Pledge Chalks Trail on Mall

William Rice, Lambda Chi Alpha pledge, has serviceable feet. And at 2 a.m. he likes to trace his 13½ shoes on the sidewalk with chalk.

That's how those chalked footprints got on the Mall yesterday and traveled two blocks up Allen street, two blocks left on Beaver avenue, three up on Pugh street, and left on Fairmont avenue four blocks to the Lambda Chi Alpha house.

It took the civil engineering students four and a half hours (2 a.m. to 6:30 a.m.) to complete a task inspired by the movie "Take Care of My Little Girl." He used two handfuls of chalk in completing the "feat."

Rice was told last night by brothers to look for a coke bottle in the middle of the girl's athletic field. The bottle had a note in it telling him to return to the house and find another such bottle under one of the beds.

This one told him to go to Schwab Auditorium and from there trace his footsteps back to the fraternity.

Rice was undergoing "hell week" which ended yesterday.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 23
THE AARDVARK

This classy campus caper-cutter got his snootful of cute cigarette tests. It didn't take him long to dig out the fact that cigarette mildness can't be determined by a mere single puff or quick-sniff experiment! Millions of smokers, on and off the campus, have discovered there's only one true test of cigarette mildness.

IT'S THE SENSIBLE TEST... the 30-day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke — on a day-after-day basis. No snap judgments. Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

After all the Mildness Tests —
