Radio Station, MacIntire Fund Get Senior Gift

The senior class gift fund will be used to put a campus radio station into effect and for a Donald MacIntire Memorial Scholarship Fund, John Erickson, senior class president, announced at the Senior Ball last night.

About $6000 will be given to the campus radio station committee which is scheduled to have the station in operation by next fall.

The broadcast will be transmitted to campus buildings by the

Carnival Nets Profits Despite Rain

Despite inclement weather the 1951 Spring Carnival may net higher profits than either previous carnival.

Although the exact tally of tickets has not been completed, members of the committee said that all refreshment booths were sold out and that the ferris wheel brought in additional profits over the previous year.

The committee was unable to release the names of the winning booths because several booths had not reported their official earnings.

David Schmuckler, chairman of publicity, said yesterday that he expected both gross and net profits to be higher than last year.

Last year's carnival netted nearly $800 for the Campus Chest, and the first carnival, in 1949, earned approximately $500 for the World Student Welfare Fund.

Joseph Lindsay, sponsored by Kappa Sigma fraternity, was the winner of the Alpha Phi Omega "Ugly Man" contest. He was presented with a plaque and "Ugly Man" key at intermission of the Senior Ball last night.

Almost 22,000 tickets were sold last year grossing $2,118.48.

Proceeds from this year's carnival will be used to establish a Student Loan fund under direction of All-College cabinet.

A special 30-minute radio show will be broadcast from the Corner Room this morning by the Spring Week committee. David Schmuckler and Peter Axford will interview students on the activities of the week. Arnold Taylor's orchestra and the "Four Flats and a Sharp" will provide music for the program.

Marine Reserve Applicants For OCS Due By May 26

Applicants for enlistment in the U. S. Marine Corps Reserve for assignment to the Officers Candidate course should apply before May 26, to 206 Engineering E, Lt. Col. Foley, USMC, associate professor of naval science, said yesterday.

The training of personnel enrolled in this officer candidates program will consist of two training periods; officer candidate training and basic officer training, he explained.

General requirements are as follows:

1. The student must be a citizen of the U. S. with a good standing as a regularly enrolled senior, or have a four-year baccalaureate degree.
2. He must be 20 years of age on date of enlistment and not more than 27 years of age on July 1, 1951.
3. He must not be a member of any state, federal, naval or military organization, including formal obligations to or enlistments in Army, Air Force or Naval ROTC.

Other specific requirements and information concerning details are available in 206 Engineering E, where applications are available, he said.

power lines. Off-campus living places can have special wires run into their houses to pick up the signal.

The station will provide vocational opportunities for students in radio and speech work.

The remaining $2000 will be used for a scholarship fund which will be invested to accrue interest for 20 years, when the College will give scholarships to the children of members of the class of 1951 with the highest averages and the most need. After 1991, the recipient will not need to be a child of a '51 graduate.

The fund will be a memorial to Donald MacIntire, senior in journalism, who was killed in an automobile accident Sunday. MacIntire was president of Delta Sigma Phi fraternity, advertising director of Froth, and art editor of Inking.

Seniors voted for their class gift by preferential ballot earlier this month. The radio station was first from the first ballot. The gridiron statue picked up second and third place votes to finish second. The ambulance was third.

The senior class gift committee of Otto Grupp, chairman, William Barr, Jo Ann Esterly, and Joseph Lenchner chose the seven best gift suggestions which also included a gateway project, scholarship fund, a student press, and a grand piano.

Osborn Will Address Iron, Steel Institute

Dr. E. F. Osborn, professor of geochemistry and head of the department of earth sciences, will discuss "Fundamental Investigation of Steel Plant Refractories Problems" at a general meeting of the American Iron and Steel Institute, in New York, N.Y. on Wednesday.

WD Charge Unfounded, Says Galati

Joseph Galati, West Dorm Council parliamentarian, issued a statement yesterday regarding an editorial which appeared in Thursday's Collegian.

The editorial charged that Galati was involved in a scheme "to discredit and undermine AIM." It also said that "there is good reason to believe that the plot is supported and was even initiated by a group of resident advisers in the area."

Galati's statement follows: "This is to clear up the point in Thursday's Collegian concerning the advisers from the Dean of Men's office. I have never received any information concerning the topic charged against them and have not even conferred with the advisers from that office."

"I want it completely understood that the West Dorm advisers and anyone connected with them are completely innocent of the charge that they initiated a plan to secede from the AIM for the West Dorm area, or even participated in the charge."

"I agree with the Collegian that the advisers' job is to advise and not to meddle in student government affairs; and that is all to my knowledge that they have been doing."

Spanish, French Clubs Hold Picnic Tomorrow

The Spanish and French Clubs will hold their annual picnic tomorrow at Black Moshannon.

The cars will leave the parking lot behind Old Main at 1:30 p.m. To make reservations call Alice Doles, 27 Atherton or Toni Seitz, 350 McElwain.

Approximately one upperclassman for every three freshman will be assigned to the West Dormitories under a complete change in the method by which men are to be given dormitory rooms, it was announced yesterday.

The same one-to-three ratio will be in effect in the Nittany Dormitory area as well.

The new plan includes a priority system by which upperclassmen will be chosen for residence in the West Dorm area.

College officials said assignments for upperclassmen desiring to live in dormitories will be made by a committee composed of students and administrative officers. The members of the committee will be announced early next week.

There are approximately 1000 freshmen and 600 upperclassmen in the West Dorm area now.

Priorities

After basic priority policies have been established by the committee, applicants will, in general, be given priority depending on the day and hour that the application is filed.

Under the new policy, which will go into effect immediately, men students now living in College dormitories will be furnished an application form early next week which they may use to request a room reservation for the fall. The forms will be issued through the dormitory post office system.

Students not living in the dormitories, but who are now at the College, will be able to procure their applications from the department of housing, 108 Old Main.

File Request

Officials said the plan, which requires an applicant to file his initial request through the department of housing, was adopted "to facilitate the initial assignment; to consolidate the business procedures involved; and to enable the dean of men's staff to devote its entire time to the counseling program."

Air Corps, ROTC Units To Parade

More than 2500 Army, Navy, and Air Force ROTC students at the College and 750 men enrolled in the Air Force school for clerk-typists on the campus will parade at 2 p.m. today with community organizations as State College marks Armed Forces Day.

The parade will consist of five divisions with each Armed Service being represented. The Marines will be represented by the Marine flag and a group of Naval ROTC cadets. Lt. Col. Foley, associate professor of naval science, will be the officer in command.

A large crowd is expected to witness the second Armed Forces Day to be observed throughout the country.

Armory Dedication

Following the parade, the dedication of the new armory of the 112th Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron, Pennsylvania Air National Guard will take place, as will series of films, demonstrations, exhibits, and window displays by the Army, Navy, and Air Force Departments.

Equipment which will be exhibited by the 112th Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron will be located near the Armory. A radio transmitter and receiver, through which the local squadron can keep in contact with other squadrons and also higher headquarters, is included in the exhibit.

Two other features of the display are three types of vehicles employed by the squadron and a radar set on which the Air Force and Navy planes that will fly (continued on page eight)

Carnival Patrons Vote Lindsay As Ugliest Man On Campus

By LYNN KAHANOWITZ

Joe Lindsay is the ugliest man on campus. So said the posters and so said carnival goers Thursday night as they voted Joseph Lindsay the Alpha Phi Omega ugly man.

Five feet, nine inches tall with brown hair and hazel eyes, Lindsay attended a Kappa Sigma fraternity house meeting after lunch of the day a letter was received from Alpha Phi Omega requesting a contest for the ugly man contest.

Someone said, "I nominate Joe Lindsay." Another brother seconded the nomination. Then nominations were closed. Lindsay okayed the idea, "after all, it's for the house."

And the house backed him. They distributed posters and chanted "Joe Lindsay, ugly man" at the Spring Week parade. Brothers Joseph Simone, Roger Clinton, and Walter Conti, president of Kappa Sigma, were his campaign managers.

Henry Lozar served as make-up man for the picture which frightened children. Lindsay's teeth were blackened, his nose covered with putty, and his eyelids turned up for the photograph.

Lindsay has found that being

ugly man isn't as bad as he thought. Professors and classmates have kidded him, fraternity brothers woke him up in the wee hours yesterday morning to make a speech, but worst of all he missed seeing his fiancée, a school teacher in Midland, Pa., last night because he had to receive a plaque and medal at the Senior Ball. "I don't know whether or not this is an honor," the senior in metallurgy said. Lindsay is a member of the American Society for Metals and vice-president of his fraternity. He transferred to the College in his junior year from Denison University, Granville, Ohio.

22 Are Chosen Cheerleaders

Twenty-two students, ten of them coeds, were chosen Thursday evening for next year's cheerleading squad, Harold R. Gilbert, graduate manager of athletics announced yesterday.

Thomas Hanna was selected as head cheerleader.

Sophomores on the squad are Richard Altman, Florentino Ferraco, Rose Ann Monack, Donald Pripstein, Ann Quigley, Louise Robertson, Audrey Shultz, and Bruce Wagner.

A committee of five selected the team from 64 students who competed in front of Old Main. On the committee were Carl P. Schott, dean of the School of Physical Education; Hummel Fishburn, head of the Department of Music; Gene Wettstone, gymnastic coach; Rudolph Valentino, ex-head cheerleader; and Gilbert.
