ar, and statesman, Schuschnigg was chancellor of his native Austria when Hitler's hordes took over in March of 1938. Taken prisoner, the World War I artillery lieutenant and later barrister at Innsbruck, was kept in solitary confinement until liberation by the American 5th Army.

Twice elected to the Vienna Parliament, in 1932 Schuschnigg was appointed Minister of Justice. Following the assassination of Chancellor Dollfuss in 1934, Schuschnigg succeeded to the highest position in the land.

Author of "My Austria," and "Austrian Requiem," Schuschnigg was received enthusiastically on his first lecture tour of this country in 1947.

The third speaker, Dr. Bell, is the author of 18 books, most important among them being "Beyond Agnosticism," "God Is Not Dead," and "Crisis in Education." Lecturer's Bell's main interest field is religion, which he treats tolerantly and with a non-sectarian attitude.

Senior chaplain at the Great Lakes Naval Training School during World War I, Bell became head of the St. Stephen's College, Columbia University at the age of 33.

ment, which works in close relationship with Players' productions, is Prof. A. C. Cloetingh.

Betty Lou Morgan is president of Players. Carrol Chapman is president of Thespians.

Scheduled for the 1951-52 Players' season are "Our Town," "The Heiress," "You Can't Take It With You," and "She Stoops to Conquer," at Schwab Auditorium, and "The Great Big Doorstep," "Hedda Gabler," "Biography," and "Tartuffe," at Center Stage.

Center Stage is Penn State's arena theater, or theater-in-the-round, one of the first of its kind in operation in the East. It differs from the ordinary proscenium staging in that the audience sits on all four sides of the playing area, close enough to reach out and touch the performers. Greater intimacy is thus achieved between actors and spectators.

Besides the regular productions, each year experimental works and class projects are presented before the public by dramatics classes and smaller dramatics units. An example is Five O'Clock Theatre, which usually functions during the spring semester, presenting script-in-hand productions of short student-written one-act plays each Tuesday at 5 p.m. in the Little Theatre, 11 Old Main.

be accepted at the Student Union Desk.

A poetry magazine Pivot was started last year.

Published monthly by the students of the School of Engineering, the Penn State Engineer is rated high among collegiate technical publications. Promotion is similar to other publications.

The Penn State Farmer features technical articles concerning agriculture.

Who's in the News at Penn State is a directory of campus "wheels." Published by Sigma Delta Chi and Theta Sigma Phi, professional journalistic fraternities, it honors deserving students and provides a service for employers and newspapers.

The Interfraternity Council and the Association of Independent Men and Leonides publish bi-weekly newsletters. Different school councils also publish newsletters. They present news and features of special interest to their groups.

The Student Handbook this year was published by the student government. Innovations include a copy of undergraduate regulations and the All-College constitution. Often referred to as the freshman bible, it includes customs, songs and cheers.

wad Auditorium is the place for the tryouts.

There are seven parts open for women and five for men in the "Doorstep."

Anyone is eligible for the tryouts for the play which will begin a six-week run at Center Stage on October 12.

The play is directed by Mesrop Kesdekian and the script, which can be had for practice reading in the Green Room, was written by the Frances Goodrich-Albert Hackett comedy team.

Appointments for tryouts can be made by contacting Jean Martin, secretary of the department of dramatics, in the Green Room.

Alumni Elect New Officers, Three Trustees

New officers and three new trustees were elected by the Penn State Alumni Association during the summer months.

New president of the association is George A. Doyle, '17, assistant vice president of the Bell Telephone Co. Other officers for the 1951-52 term include John T. Ryan Jr., '34, first vice president; Clarence G. Stoll, '03, second vice president; and Miss E. Helen Williams, '23, third vice president.

The newly elected trustees are Clarence G. Stoll, Gloucester, Va.; Mrs. Ethel Sparks Sparks, Reverton, N.J.; and Ben C. Jones, Pittsburgh. Another new trustee, Albert J. Nesbitt, Holmesberg, was elected to the board of delegates from state agricultural and industrial societies.

Charles E. Oaks, Allentown, was named to fill the vacancy resulting from the death on Dec. 1, 1950 of William S. Tiffany, Harrisburg. Roger W. Rowland, New Castle, was appointed to fill the unexpired term of D. Norris Benedict, Waynesboro. William K. Ulerich, Clearfield, was appointed by Governor John S. Fine to fill the post that had been held by Rowland, who had previously been serving on the board under the governor's appointment.

Beginning Russian Open To Faculty, Graduates

A special section in Beginning Russian, which is designed for faculty members and graduate students, will be offered this semester, Dr. Philip A. Shelley, head of the German department, said yesterday.

There will be a preliminary meeting for those who are interested in the course in 227 Sparks at 4 p.m. Monday. At that time, a class hour convenient to all desiring to enroll will be chosen.

PSCA Cabinet Sets Retreat at Lodge

Members of the Penn State Christian Association cabinet will hold a retreat at Watts Lodge tonight and tomorrow to plan their program for the coming year. Cars will leave from the rear of Old Main at 3 p.m. today.

This afternoon in a general assembly, cabinet members will give suggestions for the year's program. After supper, the group will discuss program emphasis, a program prospectus and program calendar for the year.

Tomorrow morning the group will break up into committees to make committee plans and report these plans at a general assembly of the group at 10 a.m.

Final changes after dinner will be made, and the cabinet will finish and evaluate its program.

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil and Made Big Saving on 2-in-1 Sale

Sheedy-er-Sheedy, was in ba-a-adshape—everybody lamb-basted him about his messy hair! "You'll get no sheepskin," the Dean said. "Somebody's pulled the wool over your eyes. Better comb it ba-a-ack with Wildroot Cream-Oil!" Then Paul heard about a special Wildroot 2-in-1 bargain: 2 regular 29¢ bottles, a 58¢ value, for only 39¢—the sheepest price ever!

(Non-alcoholic Wildroot contains Lanolin. Relieves dryness. Removes loose dandruff. Helps you pass the finger-nail test.) Now Sheedy has more girls than the Sheep of Araby!

Get this ba-a-again at any drug or toilet goods counter today! You won't get fleeced.
