

UN Calls on Communists To Resume Peace Talks

TOKYO, Wednesday, Sept. 26—(AP)—The United Nations command called on the Communists to meet again today and once more try to arrange for resumption of the Korean armistice talks.

The Allies said the Reds angrily walked out on a liaison meeting, called yesterday for this purpose, but the Peiping radio offered a different version today. It said the session ended by mutual agreement. It made no mention of the latest Allied proposal.

The Peiping broadcast, heard here by the Associated Press, carefully stated that the senior Allied liaison officer agreed to "disbanding" the meeting pending further instructions from higher authority.

It made no mention of the Allied announcement that the meeting ended abruptly with the communist liaison representatives walking out.

The Tuesday meeting ended, Peiping radio explained, because UN officers "could not give an opinion on our proposal" for immediate resumption of negotiations. The senior Allied officer "agreed to disbanding of the meeting in order to wait for instructions from his higher authorities," the broadcast said.

The Allied request that the communists agree to meet again to arrange for resuming the talks was delivered at the communist outpost of Panmunjom at sunset Tuesday by an Allied helicopter.

The message, signed by Col. Andrew J. Kinney, senior Allied liaison officer, was sent under instructions from Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme allied commander. It said:

"Despite your unilateral action in recessing the meeting today and your abrupt departure therefrom, I am prepared to meet with you tomorrow, Sept. 26, 1951, at 10 a.m. (8 p.m., EST, Tuesday) to discuss conditions mutually satisfactory for resumption of the armistice talks."

Ridgway has urged the Communists to move the talks to a location where interruptions cannot occur. However, he does not appear to have ruled out Kaesong entirely.

Reports from Washington said top-level military and diplomatic leaders there held little hope that a cease-fire agreement would be reached. The Army planned to go ahead with plans for a winter campaign.

Income Tax Up for Vote

HARRISBURG, Sept. 25—(AP)—A sharply divided Senate, after six months of argument, today finally advanced the state income tax bill for a deciding vote tomorrow.

It was touch-and-go as to whether the administration will be able to line up enough Democratic votes to pass the one-half of one per cent levy.

The Senate will vote on the income levy together with three other tax measures in a special order of business starting at 3 p.m., (EST) tomorrow.

The top leadership on both the Republican and Democratic sides declined to make a forecast on the outcome of the measure.

U.S. Planes Win Longest Jet Battle

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Wednesday, Sept. 26—(AP)—Thirty-seven U.S. sabrejets battled 100 Russian-built MIG-15 jets over northwest Korea Tuesday in history's biggest and longest all-jet sky fight.

The American pilots report they shot down five MIGs and damaged five more without loss to themselves during the 25-minute action which swirled upward to six miles.

Aground Allied troops seized a commanding peak west of "heartbreak ridge" on the eastern front. In the west, and center, United Nations patrols ran up against bitter resistance.

The American flight, led by Col. Francis S. Gabreski, of Oil City, Pa., America's top ace, spotted the sweptback Communist fighters over "MIG Alley" south of the Yalu River and near the Manchurian border.

U.S. Fifth Air Force headquarters said all the American planes returned safely.

William Oatis is 'Quite Well,' Czech Envoy Declares

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25—(AP)—Communist Czechoslovakia's new envoy said today imprisoned Associated Press correspondent William N. Oatis is "quite well." He held open the possibility that his release might be negotiated.

But first ambassador Vladimir Prochazka said "it would be necessary to clean the atmosphere" of relations between the U.S. and Czechoslovakia. He added there were no signs of improvement at this time.

Prochazka's reassurance that Oatis is alive and well was given at a news conference at which the envoy defended Oatis' conviction and assailed the U.S. for exerting "pressure" on Czechoslovakia by means of export controls and a current move to cut off tariff concessions.

Oatis, sentenced to ten years on charges that his news reporting made him guilty of spying against the communist regime, is now in jail, Prochazka said. He said this information was received quite recently from Prague but added no details.

Prochazka was lectured by President Truman on August 28 when he presented his credentials.

Attlee-Cabinet Order Oilmen To Remain

LONDON, Sept. 25—(AP)—The British cabinet was reported tonight to have decided to defy an order of Iranian Premier Mohammed Mossadegh for the expulsion of all British oilmen from the middle east country.

The aging Iranian Premier, after repeated threats, finally gave the order today for some 300 British technicians to get out within nine days. A British foreign office spokesman said the order was a "new and serious development which is under urgent consideration."

Qualified sources said Prime Minister Attlee and his chief cabinet advisors reached their decision immediately after hearing about the order.

How they expect to make their defiance effective may be known after the return from the United States tomorrow of Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison and Defense Minister Emanuel Shinwell.

Britain has 10 warships stationed within 50 miles of her giant Abadan refinery in Iran, warplanes based in neighboring Iraq, and a brigade of parachute troops only a few hours away.

The canny Mossadegh is aware, however, that any use of force by the British might be unpopular, not only in the United States and the world at large, but also among many British voters who go to the polls in a general election Oct. 25.

Women Withdraw, Help Housing Shortage

From a peak overflow of nearly 100 women who had to be housed in lounges in the women's dorms at the beginning of the semester, the number has dropped to 26, Dean of Women Pearl Weston reported yesterday.

The only way the number of lounge-housed women can be reduced is by withdrawals, which are taking place at a rate of two or three per day.

Both Simmons, with 16 girls and McElwain, with three girls living in the second and third floor lounges, have good living conditions. Beds and dressers have been moved into the lounges so the girls have more comfortable living quarters according to Miss Weston.

Truman Assures Italy Of American Help

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25—(AP)—President Truman today reaffirmed American determination to continue helping Italy, as the Big Three prepared to renounce publicly their right to limit the size of Italian armed forces.

Both gestures were intended to bulwark the position of Italian Prime Minister Alcide de Gasperi, here on the second day of a three-day visit.

The President assured de Gasperi in a 50-minute White House conference that the United States will "continue to assist Italy and the other Allies in achieving economic and social stability and increasing their capacity for defense."

A communique announcing this said the two government leaders had discussed the full sweep of Italian affairs. These include the touchy status of Trieste, between Italy and Yugoslavia, and Italian requests for emigration rights.

The Big Three reportedly will issue by tomorrow, U.S. time, a declaration giving up their right to police the size of Italy's armed forces, now limited by treaty to 300,000 men, 350 planes and 132 naval ships.

Informants here said the tentative plan is to release the declaration at 11 a.m., (EST) tomorrow. Diplomatic sources in Paris reported, however, it would be published tomorrow morning, European time, which would be some time after midnight today (EST).

This move was decided early this month by the foreign chieftains of the United States, Great Britain and France, meeting here. It was reaffirmed at the recent Ottawa conference.

The purpose is to permit Italy to contribute more fully to Western Defense of the Mediterranean.

Removal of arms restrictions was announced as a main reason for de Gasperi's visit to the United States.

Russia is expected to protest bitterly. Moscow's opposition prevents any legal change in the Italian Peace Treaty, but the renunciation of arms policing will amount to the same thing. The Big Three plan to approach the other 16 signers of the treaty, through diplomatic channels, seeking their agreement.

Senate To Get Anti-Red Bill; Oath Delayed

A bill to outlaw the Communist Party by name in Pennsylvania had been approved by the Senate judiciary general committee, the Associated Press reported yesterday, while the House again delayed action on the loyalty oath bill.

The Justice Department had opposed the bill concerning the Communist Party because "of grave doubts as to its constitutionality," and drew up the amendments for the measure which was passed in the House.

There has been movement to recommit the oath bill to the committee which approved the measure last week.

The loyalty oath bill would require all government employees in the Commonwealth—including teachers—to take an oath that they are not subversive.
