

Plans for IFC Workshop Highlights First Meeting

A committee report of the Interfraternity Council Workshop and committee appointments highlighted the first meeting of the IFC this year.

The program of the IFC Workshop, to be held from Oct. 31 to Nov. 3, was given to fraternity officers at last night's meeting by co-chairmen Jerome Gibson and James Wharton.

The schedule of planned events will begin with dinners to be held at eight fraternity houses Wednesday evening, Oct. 31. Each dinner will include members of one of the eight discussion groups organized to talk over the problems confronting the fraternities.

The eight discussion groups are: (1) chapter administration, (2) finance, (3) social activities, (4) scholarship, (5) house maintenance, (6) pledge training, (7) rushing, and (8) public relations.

Thursday and Friday have been set aside for meetings of these discussion groups. The talks will last about two hours each and will be terminated Saturday when the committees give their final reports. The finale to the Workshop Week will be the annual IFC-AFC Fall banquet.

Wharton told the fraternity men that the mechanics of the Workshop Week have been smoothed out to good working order and that the speakers have been lined up.

Appointments to the committees of the Council were made by president Stanley Wengert.

To the Board of Controls the appointments were: Edward Shihadeh, chairman, Thomas Hanna, Donald Carlson, Wally Kreiger, John Vasilakis, Fred Rodgers, James Phillips, and Wes Mengel.

Home Coming Theme Committee appointments were: Kendall Tomlinson, chairman, David Grey, Frederick Houston, and Joseph Browne.

Fireside committee appointments were: Benjamin Williams, chairman, Luke Strait, and Stanley Silberman.

Murray Goldman was appointed to take charge of Faculty-Student tea committee, and Bill Slepik was appointed to the Chapel Flower Committee.

Chairman of the Campus Chest committee, Bill Klisanin, announced that he wished to have a list of all of the members of each fraternity house by noon Friday. He said that this is necessary for the coming Chest drive, scheduled to begin around Oct. 27.

A plan for individual fraternities to provide the flowers for the Chapel each Sunday was approved at the meeting. The period to be covered is 32 weeks with each house taking turns each week. Council member, Bill Slepik will work with Luther Harshbarger, College chaplain, to plan the schedule for each fraternity.

Wengert read to the Council a list of the men moving from the dorms into the fraternities. He listed 19 students and told the members to remind these men to register in 108 Old Main.

The three officers of the IFC were given the go-ahead by the Council to make the trip to the annual convention of the National Interfraternity Councils held in the last week of November at Old Point Comfort, Va.

Students Hit Lightly By New Draft Laws

College students may again breath a sigh of relief as far as the draft is concerned.

Only recently the proposal was made to draft childless married men, but according to Daniel Omer, general counsel for Selective Service, as long as college students maintain "good enough marks" they can expect to continue their studies, regardless of marital status.

On August 17 it was announced in Washington that Selective Service expected to draft some 520,000 men through this year and some 300,000 more in 1952. Selective Service at that time stated that if college students failed to maintain satisfactory grades or failed the college deferment test they would be subject to draft after their induction had been postponed once under statutory provisions. According to that statement, students who had been deferred last year could not expect another delay.

Scarcest Commodity Under present provisions, which are subject to change at any time, college students are given a break. Present plans call for larger draft calls and fewer deferments among non-college men.

Selective Service officials have reported that "military manpower is the scarcest wartime commodity in America." It has been reported that some 80,000 men are turning 18 years of age each month. The draft call for October is 46,000 men, the highest since last spring.

On Aug. 23 plans were announced to revise the present Armed Forces Qualification Tests in order to call up about 249,684 men who had failed. At that time it was said that 35.1 per cent of the men called for induction had failed. The World War II rejection rate for the same age group was 22.7 per cent. The AFQT tests alone accounted for 15.2 per cent of the present rejections.

The chances that a draftee might be placed in the Marine Corps has increased over the summer. On July 30 it was announced that a small percentage of draftees would be placed in the Marines in order to soften the loss of Marine reservists whose terms had run out. It was added that Marine enlistments had lagged far behind the needed figures.

Several draft boards throughout the state have been reclassifying their childless married men to 3-A deferred, but others, with fewer men, have been placing them in the 1-A group. Many boards have been abiding by the request to defer college students who passed the Selective Service test given last spring.

Police to Halt Rising Traffic Rule Violations

The State College police department has been instructed to bear down on traffic violations, which have been on the increase since the opening of the fall semester at the College.

Burgess E. K. Hibshman warned motorists against driving too fast for conditions, particularly in crowded sections of the borough. He suggested that pedestrians also be careful in these areas.

Driving on one-way streets against traffic, failure to obey stop signs and traffic lights, reckless driving, and improper parking are also direct traffic violations, Hibshman said.

The Burgess reminded bicycle owners that they must abide by the laws of the borough and that all bicycles must be properly registered with the police department and bear a light while being ridden at night.

The police department, Burgess Hibshman said, has no quota as to the number of arrests or fines, but it is more interested in the reduction of accidents and injury. Persons apprehended as persistent violators, in addition to being fined, will be cited for the purpose of having their licenses suspended.

112th Occupies New Armory

Members of the 112th Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron are now busy moving administrative, radio, and radar equipment into the unit's new armory layout behind the College's campus. The outfit is scheduled to be mobilized into federal service Dec. 1.

Students at the College who are members of the unit will be affected by the activation.

Carpentry work is now going on in the large, one-story administration building. This building also houses locker rooms for the airmen and officers and a large room for recreation and training.

Similar work is being done in the motor detail building and in the supply warehouse and ammunition storage building.

The 112th will use the armory Sunday for a special drill. Beginning Oct. 1, part of an activated advance detail will be stationed full-time at the armory until the entire squadron is taken over by the Air Force.

First Ag Hill Breeze Comes Out Today

The first issue of the Ag Hill Breeze this semester will appear today, William Griffith, editor, announced yesterday.

Griffith also said that the Breeze will continue to come out on Thursdays throughout the semester.

Ag students may pick up their Breeze at any of the distribution points on Ag Hill and at the Student Union desk.

A course in "Enriching the Later Years" has been developed by the College for the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs.
