Cabinet Opposes Loyalty Bill

Committees Give Reports To Cabinet

All-College Cabinet last night heard reports from four standing committees and from President James Worth and Secretary-treasurer Thomas Jurchak.

Robert Amole, head of the Memorial Day committee reported on last year's observance of the holiday. He advocated that the same observance be followed in future years to ensure conformity.

The past year's observance included participation by a rifle squad and bugler from the Pershing Rifles and the placement of three wreaths—at the grave of former president Atherton, at the memorial for two Penn State athletes killed during World War II, and at the Student Employment Office.

Five Recommendations

Harry Cover, head of the orientation co-ordination committee, presented five recommendations adopted by cabinet.

They were that:

1. The chairman be appointed earlier in the year.

2. The chairman keep in close contact with the Dean of Men.

3. The Dean of Men's night be closer to the end of the week.

4. Cabinet recommend some better system of counseling the new students.

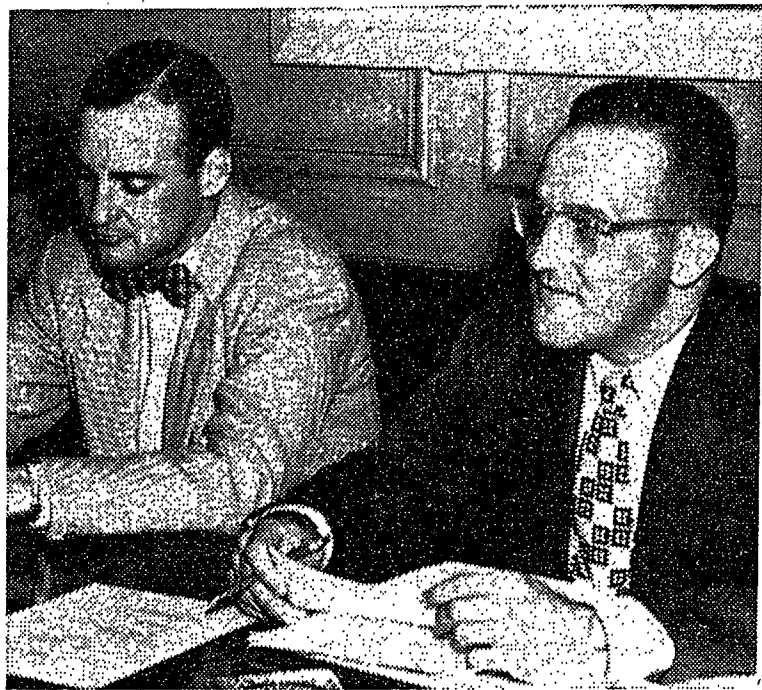

5. A new system of selecting the orientation counseling committee be adopted.

An amendment was added from the floor suggesting that the first night of Orientation Week be set aside for the President's Convocation.

Eisenhower, Engle To Speak at Rally

By BOB FRASER

President Milton S. Eisenhower and head football Coach Charles "Rip" Engle will speak at the pre-Boston University football game rally at the Lion Shrine next Friday, it was announced yesterday.

Last night All-College Cabinet approved plans for the "Kickoff Dance" program sponsored by the Campus Chest. The vote was 21 to 2.

The two opposing votes were cast by Marilyn Williams, Women's Recreation Association president, and Marilyn Levitt, Panhellenic Council president.

They opposed on the grounds that a Women's Student Government Association dance had to be canceled. They asked for more cooperation from cabinet members.

Robert Fitzpatrick, acting cabinet parliamentarian, recommended that William Klisanin, Campus Chest chairman, make out a list of Chest activities on a semester basis. The move would enable cabinet to make a blanket approval of the Chest activities, he said.

Tickets for the "Kickoff Dance" went on sale yesterday at the Student Union desk in Old Main and through most of the hat societies. The price of admission is 50 cents per person.

The Blue Band, in its first appearance of the year, will lead the pre-rally parade to the Lion Shrine. Campus Chest, in its first money-making attempt of the year, will receive the profits from the dance.

Jobs, Applicants Plentiful — Reece

An unusually heavy number of jobs and applicants has been recorded at the Student Employment Bureau, according to Alan M. Reece, supervisor.

The Student News Agency, employing about 15 students will begin to deliver New York, Philadelphia, and Pittsburgh Sunday newspapers this week. Daily papers will also be on sale at the West Dorm post office, Nittany dining rooms, and the TUB. Shirley Smith, interviewer at the employment bureau, requested all students to bring in their class schedules when completing application forms.

Resolution Against Oath Approved by 17-0 Margin

By JIM GROMILLER

A resolution voicing student opposition to the widely publicized Pechan loyalty oath bill now pending in the state legislature was approved by All-College Cabinet last night. The vote was 17-0 with six abstentions.

Cabinet also voted to send copies of today's Daily Collegian containing the official text of the resolution to all members of the General Assembly.

Faith in Trustees

The text of the resolution was prepared by All-College President James Worth, All-College Vice President Harry Cover, and All-College Secretary-Treasurer Thomas Jurchak in cooperation with the National Student Association.

The resolution expressed faith in the loyalty of the College Board of Trustees, administration and faculty, and expressed cabinet's satisfaction that there is no subversive person on the faculty of Penn State.

The Pechan bill, which would require state employees and school teachers to take loyalty oaths, passed the state Senate last spring and was approved in amended form by the House committee on state government Tuesday.

Talking Rules To Be Enforced

Stricter enforcement of non-fraternization of freshman men and women will go into effect as of today, Ray Evert, Tribunal secretary, announced yesterday.

Evert requested all upperclassmen to refrain from making freshmen sing and cheer during study hours in dormitory areas. Study hours are from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. the following day.

Cheering and singing in classroom buildings is also strictly prohibited.

Dress customs will go off at 12 midnight Saturday until 7 a.m. the following Monday, not as previously reported in the Collegian. Dating customs will still be in effect at this time, he said.

All violators of customs will be sternly dealt with, he added.

Hatmen Plague Frosh

By DAVE JONES

Penn State's freshmen were put through their paces yesterday as some 150 black hats returned to campus to aid in the enforcement of freshmen customs.

Hatmen appeared early yesterday morning on campus to plague the frosh, who spent much of their time ducking hatmen and singing songs on the east side of the Mall.

Groups of both freshman women and men were seen singing together as upperclasswomen seemed to overcome the reluctance to enforce customs they had exhibited earlier in the week.

Despite instructions to freshman women to wear their name cards on the front, several women are still not complying with the new ruling.

Women Violate Rules

Several frosh seemed to have the mistaken idea that now only hatmen may enforce customs. Others said they felt the hatmen were "really on the ball."

Members of Parmi Nous and Skull and Bones, men's senior hat societies, checked frosh in the Nittany dining hall at noon yesterday for handbooks and name cards.

Enforcement Stricter

Blue Key and Androcles, men's junior hat societies, checked for handbooks and namecards in the West Dorm dining hall at the same time.

Enforcement of customs has now become more strict, according to hatmen, since the frosh have had a chance to familiarize themselves with the program.

Penalties were given frosh violators for the first time this year at Tribunal Wednesday night. More violators will appear before Tribunal next week to have their cases heard.

C. O. Williams Receives Dean, Registrar Posts

Dr. C. O. Williams, assistant dean of admissions and examiner of the College, has been named Dean of Admissions and Registrar, President Milton S. Eisenhower announced yesterday.

The executive committee of the board of trustees approved the appointment Tuesday. Dr. Williams succeeds Royal M. Gerhardt, who retired because of ill health.

Dean Williams has served on the faculty for fifteen years. He has held the positions of assistant professor of education, associate professor of education, professor of education, and director of education extension. On March 1, 1949, he became College Examiner and Assistant Dean of Admissions.

Leave of Absence

From 1938 to 1940, Dean Williams had a leave of absence to serve as assistant director of teacher education and certification with the state Department of Public Instruction at Harrisburg. For the next six years he served as assistant director of the lower division at the College, and from 1937 to 1949, was director of Education Placement. He has also served as visiting professor of education at the University of Missouri and at the University of Miami.

Dean Williams is a life member of the National Education Association and of the Pennsylvania State Education Association. He served as an elected member of the legislative committee from 1943 to 1948 and since 1946 has served as a member of the National Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards of the NEA. He is also active in numerous professional organizations, among them Phi Delta Kappa, Kappa
