Penn State Bridge Club Meets in TUB Today

The Penn State Duplicate Bridge Club will hold its first weekly tournament today in the lounge of the Temporary Union Building. Playing will begin at 6:45 p.m.

Last year the group met every week, but no prizes were awarded to weekly winners. This year, if enough students turn out for the games, it hopes to be able to give away prizes.

Student adviser to the group is Prof. H. G. Barone of the Mathematics department.

Hillel Dance Group

A Jewish folk dance will meet at 7:30 tonight at the Hillel Foundation.

The program will include Israeli and Jewish folk dances. Mrs. Jane Shepperd will direct the group, which is open to all students and will meet weekly.

Allies Invite West Germany To Raise Army

BONN, Germany, Sept. 24—(AP)—The Allied High Commissioners today formally invited western Germany to raise an army for the West.

John J. McCloy for the United States, Britain's Sir Ivone Kirkpatrick and Andre Francois-Poncet of France met with Federal Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and informed him of their governments' decisions to accept western Germany as a full defense partner and to negotiate a peace contract ending the six-year Allied occupation.

The negotiations thus initiated may take weeks or months but are expected ultimately to add about 10 German divisions, or 250,000 men, to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's army.

The new agreements look to the ending of the occupation statute, the abolition of the Allied High Commission, and the granting of broad new powers to the western Germans.

Keenan Names 19 Senators Slated For Ousting

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor today named 19 senators to be marked for defeat next year if more friendly candidates oppose them.

The particular target candidates, described as "anti-labor incumbent senators," were named by Joseph D. Keenan, who is stepping out as director of the political league.

The recommendations were approved without opposition by a voice vote of the delegates. Keenan hailed the approval as committing the AFL to opposing the senators.

Pa. Supreme Court Revokes Vets' Points

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 24—(AP)—The Pennsylvania Supreme Court today ruled unconstitutional a 1945 state law which gives war veterans 10 extra points when they take civil service examinations for promotions.

The court said the 10 point veterans' preference granted by the same law in the case of original job appointments is constitutional and unchallenged.

The opinion was widely construed as placing in jeopardy civil service promotions won by uncounted workers throughout the state.

PSCA Schedules Trip to Capital

The Penn State Christian Association, in cooperation with the Departments of Education and Political Science, is planning a "Meet Your Government" tour of Washington D.C., Nov. 4, 5, and 6.

"These trips are planned each year so that students may have the opportunity to see their government in action," according to Andrew Jaros, chairman of the committee planning the tour.

Tentative plans have been made to visit the State Department, Congress, and the British embassy and interview Senator James Duff and James Van Zandt, representative of the 22nd Congressional district.

Students going on the tour may get excuses from classes for these days in the office of the Dean of Men, 109 Old Main, or the Dean of Women, 105 Old Main.

Students wishing to sign up for the trip may do so in the PSCA office, 304 Old Main or in the Political Science department office, 120 Sparks. The application fee of $5 is included in the total cost of the trip, $25, and will be returned if reservations for the trip are cancelled before Oct. 31.

Stewart Will Talk To Insurance Club

H. Stewart, chairman of the State Examination Commission of Insurance Agents, will address the Insurance Club at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Sigma Nu house.

He will speak to the group on "Opportunities in Insurance." The purpose of the club is to get students enrolled in the Economics and Commerce department interested in the field of insurance. Present at the meeting will be members of the insurance faculty to answer any questions by students interested in majoring in insurance.

This summer the club increased its membership by enlisting insurance salesmen attending here at the College.

The meeting is open to the public.

3 Poly Sci Profs Attend Meetings

Drs. John H. Ferguson, M. Nelson McGeary and Ruth C. Silva, all of the Department of Political Science, participated in the annual meetings of the American Political Science Association in San Francisco. Dr. McGeary presented a paper at the roundtable on congressional investigation. Dr. Silva analyzed the recent report of the American political science committee on political parties for the roundtable on the realignment of political parties.

Dr. McGeary also addressed a meeting of the Southern California Political Science Association.

Bar-Bell Club to Meet

The Penn State Bar-Bell Club will hold its first meeting of the year at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the McKee Hall Recreation Room. The meeting is open to both old and new members.

3 Named To Concert Committee

Three students have been named to head the Community Concert Association membership drive, according to Dr. Frederick R. Matson, president of the association. The campaign for new members opens Oct. 8, but those who held memberships last year may renew them the week of Oct. 1.

Margaret Morgan, assisted by Doris Cook, will handle the memberships among women students. Carroll Chapman will direct the drive among fraternity men, and John Reitmeyer Jr., assisted by John Alt, will conduct the campaign among non-fraternity men.

Begun Last Year
 Dr. Henry L. Yeagley, associate professor of physics, heads the membership drive. He is assembling workers who will sell tickets to faculty and townspeople.

Community Concerts was introduced on campus last year. Memberships are sold to the limit of Schwab Auditorium seating capacity and after the campaign, artists are booked. This eliminates the risk involved in operating the series, and also makes it possible to utilize all funds available to book the best program.

Artists on last year's program were Mac Morgan, baritone; Joseph Battista, pianist; Dorothy Sarnoff, soprano; Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra; and De Paur's Infantry Chorus of 35 negro voices.

Debate Team Calls for Men

Preliminary tryouts for the men's debate team will be held at 7 p.m. tomorrow in 305 Sparks.

Positions on the team will be open to all male students, Clar George, team manager, said. Two of last year's top four men graduated last spring.

Candidates will meet tomorrow night to learn the particulars from Prof. Joseph F. O'Brien, debate team coach. Final tryouts will be held Oct. 3.

The national topic for this year's team will be "Resolved: that the United States should form a permanent system of wage-price control."

Last year, Penn State's team was rated among the nation's top ten teams, winning the state championship. The team also won the Washington and Jefferson for the third year in a row.

George said excellent opportunities would be open to all candidates. He stressed the point that upperclassmen as well as freshmen may try out for the team.

Forum Season Tickets

Season tickets for the 1951 Community Forum series, priced at $3, will go on sale Friday at the Student Union desk in Old Main and will be sold through student and faculty representatives.

Tickets may be exchanged for reserved seat tickets starting Oct. 22. All seats are reserved.

In early years, the library was a small room kept open for one hour daily. Dr. William Buckhout was the first librarian and he worked there for three years.
