Presidents of all districts, and also vice presidents of districts having 105 or more voters, will sit on the West Dorm Council. The council will hold its first meeting at 7 p.m. Monday in McKee Hall lounge, Thomas Durek, last year's president, has announced.

Voting Heavy

Durek said the first meeting would be devoted to appointments to the food committee, discussion of the social committee, and decisions as to election procedure of council officers.

Voting in the elections was heavy and campaigning was enthusiastic, Durek added. Each district that has a tie for any office will decide for itself how the tie will be broken.

Economics Fellowship To Receive Grant

A graduate fellowship in the Department of Economics and Commerce will be supported by a $1500 grant from a New York garment manufacturer.

Arthur W. Einstein, associate professor of marketing and retailing, will direct the study on children's requirements for undergarments, production capacity and costs, markets and pricing.

Communion Services

Local Protestant churches which regularly hold preparatory services for the reception of communion will have these services at 7:30 tonight for the World Communion Sunday.

Harshbarger To Present Chapel Sermon

The Rev. Luther H. Harshbarger, College chaplain and executive secretary of the Penn State Christian Association, will speak on "In Quiet Desperation!" at 11 a.m. Sunday in Chapel.

The Rev. Harshbarger is an ordained minister in the Church of the Brethren and came to the College in September, 1949.

The Chapel Choir under the direction of Mrs. Willa C. Taylor will sing four anthems, "Bless the Lord, O My Soul" (Ippolitov-Ivanov), "O Be Joyful, All Ye Lands" (Gretchaninoff), "Cast Thy Burden Upon the Lord" (Mendelssohn), and "Our Father" (Gretchaninoff).

George Ceiga at the organ will play "Rhosymedre" from "Three Preludes" (Williams) and the prelude and "Postludium Circulaire" (Gaul) as the postlude. David Lewis, a senior pre-theological student, will assist in the service.

Monday Morning Club," "Movie Mama," "The School Ma'am," and "Dakota Fever," have been presented in some 700 cities and towns across the United States. Miss Sale creates her own costumes.

She is the sister of Chic Sale, an old-time vaudeville entertainer, and she has been active in Hollywood. Both she and her director husband, Sam Wren, have worked in motion pictures and radio.

After returning East, the two had their own television show,

Virginia Sale

"The Wren's Nest," which Miss Sale wrote herself. Her twins, Christopher and Ginny, appeared on the program.

Proceeds from the show will go to nursery schools for blind children in Los Angeles and Minneapolis, the training of orthoptic technicians, and classes where parents of blind children learn how to help them overcome their handicap.

Delta Gamma will also keep a portion of the proceeds in State College to be used locally where it is needed.

Tickets may be obtained from all members of Delta Gamma, at the Corner Room, and at Student Union for $1.20 including tax.

Campus Spirit High For World Series

By DAVE PELLNITZ

Penn State students showed their usual high interest in great sporting events as sidewalk-blocking crowds gathered in front of Graham's, and portable radios appeared in great numbers on campus for the playoff games between the Dodgers and the Giants for the National League pennant.

The Giants were favorites in their games with the Dodgers. In Wednesday's game when Bobby Thomson hit his home run with two on and one out in the last of the ninth and the Giant's trailing by two runs, the cheer that went up from the fans in front of Graham's could be heard on the steps of the library.

Conducting a quick campus survey it was found four of every five students hoped for the Giants to take the Yankees in the series, but many of them think the Yankees will win.

As one fellow put it, "I'm picking the Yankees because I figure the American League can beat anything the National League can put up."

Paul Howe, a sixth semester Ag

Ed student from Lake Ariel, said, "I'd like to see the Giants take it because they're the underdogs. The Yankees have taken the series the last three years. That's enough."

Favor Giants

Eight frosh coeds who had been stopped by upperclassmen to sing on the steps of Carnegie Hall were seven to one in favor of the Giants.

Another coed when questioned as to her favorite answered, "The Giants, of course."

The pro's are no exception when it comes to interest in the games. Many brought up-to-the-minute scores with them to class, and some even interrupted class long enough to have any late scores announced.

Upperclassmen Keep Frosh Women Busy

By MIMI UNGAN

Freshman women had a new thrill yesterday as the men took over in helping to carry out customs. Most of the freshman women agree that the men really kept them stepping.

Jane Hitch, from McAllister Hall, said, "It's OK for one day, but not for the whole time. My gosh, they'd have us singing all the time."

Trudy Kittelberger, Thompson Hall, remarked, "The whole setup is indescribable. The men certainly do a better job than the women."

Many freshman women joined in saying that "It's really a lot of fun." Lois August, Thompson Hall, impersonating Jerry Lewis, said, "I like it."

Baylee Friedman, Elm Cottage, whispered, "I think it's fun. You meet a lot of boys that way."

"Hatmen are much more interesting and amusing than hat-women," says Elaine Gutman, Thompson Hall. However, one girl from Thompson, Adrienne Alderman, didn't think they were so amusing. She said, "At nine o'clock in the morning, 16 boys swamp me—want me to sing, curtsy, and the like. I was up on Ag Hill at the cattle crossing and believe me, I really thought it was a cattle crossing."

It turned out that many of the women had a free day. Joan Packard, McAllister Hall, agreed that it's a very good idea, but she added, sheepishly, "I haven't been touched." Joan Wagner, Women's Building, was also able to "steer clear" of male hazing.

Another McAllister Hall frosh, Arlene Jones, said in a sarcastic voice, "Ha, ha, they haven't done anything—just make us curtsy."

Many upperclassmen believe that this day of customs was the most successful of the three weeks. The majority of the student body was determined to make the day an amusing one. This was evident in front of Carnegie Hall all day as upperclassmen assembled and had frosh women curtsying constantly. Many ran from the scene in embarrassment.

Law School Test Slated at Centers

The law school admission test, required of applicants for admission to a number of leading American law schools, will be given at more than 100 centers throughout the country on the mornings of Nov. 17, 1951, and Feb. 23, April 26, and Aug. 9, 1952.

A candidate is required to make separate application for admission to each law school of his choice and should inquire of each school whether it wishes him to take the law school admission test.

Since many law schools select their freshman classes in the spring preceding their entrance, candidates for admission to next year's classes are advised to take either the November or the February test if possible.

Bulletins and applications for the test should be obtained four to six weeks in advance of the desired testing date from Educational Testing Service, P. O. Box 592, Princeton, N.J.

Completed applications must be received at least ten days before the desired testing date in order to allow ETS to complete the necessary testing arrangements for each candidate.

Newman Club Party

A lawn party sponsored by the Newman Club will be held at Phi Kappa at 8 tonight.

PSCA Sets Talks for November

"The Loyalty of Free Men" will be the theme of a colloquy on religion and politics to be sponsored Nov. 16 to 18 at the College by the Penn State Christian Association.

The three divisions of the colloquy will be "Individual Rights and a Free Society," "The Religious Basis of Freedom," and "The Use of Power in a Free Society."

Eight speakers have been secured for the colloquy. They are Richardson Dilworth, city treasurer of Philadelphia and candidate for district attorney; Col. Francis P. Miller, a consultant of the State department; James Fulton, head of the House foreign affairs committee; Russell Wiggins, editor of the Washington Post. Dr. James C. Bennett, professor of Christian ethics, Union Theological Seminary; Dr. Liston Pope, dean of Yale Theological Seminary; Harry Butcher, executive secretary, Philadelphia Committee of 70; and John D. M. Hamilton, former national chairman of the Republican party.

Student committee for the colloquy includes Joseph Geiger and Miriam Kugelman, co-chairmen; Irene Jeffress, Joseph Galati, Florenz Fenton, Moylan Mills and Charles Douds.

The faculty committee includes Dr. Wallace Brewster, Dr. John Ferguson, Butcher, Prof. William Edgerton, Lee Carter, Dr. Neal Riemer, Dr. William Mather, Wayne Glick, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Crosby, Dr. W. Conrad Fernelius and Prof. Arthur H. Reede.

Speaker Outlines Job Necessities

In one of a series of talks on "Techniques and Responsibilities in Commercial Consumer Services," Kay Neuman, who conducts radio and television programs on home service work in Pittsburgh, on Tuesday described the essentials for a job in television.

This series is under the direction of Mary Brown Allgood, associate professor of household equipment and commercial consumer services.

Some of the important factors listed by Miss Neuman were those of good health, the ability to work hard, some training in journalism, practice in the art of speech, a thorough technique in foods work, a knowledge of photography, a feeling for words and their use, a liking for people, and the ability to get along with the 15 or more people required to put the program on the air.

Hillel to Hold Services

Sabbath eve services will be held at 8 tonight at the Hillel Foundation.

Rabbi Benjamin Kahn will officiate at the service and continue his series of lectures on "Basic Judaism."
