

Between the Lions

By DAVE COLTON

Mother Nature is tough to beat. If you don't believe so just ask Pete Sarantopoulos, Chick Werner's 31-year old harrier. Pete, a senior, had finally reached his peak condition for Saturday's meet with Pitt, but once again was knocked out of the meet with a pulled ligament in his leg.

Pete's dogged determination to make good made Saturday's injury even tougher than usual. For Pete, who had made a remarkable comeback after a delayed absence from running competition, had strived for three years to do what he was doing at the beginning of the meet. After the two-mile mark he was right up among the leaders and was a good bet for one of the top positions.

Coach Chick Werner and his assistant, Norm Gordon, regarded Pete as one of their top candidates for a State scoring position Saturday because of his excellent condition. For Sarantopoulos realized that he had two strikes against him and had worked out all summer. This extra conditioning put him ahead of most of the squad and made him a likely scorer for the Lions in their early meets.

Pete earned a letter last year, and did it the hard way. He was one of the hardest and most sincere workers on the team. Against Michigan State he injured his leg, but continued running despite the pain. This injury bothered him throughout the season and kept him sidelined for most of the meets.

If the injury isn't too serious, Pete will be back romping over the hill and vales of the College's golf course, struggling to regain the superb condition he had reached. His absence would be sorely missed since this fall's team lacks the depth of 1950's harriers. Every top man will be needed if the Lions are to approach their '50 record as IC4A and NCAA cross-country champions.

In the first week of multiple varsity athletic competition Penn State managed to win two of three events. While the football team lost to Villanova the cross-country and soccer teams were victorious. This week it will be tough to repeat that 2-1 record. The gridgers meet a tough foe in Nebraska and All-American Bobby Reynolds; Bill Jeffrey's booters exchange kicks with Army's top-flight soccer men, and Chick Werner's hill-and-dalers match strides with Cornell.

chomping reliefer, to fill the sacks and bring Casey Stengel shooting from the dugout as though he had been stung.

In came Kuzava, a portsider, to pitch to Monte Irvin, most dangerous man in the Giants' lineup. Monte needed only one more safety to equal the World Series record of 12. But all Monte had in his system this time was a long fly to left on which Stanky raced home and Dark made third.

Bobby Thomson then skied another one to left to bring in Dark and electrify the great crowd. Yvars came in from the bullpen to take the biggest lick any Giant had had at a ball all year. He didn't wait. He laid into the first pitch, and it was all over.

AP Writer Picks Lions To Win

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10—(AP)—Things are getting tough all over and the football competition is no exception. There are 36 games on tap for Pennsylvania collegiate football teams this weekend and even the coin stands on end trying to pick some of them. Well, here goes a .650 average with a punt, pass, and prayer:

Penn State at Nebraska — Certain people at Penn State will be happy to learn they're going to win this week—Penn State.

Albright at Temple—Unbeaten Albright to feel the pain of losing—Temple.

Villanova at Alabama—Art Raimo thinks he has a great team. Who wants to argue?—Villanova. Princeton at Penn—Princeton by a field goal.

Iowa Over Pitt
Pitt at Iowa—Captain Tom Hamilton's a nice guy, but Iowa apparently has a stronger football team—Iowa.

Bucknell at Kent State—The thundering herd keeps thundering—Bucknell.

Muhlenberg at Lafayette—Clipper's boys have been mixing in rougher company—Lafayette.

Lehigh at Gettysburg—The battlefield boys surprised last week, but not this week—Lehigh.

Akron Over Tech
Carnegie Tech at Akron—heads, tails—its—Akron.

PMC at Delaware—West Chester beat PMC and Delaware beat West Chester. Why wait for a hit in the head?—Delaware.

Hurrying around the circuit it's Scranton to remain unbeaten, untied and unscored on by taking St. Francis, Ursinus over Dickinson, Allegheny over Juniata, Western Maryland over Franklin and Marshall, Bloomsburg over Millersville, Wagner over Swarthmore, Lincoln over Virginia Union, East Stroudsburg over Shippensburg, Moravian over Hofstra, Lebanon Valley to take Upsala, Thiel over Clarion, Mansfield to beat Brockport, Hiram over Grove City, Trenton State Teachers to whip National Aggies, Washington and Jefferson over Geneva, Westminster over Bethany, Indiana over Edinboro, West Chester over Lock Haven, Muskingum to beat Slippery Rock, California to beat Concord, Haverford over Randolph-Macon, Kutztown to beat Montclair. On Sunday look for St. Vincent to beat Kings.

Shattuck, Shopa Place Among Pa. Scorers

Ted Shattuck, Penn State halfback and Pete Shopa, Lion fullback, placed among the leaders of the collegiate football scorers in Pennsylvania.

Shattuck placed seventh with 24 points. He scored three touchdowns against Boston University and one against Villanova.

Shopa is deadlocked with 11 other players for twelfth place. Pete has scored 18 points, getting two touchdowns against BU and one against Villanova.

Ed Romanowski of Scranton is on top with 44 points. He has played three games. Bob Haner, Villanova fullback, is sixth with 23 points and his teammate Ben Addiego is tied for twelfth place with 18 points.

7 Men Advance In IM Tennis

Six more fraternity men have advanced to the third round of the 1951 fraternity tennis singles of the IM tourney while one Independent moved up.

Charles Crispens, Sigma Phi Alpha, after dropping the first set, rallied to win from Omega Psi Phi's Cook, 5-7, 6-2, 6-4. Nicholas Casale, Phi Delta Theta, took straight sets from Jack Brown, Beta Theta Pi, 6-4, 6-2, as did Kappa Sigma's Dick Allio from William D'Zurko, Sigma Phi Alpha, 6-0, 6-2.

Another straight set win found William Shoot, Phi Gamma Delta, dumping McHenry, Delta Theta Sigma, 6-4, 6-1. Dick Hochreiter, Phi Kappa, lost to Samuel Engle, Alpha Chi Sigma, in two sets, 6-2, 6-4. In the first bracket Michael Kirshner, Sigma Nu, won by forfeit from Alpha Phi Delta's Tony Grimaldi. Independent first round play found M. Unger winning over Weston Thomlinson, 6-0, 6-3.

Bagoonies, Edinboro, DU Win IM Grid Contests

By GEORGE BAIREY

A sharp Bagoonie squad took full advantage of one break and made another, to beat the Buckeyes, 13-0, in a second round independent grid game last night at the IM field.

The Bagoonies came up with a trio of smooth ball handlers who collaborated for the first tally midway in the initial half. Mickey Herzing gathered in a Buckeye punt on the 43 yard line, flipped to Tom Ceraso who in turn found Bob Sutter alone in the end zone for the TD. The final Bagoonie score materialized when Wayne Ruppert fell on a loose ball in the Buckeye end zone. Ceraso hit Herzing for the thirteenth point.

DU Wins

In a tense battle of defenses, Delta Upsilon advanced to the third round of the fraternity grid tourney by eliminating Theta Xi, 1-0, in overtime.

The winning play came on a 44 yard sleeper pass on the fourth play of the six-play overtime series from DU's Neil Diehl to Charles Robb.

Edinboro Romps

Edinboro never eased the pressure in the first half and scored an easy 27-0 win over the Jerks in the third game of the night. Almost able to score at will, Edinboro counted on a 6 yard, Dick Benyon to Fred Mueller aerial, a long looping 52 yarder, from Harry Meabon to Bill Mallich, and a 6 yard spurt of an interception by Mueller, all in the first half, good for 21 points.

The under-manned Edinboro team mustered up their final touchdown, this one, Benyon to Ed Brown good for 21 yards midway through the game. The Jerks, although they outnumbered their opponents nine to eight, were no match for the defending IM basketball champs.

ATO Wins

The second fraternity game of the evening found Alpha Tau Omega outgunning Chi Phi, 12-0, on two first half markers. A 75 yard march in two plays, climaxed by John McCall's lateral to Donald Voxel who fired a 46 yard beauty into the waiting arms of Louis Gomlick in the end zone, gave the ATO's their first. The second and final score followed shortly when Paul Stefanic snared a Chi Phi pass on the 18. On the next play Stefanic threw to Jack Groves for the touchdown.

ATO threatened continually in the last half, but were stymied each time inside the Chi Phi 20 yard line.

In Tuesday night's final contest, Dorm 8 edged Atherton Hall, 6-0.

Mother Files Suit For Son's Death

GREENSBURG, Pa., Oct. 10—(AP)—The mother of a deceased professional basketball player filed a suit for $50,000 damages today in the Westmoreland county court as a result of the traffic accident which cost her son's life last Jan. 11.

Mrs. Mildred Karmarkovich, who claimed her son, Charles, was her sole support, is suing Raymond Cozzens of Homestead and Nicholas Hickey and Tony Bagnato, both of Johnstown.

The Conemaugh woman charges Hickey and Cozzens were negligent in operating the two autos involved in the Ligonier township crash. Bagnato owned the car in which he and Karmarkovich were riding with Hickey.
