

Freshman Southpaw Hurls No-Hit Game

Attention Joe Bedenk: A Penn State freshman, Sam Curtis, hurled a near perfect game last Sunday in leading his Sterling, Pa. mates to a 14-0 no-hit victory over Maple Lake in the Pocono Mountain Association, a north-eastern Pennsylvania amateur league.

The young southpaw allowed only one man to reach first base. He was hit by a pitched ball with none out in the first inning. Curtis then went on to retire 21 batters in order, striking out 19 over the distance.

Curtis, not content with merely pitching a terrific game, collected five hits in six trips to the plate.

He is a graduate of Newfoundland High School, and last year attracted attention when he struck out 18 men in a single game.

Bernie Custis, a thorn in the side of Syracuse football opposition for the past three years, called the wrong signals on three parking tickets this week and was fined $30.

The brilliant quarterback from Philadelphia was taken into custody on a warrant charging him with illegal parking on a sidewalk. Police discovered he had also fumbled two other tickets for illegal parking.

Hal Newell, the new voice of television for the Cleveland Indians home games, is a 1937 Penn State grad. He has broadcast football, baseball, and hockey... Reports have Lafayette baseball coach, Charles Gilbert in line for an announcing job in St. Louis where he would succeed the late Gabby Street... Sign of the Times: A pair of Boston U. sororities, Sigma Kappa and Pi Phi, disgusted with the "effeminate play" of Buff Donelli's boys donned full football regalia and fought it out in the first annual "Powder Puff" bowl... More Football Dope: Pitt's varsity didn't impress anyone in their final spring scrimmage with the old-timers. One old-timer was heard saying, "If that's Pitt's varsity, I pity them next fall."

Wayne Benson, a shifty 170-pound fullback earned Michigan State's "most valuable player" award after the Spartan's Green-White intrasquad game. Benson, a reserve right halfback last fall switched to the fullback spot this spring.

Lion Golfers Host Colgate Team Today

The Penn State golf team will meet Colgate this afternoon at 1 o'clock on the College golf course. The State team played an informal match yesterday with a team representing the Centre Hills country club to sharpen up for today's play.

The Red Raiders will be led by Bob McCall who last year won second place honors in the National Collegiate championships.

Captain Joe Durniak will lead State's forces. Although he has lost his last two matches, he may be ripe for a rebound into the win column. Bob Bowers, who has played in three matches has the only unmarred record. He will be out for his fourth straight victory. In the match against Bucknell he copped medalist honors with a 73. The other five men who will play today are Ted Robertson, Hud Samson, Ray Artz, Bob Kunkle, and Marv Goldenberg.

The State team will enter the match carrying a 4-3 record, two of the losses coming from Georgetown and one from Navy. On Saturday, June 2, the team will end its season against Pittsburgh. The Panthers can boast a victory over Navy.

Colgate Netters Here Sat.; Landon Hurt

The Penn State tennis team's chances of bettering last year's record and avenging last week's 9-0 setback have been dimmed somewhat with the possibility that Captain Owen Landon may not play against Colgate tomorrow.

The Nittany captain, who has been bothered with a bad back since the beginning of the season, aggravated an old ankle injury against the Red Raiders in Hamilton, N. Y., last week, and hasn't been able to practice.

May Still Play

However, if the ankle responds to treatment, Landon may still play in tomorrow's match.

The Foggmen only need to win one more tilt to better last year's 8-3-1 slate, their log to date being 8-3.

Paced by their captain, Bill Lust, the Rockefellermen have six seasoned players in their starting role, four of whom played on the varsity, and the remaining two having gained their experience on the frosh outfit.

Veterans

The list of veteran performers include Dick Millar, Bob Barker, Stew Bicknell, and Ed Stern. The two sophomores are No. 2 man, Len Bishop, finalist in the National Junior net championships last year, and Bob Miller.

PiKA Wins IFC Bowling League

Pi Kappa Alpha won the IFC bowling championship by defeating Delta Chi at the Dux Club alleys Wednesday night.

The League A champs defeated Delta Chi, winner in League B, by 106 pins.

The PiKA's entered the finals by defeating Lambda Chi Alpha last week for the second half championship. Delta Chi copped the first half title by beating PiKA earlier in the season.

The winning team was composed of Sam Harshberger, Perry Rothenberger, Tom Karolcik, Harry Rintz, and Art Oberg.

Penn State's four-mile victory in the Penn Relays was its fourth in five years. The time—17:22.6—was the best in Penn State history, the fourth best in American history.
