

Progress Made In Purchasing State Air Depot

Centre County's airport authority, established last February to work out plans for a new or improved airfield, has obtained an option to purchase the State College air depot for $120,000 and 30 acres of adjoining farmland.

The air depot location was selected as the most favorable in the county after the Airport Authority, the Civil Aeronautics Authority, and state aeronautical leaders surveyed and viewed from the air several other locations.

Steps have been taken for new or improved air facilities because All American Airways has suspended air service intermittently since June, 1949, when it first started, because of the poor airfield conditions here.

All American suspended flights last January, but resumed them again in June. Airline service has been operating regularly since then. The airline has previously demanded that the field be equipped with hard surface runways, lights for night flying, and radio beacons.

The authority will receive funds from state and federal governments to help finance improvements after final plans are completed for the proposed airfield. The enlarged airport, controlled by the authority, will offer facilities for air mail, freight, and passenger service.

The Rev. Murray Smoot, of Baltimore, Md., will speak at the opening meeting of the semi-annual weekend conference of the Penn State Bible Fellowship at 7:30 tonight.

Rev. Smoot's topic will be "I'm a Theist—So What?"

The conference includes two other meetings in 405 Old Main and a picnic in Hort Woods after the football game tomorrow. The topic for the meeting at 10 a.m. tomorrow will be "Why Can't I?" and for the meeting at 7 p.m., "Trying to be Good?"

Students from Juniata College, Bucknell University and other nearby colleges will attend these meetings. They are open to all students on campus.

Parade--

The "Four Flats and a Sharp" will sing several arrangements. Earl Baker, David Margolf, Richard Wrentmore, and Eugene Myers are the Flats, and Nancy Hensel is the Sharp.

The group was among the five finalists in the Penn State Club talent show last February.

Acrobatic Act
Frank Lewis and Thomas Smith will do a comedy routine. Lewis was master of ceremonies at the Miss Penn State coronation ceremonies last May.

A newcomer to student talent circles, Gail Thrush will do an acrobatic act. She at one time performed in the professional football Philadelphia Eagle's band.

All the hat societies and Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, have pledged to serve at the dance. They will take tickets, sell refreshments, and handle other jobs.

In the event of rain, the parade will be canceled. The rally will then start at 8 in Recreation Hall.

Conservative Clothes Requested for Pictures

Jim Geffert, editor of La Vie, senior yearbook, has asked senior women to refrain from wearing excessive amounts of jewelry and printed dresses when they have their graduation pictures taken.

The actual selection of wearing apparel is left to the discretion of the individual, but large prints and too much jewelry detract from the overall beauty of page layouts in the senior section of the book, said Geffert.

Senior men should wear white shirts and dark ties wherever possible. All seniors are asked to make note of the senior picture schedules found on most campus bulletin boards since closing dates for all schools are final.

Penn State Club Activities Outlined

Lewis Hoover, president of the Penn State Club, outlined the past activities as well as the tentative future plans for the organization at a meeting last night in Hamilton Recreation Hall.

Russell Clark, director of housing and adviser to the club, spoke on its purpose and aims.

The initial meeting of the Penn State Club is scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday in 405 Old Main. Any independent man who was unable to attend last night's meeting but wishes to join the club may do so at Tuesday's meeting.

Will Discuss AA Proposal

A proposal to increase the student representation on the Athletic Advisory Board is scheduled to be discussed when the board meets tomorrow before the Boston University football game.

At present, there are three students on the board, the All-College president, the chairman of the Board of Publications, and the president of the Athletic Association.

The suggestion is to add two more students, perhaps the All-College secretary-treasurer and the president of the Women's Recreation Association, so that the student body would have the same representation as the alumni. The other members of the board consist of one trustee, four faculty representatives, and two ex-officio members, the Graduate Manager of Athletics and the Dean of the School of Phys., Ed.

Jamsters --

(Continued from page one) future jam sessions may sign a list at the Student Union desk in Old Main. Huber said only those signing would be eligible to take part in the program. Those signing will be notified when they are to appear at the TUB.

The sessions will be under the direction of Huber and Darrell Rishel, resident counselor in the West Dorm area.

If enough additional funds can be obtained, the group might convene next semester. At present, the colloquy has only $300 at its disposal, which is not enough to obtain well-known speakers, Stoult said.

He's a Campus A-man

The "A" stands for "Activities"—and he's in a lot of them. Plays first-string basketball. Writes for the school paper. Represents his class on the student council.

And on top of that, he's a good student.

Telephone people are like that, too. Besides giving good, friendly, courteous telephone service, they take part in numerous extracurricular activities.

That's why you'll find telephone men and women working on charity drives, joining service clubs, leading Scout troops.

The same spirit of friendliness and helpfulness which lies behind the fine telephone service this country receives, makes telephone people A-people in their communities.
