Shades of the Southwest Conference!

The offensive football exhibition put on in the Penn State-Boston University football game Saturday was probably the greatest that Penn State fans have seen in a long, long time.

The way the two teams moved up and down the field matching touchdowns put us in mind of the Southwest Conference games we've seen in the newreels. Down there the emphasis is on the offense. It's wide open football.

Boston University's Harry Agganis certainly lived up to his press notices as one of the greatest passers in the country. If Agganis doesn't make All-American this year it will only be because BU won't have a standout record. The Terriers have played two games and lost both. But Agganis has accounted for six touchdowns in the two contests. He's the quarterback's quarterback.

The southpaw passer threw Penn State's defensive game off with his run and pass plays. No one knew just what he was going to do. The time in the second quarter when he faded from his own 37 yard line back to the end zone before passing to Lindy Hanson was the greatest exhibition of run-dodge-pass we have ever seen.

State's Ted Shattuck comes in for his share of praise too. Ted played probably his best game since he first put on a Penn State uniform a year ago. The Lion halfback continually broke into the BU secondary for good, long gains.

Bobby Szajna, playing in his first varsity game, handled himself like a veteran. His deceptive handoffs were instrumental in breaking both Shattuck and Anders loose into the Boston secondary. Although statistics show that Szajna completed five of 12 pass attempts, it could very easily be eight of 12. Three of his tosses were true to the mark but were dropped.

It was a happy group of football players that gathered in the Penn State dressing room after the game. Coach Rip Engle went around and congratulated each player personally. President Milton S. Eisenhower dropped in to commend the team.

"Congratulations, boys. It was the greatest game I ever saw," he shouted above the dressing room noise.

Verbal gems filled the press box during the second half which saw 53 points scored.

When the announcement came through that Michigan State was leading Michigan 6-0, one newspaper man said, "The fans there are getting cheated."

After a BU back had broken away for a good-sized gain, it was explained away with, "No back wants to be caught making less than a first down."

When Harry Agganis passed instead of punting on fourth down late in the game, one fellow moaned, "I thought we were going to see that old thing called a punt." Another fellow (no doubt, much younger) quipped, "What's that?"

Bob Drum of the Pittsburgh Press caught the tempo of the game, "You're eligible for the old timers club if you can remember when Capuano scored."

After the game, we ran into Chuck Thompson who announced the game for WMAJ as Bob Prince's substitute. His comment on the game:

"Man, I stopped to light a cigarette and missed a touchdown."

Undoubtedly, Harry Agganis is a gentleman on and off the gridiron. When one of the referees called interference against him on one of Szajna's passes, Agganis shouted to the referee, "How absurd! I never heard of such a thing."

Yes, it was some football game.

open with a pass and he went all the way to score. Agganis' kick was good. Boston led 28-27.

State came right back with another TD. This time another interference penalty helped the Lions. On the first play, Szajna passed to Shattuck and although it was broken up, interference was called against Agganis and gave State the ball on the BU 46.

Anders took it to the 32 in two plays before Shattuck broke loose and went all the way for the score. Leonard's kick was no good and State led 33-28.

Boston again came back. This time it took the Terriers six plays, with Kastan taking it over the State 28 yard line. Charlie Wilson blocked Agganis' extra point try. Boston again led 34-33.

State took the kickoff and marched 74 yards for the last score of the game. Anders clipped off most of the yardage with a 40 yard run from the 50 to the 10. Shattuck took it to the six. Anders to the 3, and Shopa scored on the next play. Leonard made the extra point and State led 40-34.

Boston threw a scare into the Lions in the last few seconds when Agganis completed a pass to Kastan and Terrasi tossed to Capuano, moving the Terriers to the State nine yard line. But time ran out and Penn State won its opening game, 40-34.

Wrestlers Meet Tonight

A reorganization meeting of all candidates for the Penn State wrestling team will be held at 7:30 tonight in 10 Sparks, Coach Charles Speidel announced today.

Moving pictures of some of last year's College contests will be an added feature of the meeting for all candidates and managers. Members of the State College Wrestling Club will also attend.

Triangle Beats Alpha Phi Delta In Overtime, 1-0

Triangle defeated Alpha Phi Delta in an overtime period, 1-0, when an interference penalty, committed by the Phi Delt's, decided the game.

This penalty gave Triangle the ball on Phi Delt's 45 yard line where the interference took place. The ruling in an overtime period is the team finishing past his opponent's 50 yard stripe, in six plays, unless a TD is scored, wins the game.

In another contest Delta Chi beat Phi Kappa, 7-0, when Ed Hill caught Paul Bossart's pass in the end zone during the second half. Bossart passed to Richard Hughes for the extra point.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon with five minutes remaining in the game scored on a 14-yard pass from Loy Hockersmith to Charles Allen to defeat Sigma Phi Sigma, 6-0. The play climaxed a 28-yard drive.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon missed a second score when they were on Sigma Phi Sigma's seven yard line when the first half whistle blew.

The Sigma Nu-Phi Kappa Tau score was not available at the time the Daily Collegian went to press.

Shattuck Selected 'Athlete of Week'

Ted Shattuck, hard-driving Lion halfback, was selected by the Collegian sports staff as its first Athlete of the Week.

Shattuck, 200 pound junior, carried the ball 22 times and gained 163 yards. This was enough yardage to make him the leading ground gainer of the game, and earn him the selection over several outstanding teammates.

The Warren bulldozer tallied two touchdowns on gallops of 32 and 20 yards, and scored a third TD on a one-yard plunge.

Each week the Collegian sports staff will select an Athlete of the Week. This week Coach Bill Jeffrey's soccer men and Chick Werner's harriers open their schedules and will be eligible. The harriers run against Pitt, while the booters play Bucknell.

deemed itself in the clutches by reeling off four comforting double plays, including a twin killing in a wild scramble on the base paths which ended the game.

Branca had the Giants popping up and hitting to the outfield most of the time. The Dodgers came up with only two assists, both on sacrifice bunts. The record for least assists in one game is none and is shared by Cleveland and St. Louis of the American league.

land and St. Louis of the American league.

Maglie or Jones

With the big victory in sight tonight, Durocher was torn between throwing his finest pitcher, Sal Maglie, at the Flock tomorrow with only two day's rest or taking a chance on Sheldon Jones, a sometimes brilliant but often erratic righthander. Maglie winner of 23 games in the regular season, said today his arm was a little tired, but expressed willingness to give it a go if Leo wished him to.

College Horses Win

The College's purebred Percherons monopolized the winners' circle at the Eastern States Exposition at Springfield, Mass., by taking the top honors in every class entered.

The following information is placed in the Collegian in answer to many queries concerning our sorority and fraternity composite pictures:

One master composite of the entire fraternity or sorority will be made. Each member of his or her group will receive an 8x10 copy of this. The house will receive the master composite.

The cost to each member of the organization is $3.25. Each organization will be given approximately three days to have his sittings completed. This means that we will photograph approximately 13 people a day on no definite appointments. Merely have a house officer assign approximately 13 members to come in on each of their designated days.

* Each head which goes on a composite will be retouched regardless of whether portraits are ordered.

Each person will receive four proofs.

* Respective names will be printed under each portrait as well as detailed work on the overall composite.

Clothing should be uniform. Blue or conservative jackets for men and preferably tailored white blouses for the girls.

The treasurer will send us a check amounting to $2.00 per person when the last sitting is completed. The remaining $1.25 per person may be remitted to us when the composite is finished.

* There will be approximately a 30% reduction in price on regular portraits from the portrait which is to be used on the composite.

Since a limited number of composites will be done this year, we frankly suggest prompt action on your part for a reservation.

Sincerely,
Bill Coleman

*One of the important differences between our composites and those of others.
