

Waynick and English Receive Promotions

EE Head

Dr. A. H. Waynick

Dr. Arthur H. Waynick, professor of electrical engineering, has been named head of the Department of Electrical Engineering, and Dr. F. F. English, professor of wild life management, has been named acting head of the Department of Zoology and Entomology.

The appointments, announced yesterday by President Milton S. Eisenhower, were approved at the Tuesday meeting of the executive committee of the board of trustees.

Dr. Waynick replaces Dr. Eric A. Walker, who became dean of the School of Engineering, September 1. Dr. English fills the vacancy created by the retirement of Dr. Edward H. Dusham August 31.

A native of Spokane, Wash., Dr. Waynick, received his bachelor of science and master of science degrees in physics at Wayne University. After studying at Cambridge University, he completed work on his doctor of science degree in communication engineering at Harvard University.

After teaching at Wayne, Cambridge, and Harvard Universities, Dr. Waynick joined the Penn State faculty in 1945 as professor of engineering research in the Ordinance Research Laboratory. Later he transferred to the Department of Electrical Engineering. When the board of trustees approved the establishment of the Ionosphere Research Laboratory last year, he was named director.

Dr. Waynick has become internationally known in the field of ionosphere research. Earlier this year, the American section of the

Eisenhower Reveals Terms Of Gerth Fund

President Milton S. Eisenhower announced yesterday the terms under which the Charles R. Gerth scholarship will be allocated to juniors and seniors in the curriculum of agriculture and biological chemistry.

The scholarships, approved by the board of trustees, will be supported by income from a bequest of $12,720 made by the late Charles R. Gerth, of Wilton, Conn.

The scholarship will be awarded annually. Each student receiving the award will get half of the amount at the beginning of the fall semester and the second half at the opening of the spring semester.

Need, scholarship, character, and leadership will be the basis on which the awards will be made. A committee of advisers in the Department of Agriculture and Biological Chemistry will recommend candidates to the committee on academic standards. The committee will recommend approval to the faculty of the school, and upon approval of the faculty and the director of resident instruction in the school, the scholarships shall be awarded.

Gerth received a bachelor of science degree at Penn State in 1914. He was affiliated with the Tidewater Oil Co. as a European representative for many years. He lived in Hamburg, Germany, but returned to this country, retiring prior to World War II.

Mills Reappointed Independent Editor

Moylan Mills, last year's editor of the Independent, has been reappointed for this semester.

Other staff members reappointed from last year are Robert Schooley, circulation manager; Gerry Kassab, women's editor; Robert Vosburg, sports editor; Lee Stern, feature editor; Andrew McNeillie, photographic editor; and John Sheppard, sports staff.

Robert Fraser, Lix Newell, and Charles Mathias have been added to the staff. The Independent is a bi-weekly newsletter published jointly by the Association of Independent Men and Leonides. Mills said the first issue will appear in several weeks.

Sigma Delta Chi

Sigma Delta Chi, men's journalism honorary, will hold its first meeting of the semester at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Carnegie Hall, Moylan Mills, president, announced yesterday.

Fall initiation and plans for the semester's activities will be discussed.

Churches Hold Open House

Seven local churches, Hillel Foundation, and the Penn State Fellowship will hold receptions tonight for students at the College.

Freshman women will have special 10 o'clock permissions to attend these programs and receptions. They are all open to all students on campus.

Beginning at 7:30 tonight in church social rooms and gyms, the receptions will give students a chance to become better acquainted with pastors, local church members, and other students of their own faith. Reception programs will include square dancing, singing, entertainment, and refreshments.

Churches holding receptions are St. Paul's Methodist Church, E. College avenue and MacAllister street; First Presbyterian Church, W. Beaver avenue and Frazier street; Grace Lutheran Church, W. College avenue; Faith Evangelical and Reformed Church, E. College avenue and Miles street; University Baptist Church, W. Nittany avenue and Burrows street; St. Andrews Episcopal Church, 300 S. Frazier street; and Grace Evangelical United Brethren Church, W. Beaver avenue and Burrows street.

The Hillel Foundation, 133 W. Beaver avenue, will hold Sabbath Eve services at 8 tonight, with a reception afterwards.

The Penn State Bible Fellowship will meet at 7:30 tonight in 405 Old Main, with a reception afterwards.

18-Year-Olds Must Register for Draft

All men reaching the age of eighteen are required by law to register with Selective Service System on their birthday or within five days thereafter, according to a letter received from Selective Service Board No. 44 in Bellefonte.

Penn State students may register with Mrs. Sara Case in the Dean of Men's Office. They may also register at the office of Local Board No. 44, Room 13, Post Office Building, Bellefonte. Office hours are 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Matric Cards Required By Dining Halls

Mildred A. Baker, director of food service, reminded students yesterday that matriculation cards as well as meal tickets must be carried by students eating in the College dining halls.

The meal tickets, added Miss Baker, note that matriculation cards must be presented at the dining halls but the cards were not made available until this week.

Text of Resolution Passed by Cabinet

(The complete text of All-College Cabinet's resolution condemning the Pechan loyalty oath bill follows.)

The student All-College Cabinet of the Pennsylvania State College, representing the entire student body of 11,000 loyal American young people, on its own motion and without consultation with the trustees, administrators, or faculty members of the College, addresses this statement and plea to the legislature of the Commonwealth;

1. We believe that the distinguished trustees of the Pennsylvania State College, as well as the administrators and faculty members of the College, are completely loyal to the Constitution of the United States and to all the cardinal principles of our free society;

2. We know that the trustees and administrators of the College now have ample authority to remove from the staff any person who belongs to a subversive organization or who advocates the violent overthrow of our form of government, and we are positive that this authority would be quickly exercised should need arise;

3. We are satisfied that there is not now a subversive person

All Seniors Report For La Vie Pictures

Seniors apparently have misunderstood the article in Wednesday's Daily Collegian, James Geffert, editor of La Vie, announced yesterday.

He explained that both 7th and 8th semester seniors should report for their pictures to be taken in the allotted time for their schools.

Geffert said that as the deadline for each school passes, pictures are arranged, engravings are made, and pages are printed. Therefore it is impossible to alter the pages of a school after the deadline, he said.

Times allotted for each school are posted in the window of the Penn State Photo Shop and at various spots on campus.

Five at College To Be Retired

Five faculty members and other employees at the College have had their retirement plans approved by the Board of Trustees, President Milton S. Eisenhower has announced.

David B. Pugh, in charge of instruction for Central Extension, tops the list with 28 years of service and will retire Sept. 30, while Emma H. Eastman, assistant professor of home management extension, is next with 23 years of service and will retire Oct. 31.

Ella S. Marquebreck, stenographer in the School of Education, will retire Sept. 31 with 21 years of service. Mary V. Manning, clerk in the agricultural extension service, has been with the College for eight years, and will retire Sept. 23.

The head hostess of Simmons Hall, Anne B. Searle, has served the College for 14 years and has retired effective August 31.

Air Force Cadet Program Forum Topic

Details of the Air Force's pilot and navigator training programs will be discussed by Capt. Charles A. Herzog of the Altoona recruiting office at an open forum in the State College Elks Club at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 3.

The Centre County military manpower committee and the Army and Air Force recruiting services are sponsoring the forum to acquaint residents with the aviation cadet program.

Capt. Herzog will outline the requirements for pilots, navigators, and observers and will explain the system used to select them.

Men 20 to 26½ years old with a minimum of 60 college credits who are single and agree to remain so during their training are eligible for the cadet program. Salaries are $105 per month, with free insurance and uniforms.

Qualification for duty includes completion of a comprehensive written test and a physical and board examination to be given at an air base in Pennsylvania.

Upon successful completion of the cadet program the graduate serves for three years as a commissioned pilot, navigator or observer in the U.S. Air Force, with a guaranteed minimum monthly salary of $415.

Arrangements will be made at the meeting for personal interviews and aptitude testing of interested men.

Dry Cleaning Service Opens

The Student Dry Cleaning Agency, representing eight local dry cleaners and three laundries opened yesterday to bring complete services to students in their own living units.

Twenty-four students are employed in this enterprise to assure representatives in each of the dorms on campus. Services and prices are the same as those in the local stores, according to Guy Temple, manager of the student agency. Temple hopes all students will take advantage of these services, which are for their own convenience and also provide employment for fellow students.

Assistant managers are Barbara Benning in charge of women's dorms; Stanley Benning, West Dorm area; and Burton Johns, Nittany-Pollock Dorms. Local collecting stations are in Sally's room, Atherton; recreation room in Simmons, McElwain, and Thompson Halls; PUB, Nittany-Pollock Dorms; 1B storage room, Hamilton Hall; and 416 McAllister Hall. Agents for Women's Building and Grange will be posted on the bulletin boards.

Tryouts to be Held For Play at Schwab

Tryouts for the forthcoming Players' production of Thornton Wilder's "Our Town" will be held 7 p.m. Sunday and Monday in the Little Theater, 11 Old Main.

The play, directed by Robert Reifsnieder, will be the first Schwab Auditorium production of the season.

Those interested in trying out should arrange for an appointment by signing the sheet posted on the bulletin board in the Green Room on the second floor of Schwab Auditorium.
