ed Fisher of A.B. Farquar Co., president; Charles Webster of Allis Chalmers, vice president; George Kentzer of the Oliver Corp., secretary; and H. H. Fidler of John Deere, treasurer.

William Bower, president of the student branch of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers, will speak briefly on the many student activities of the department. Prof. R. U. Blasingame, head of the department, will act as toastmaster.

Preceding the banquet, the manufacturers will spend the afternoon on a tour of the shops and laboratories of the department, and of new buildings and facilities on the campus.

'Reserved' Air To Pollock Road

Capt. Philip A. Mark, head of the Campus Patrol, yesterday came up with a new name for Pollock road.

"With all those 'reserved' signs on Pollock road," Capt. Mark said, "we should call it 'Burma Shave road'."

The suggestion has been passed along to the physical plant department.

Holtzinger Elected National Historian

Dr. A. H. Holtzinger, associate professor of chemistry and director of the chemical laboratories has been elected national historian of Phi Lambda Upsilon, honorary chemical society.

It will be Dr. Holtzinger's duty to assemble and maintain all records regarding the origin and development of the society.

Dr. Holtzinger has been counselor of the Penn State chapter for many years and has been an active member of national committees of the society.

Graduate Co-Authors Geological Survey

Robert A. Navias, a graduate student in geology, is co-author of a geological survey which was published in a recent issue of the American Journal of Science.

The article is titled "The Occurrence of Chrysoberyl at Greenfield, N.Y." and deals with the rediscovery of the rare mineral near Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Players Announce New Year's Plays

Penn State Players have announced productions to be presented at Schwab Auditorium and Center Stage during 1951-52.

The four plays to be presented in Schwab Auditorium are "Our Town" by Thornton Wilder, "She Stoops to Conquer" by Oliver Goldsmith, "You Can't Take It With You" by Kaufman and Hart, and "The Heiress" by Ruth and Augustus Goetz.

To be presented at Center Stage, located at the corner of Hamilton avenue and South Allen street, are "Great Big Door Step" by Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett, "Tartuffe" by Moliere, "Hedda Gabler" by Hendrick Ibsen, and "Biography" by S. N. Behrman.