

Loans, Awards Income Equal

Income available for student scholarships and student loans will be nearly equal this year, it has been pointed out by a College administrative official.

Approximately $20,000 will be available for each.

About 150 scholarships, ranging in value from $25 to $600, will be distributed by the College. The large figure available for loan funds to needy students was explained by the fact that in recent years the demand for loans has not equaled the funds available.

However, it was pointed out that with the drop in GI enrollment and return to pre-war conditions, requests for loans will undoubtedly increase. Daniel A. DeMarino, assistant dean of men, explained that his office, which administers the loans, has noticed the increase in the last few years.

Two Types of Loans

Last Thursday All-College Cabinet sent to committee the recommendation of last year's spring week committee that proceeds from the spring carnival be used by cabinet to establish a student loan fund.

The committee was also instructed to consider a student sponsored scholarship fund.

Loans available at present are of two types. The Estelle H. Hetzel Fund for Emergencies provides short term loans of from $1 to $20.

Loans awarded from other loan funds are made on a promissory note in each case, signed by the student borrower and endorsed by a parent or other adult person of financial responsibility who is a resident of Pennsylvania. These notes may be renewed for an additional six month period, upon application by a student and payment of any interest due to date of renewal. Outstanding loans to any one student may not exceed $500.

Veterans' Loans

A third loan established under the Ethel and Bayard Kunkle Loan Fund is for the main limited to married veterans in full-time attendance at the College.

Usually loans are not available until the student has spent at least one semester in residence.

Zipple Appointed Dining Hall Head

Hermina Zipple, for the past 15 years director of the Memorial Union Building and Union Food Services and assistant professor of home economics at the University of Kansas, has been appointed supervisor of dining halls at the College.

Mildred A. Baker, director of food services at the College, also announced today the appointment of Marie H. Smock, manager of dining halls at Washington and Jefferson College, as food supervisor for the Atherton dining hall, and Donna A. Runser, food manager of the Illini Union at the University of Illinois, as food supervisor in Simmons.

Miss Zipple, a native of Portland, Ore., is a graduate of Oregon College of Education and received her B.S. and M.S. degrees in institution management at the University of Washington.

Dr. Adams to Speak

Dr. Clifford R. Adams, marriage counselor and psychology professor, will speak at the opening meeting of the Psychology Club at 7 tonight in 204 Burrows Building.

Freshmen may not join the club until they have completed at least one course in psychology.

Officers for the coming year are Harry W. Ritzel, president; Joseph Seidler, vice president; Maxine Cornell, secretary, and Dolores Lipkowitz, treasurer.

Cheerleaders Find Crowd Unreceptive

Coed cheerleaders returned to Beaver Field Saturday for the first time since 1947, but found the crowd reception disappointing.

Lois Brown, senior, praised the freshman spirit and said that the upperclassmen may not know the cheers because they never went through customs. Cheerleading has given her the best seat she ever had for a football game, Miss Brown added.

The cheerleaders had no time to get frightened because they had to follow the fast moving Blue Band, Shirley Thornton, senior, said.

Ann Quigley, sophomore, found less spirit in the 15,000 people at Beaver Field than she had seen in the 800 fans in Lewistown High School Stadium.

Louise Robertson, sophomore, said she would like to see as many students at the Villanova game Saturday as were at the Boston game. Miss Robertson said the freshmen showed a lot of spirit.

Coeds livened up the squad and made it a lot more colorful, Audrey Shultz, sophomore, said. When she looked up at everybody singing the alma mater, she "tingled all over."

Miss Schultz pointed out that cheerleading is the only varsity activity open to women. She was disappointed that the crowd waited until the team was winning before cheering. "Instead the spectators should cheer the team to victory," she said.

Expecting to hear nothing from the junior and senior sections Miss Schultz was pleasantly surprised with even the meager response.

Caps and Gowns

Seniors who expect to graduate in January and will be practicing teaching the last eight weeks of the semester, should sign up for caps and gowns at the Athletic Store Oct. 8 to 12. Seniors should also order graduation announcements and invitations at the Student Union desk on those days.

500 Attend TUB's First Jam Session

An audience of approximately 500 persons were enthusiastic in their welcome of the year's first jam session held Sunday afternoon in the TUB.

Philip "Mouse" Miller, a graduate student who played in dance bands at the College when he was an undergraduate, played one of the alto saxophones. Other players included Grant Price and Richard Dennis, alto saxophones; Eugene Sprague, and Edward Reider, trumpets; Donald Krebs and Donald Storch, drums; Blair Gingrich, bass; David Feuerfile, piano and John Huber, guitar.

Huber, resident counselor in the Nittany Pollock area and Darrell Rishel, resident counselor for the West Dorm area, acted as masters of ceremonies. The session was sponsored by the Dean of Men's office, through the resident counselors.

First on the completely unrehearsed program, each musician played a solo of one of his favorite selections. After that warm-up the group did a "hot" version of "Tea for Two."

The band also played selections requested by the audience.

During an interlude of slower pieces, soloists did "Body and Soul," "I'm in the Mood for Love," and some requests.

Huber asked those desiring to play in a jam session to sign up at the Student Union desk in Old Main. He said everyone who wanted to play would get a chance. Musicians are asked to sign up so that the proper proportion of instruments can be maintained in each band, he explained.

Freshmen Hunt 'Foolish Hatman'

No freshman has yet won Froth's "Foolish Hatman" contest which began yesterday.

To win, a frosh must approach the Foolish Hatman, who is among the 150 hatmen on campus, and say "Tuesday is Froth day." This sentence must precede any other statement and must be spoken to the hatman between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

The winner of the Froth contest will have the privilege of riding in the Froth canoe in the Flaming Foilage Festival race this weekend. The contest will continue until some person in the freshman class identifies the Foolish Hatman.

Debate Candidates Try Out Tomorrow

Final tryouts for the men's debate team will take place at 7 p.m. tomorrow in 305 Sparks.

All candidates will be required to deliver a five-minute speech on either side of this year's national intercollegiate debate topic, Resolved: That the federal government should adopt a permanent program of wage and price control.

Anyone is eligible to try out. It is not necessary to have attended the preliminary meeting held last Wednesday.

Frosh Eligible For Women's Debate Squad

Automatic placement on the women's debate squad is offered to all freshman women who attend the preliminary meeting at 7 p.m. tomorrow in 2 Sparks.

According to Lois Pulver, manager, "evidence of interest" is the only requisite for freshmen. Upperclasswomen, however, will be required to try out next week. There will be a preliminary meeting for upperclasswomen at 7 p.m. Thursday in 2 Sparks.

The squad is open to all women, regardless of previous debate experience. While debate is, in part, an extra-curricular activity, it carries from one to three regular academic credits per semester.

Last year the team's program included 82 debates of which 53 were against men's teams. Every member of the squad participated in one or more debates against colleges including Princeton, Temple, Bucknell, Florida, Michigan, Rutgers and Tennessee.

In the Grand National Tourney, the team won second place in the Big Ten. Over 100 teams, both men and women, were entered in the tournament.

Marian Ungar won the grand national championship, and took second place in the women's oratorical contest.

Semi-finalists were Great Weaver in dramatic reading and Lois Pulver in poetry reading.

Penn State Club To Meet Tonight

The Penn State Club will hold its first business meeting at 7 tonight in 405 Old Main.

Carl Espy, social chairman, will present the social program for October. After the meeting, the film, "This is Penn State," will be shown.

Initiation instructions will be given at the following meeting by Arnold Gasche, vice president and chairman of the initiation committee.

Lewis Hoover, president, asked that all old members attend this meeting as well as all men who are interested in joining. The club is open to all independent men who are second semester or higher.

Air Society to Meet

Arnold Air Society, Air Force ROTC honorary, will hold its first meeting at 7:30 tonight in 316 Sparks.

The group will discuss plans for the coming school year.

Bureau Arranged Dates of Long Ago

By JOHN SHEPPARD

Imagine yourself a student some 15 years ago peering endlessly into space for an answer to the dating problem which confronts all new students.

How could you get an introduction to that smooth blonde in the second row of your French class? Or how about that cute redhead you keep meeting on the Mall?

Yes, being a newcomer wasn't a very nice life. You even found it hard to get acquainted.

However, upon arising the next morning, your problem was solved, for the Collegian Dating Bureau, which you hadn't heard of, carried a front page story on how to get a date.

Are you worrying about shaping your social life here at State?

Well, just mail us your name, phone number, and description, so the story read.

Specification ran something like this: Prospect number 74 is a freshman girl, 5 feet 7 inches tall, weighs 130. Claims she has a swell line of chatter, a terrific sense of humor, is a good dancer, and not a dope.

Prospect number 20 is a "green baby frosh." He's 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighs 154, and is "an accomplished virtuoso of three-quarter timing or swing." He claims that he doesn't have a car, isn't rich, but is a "man."

There they are. Does one of them appeal to you? If so, sit right down and write us at the Dating Bureau before it's too late.

NOTICE Payment of Fees

Registration for Fall Semester 1951 will be completed by payment of fees on October 4 and 5, 1951.

ALL FEES, including ROOM and BOARD CHARGES, will be due on these dates. Veterans whose remaining entitlement is insufficient to carry them beyond the semester's midpoint should note that they will be required to pay their entire semester's fees.

Those veterans who have not been certified by the Veteran's Administration will also be required to pay fees.

Fees will be collected in Room 6, Willard Hall on October 4 and 5 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.
