

Seminar Reviewed By Union Leaders

The four-day Seminar on Human Relations, sponsored jointly by the College and the United Steelworkers of America, closed Wednesday night with a roundup of the seminar's activities by union leaders.

The seminar opened Sunday evening with addresses by Philip Murray, United Steelworkers President, and President Milton S. Eisenhower, in which the program's objectives were presented.

Speakers in Monday's sessions included Dr. Edwin E. Witte, chairman of the Department of Economics, University of Wisconsin; David J. McDonald, secretary-treasurer of the United Steelworkers, and E. Earl Moore, vice president of the United States Steel Co. They spoke on "Human Relations in Industry."

"Religion, Human Relations and Discrimination" was the topic for talks Monday afternoon by The Rev. John LaFarge, editor of "America"; The Rev. L. B. Moseley, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Pittsburgh, and Rabbi Morris Kertzer, president of the National Jewish Chaplains Association.

Dr. George P. Murdock, professor of anthropology, at Yale University, spoke Tuesday on "Man—One Family." "Man's Basic Rights" was the subject of a talk by Dr. Charles S. Johnson, president of Fisk University. Dr. Otto Klineberg, professor of psychology, at Columbia University, spoke on "What We Know About Changing Attitudes and Prejudices."

A. A. Liveright, director of the Union Leadership Training Program, University of Chicago, conducted a discussion Wednesday morning on "Discrimination—Its Nature and Forms."

"Techniques, Methods, and Resources for Accomplishing the Objectives of the Seminar" was the topic of a talk by Dr. Clyde K. M. Kluckhohn, professor of anthropology, Harvard University.

The seminar was to feature Madame Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, United States ambassador from India, at its closing session Wednesday. The ambassador, however, had to cancel her engagement due to illness.

PSCA Hikers to Climb Flat Tower Sunday

The Penn State Christian Association hiking club will climb Little Flat Tower Sunday afternoon. Transportation will be provided to and from the 800-foot tower, which is five miles from State College.

Cars will leave from Old Main at 1:30 p.m. Students are asked to sign up before tomorrow in 304 Old Main. There will be a charge of 20 cents for transportation.

PSCA Cabinet Appoints Three

Three committee heads were appointed at the Penn State Christian Association meeting Wednesday night. They are Charles Douds, membership; Richard Smith, international affairs; and David Bain, finances.

The cabinet decided that a year's subscription to "Intercollegian," national YM and YWCA magazine, will be given to all students who pay the $2 PSCA membership fee.

Plans were made for attending the Fall Area Conference of the Student Christian Movement next Friday to Monday at Camp Michaux, near Carlisle. The PSCA will be in charge of the worship program.

Also discussed were an invitation to attend an intercollegiate conference on "Forty Days in the Wilderness" to be held at Hood College Nov. 10 and 11, and plans for the Student Volunteer Movement conference, at Lawrence, Kansas, Dec. 27 to Jan. 1.

Nov. 6 was set as the date for the semester's assembly of all PSCA members on campus.

Council Makes Appointments

Arnold Pappazano and Jane Mason were elected by the Home Economics Student Council to serve as advisers on a student-faculty committee concerning changes in textbooks, at the council meeting Tuesday night.

Also at the meeting, Elaine Notari and Bruce Rathfon were appointed to help on the Home Ec Spring Weekend committee by Betty Anders, president.

The council elected Dr. Helen LeBaron and Miss Mary Brown Allgood as faculty advisors to the council for this year.

A recommendation that proceeds from the annual Spring Carnival go to the Campus Chest was passed by the group and will be taken to cabinet. The proceeds from last year's carnival are still in a bank fund.

The council also decided to support cabinet plans for a central promotion agency which will handle promotion for the different organizations on campus on a non-profit basis.

Penn State Host to Financiers

Nearly 500 have registered for the 16th annual meeting of the municipal and local finance officers of Pennsylvania, to be held at the College today and tomorrow.

New state legislation concerning local health administration and local highway aid will be the main topic of discussion. Other subjects for discussion will be assessments, problems and progress in stream clearance, financing off-street parking, and municipal public relations.

The delegates will be welcomed at the opening session at 1:30 p.m. today by J. O. Keller, director of general extension at the College.

Participating in the session will be three members of the staff of the College's Institute of Local Government. They are Lee E. Corter, with a talk on Effective Municipal Public Relations; David L. Cowell as a consultant on special assessments, and Carl W. Wild as a consultant on planning and zoning.

The consultant on revision and ordinances will be Elizabeth Smedley of Penns Valley Publishers in State College.

The 12 state-wide associations of municipal and county officials, the institutes of local government at the Universities of Pennsylvania and Pittsburgh, as well as at Penn State, and the College's General Extension Services are sponsoring the meeting.

Rally Turnout Small To Send Off Team

A sparse band of loyal fans braved the cool, damp weather last night and turned out to give Rip Engle's football team a send off at an informal rally on the steps of Recreation Hall. The team departed for Lincoln, Neb. for Saturday's tilt with Nebraska last night.

Robert Whitman, acting cheerleader in Thomas Hanna's absence, said he was displeased with the poor turnout. Whitman said that even though a large demonstration had not been scheduled, the spirit and cooperation of the students should remain the same.

Fellowship Speaker

Dr. Raymond E. Gingrich will speak at the Bible Fellowship meeting at 7:30 tonight in 405 Old Main. His topic will be, "An Old Soldier's Valedictory." Dr. Gingrich is president of the Akron Bible Institute.

75 Physicists Will Attend Conference

Seventy-five physics teachers will attend the Pennsylvania Conference of College Physics Teachers at the College today and tomorrow in 117 Osmond.

This afternoon's session will include a presentation of contributed papers. A dinner at 6:30 tonight at the State College Hotel will be followed by an address by Dr. C. R. Carpenter, director of the Instructional Film Research Project at the College. He will speak on the subject, "Factors that make for the effectiveness of instructional films."

Tomorrow morning, Dr. Carpenter will lead a panel discussion on instructional films. Others on the panel are Dr. M. W. Zomansky, of the City College of New York, and president of the American Association of Physics Teachers, and Dr. J. J. Heileman of Ursinus College.

All sessions are open to faculty members.

Pershing Rifles Get View of Korean War

Members of Company B-5 of the Pershing Rifles were given a first-hand picture of the Korean war last night by M/Sgt. Earle J. Raedy, who has recently been assigned to ROTC here after service in Korea.

Raedy, using maps, showed the various battle positions and different phases of the war as seen by a front line soldier. A question period followed.

The company will hold a pledge smoker at 7 p.m. Wednesday in 2 and 3 Carnegie Hall.

Independent Seeks New Candidates

Candidates for the Independent are asked to report 3 p.m. Sunday to 9 Carnegie Hall for an organizational meeting.

Positions are open on the news, feature, sports, business, circulation, and photography staffs. The Independent is a bi-weekly newsletter published jointly by the Association of Independent Men and Leonides.

The first issue will appear next Thursday. Lavier Procopio has been appointed to the editorial staff.

EATING OUT?

Try One of the Many

Delicious Dinners

at

Irv's Restaurant

S. Pugh St.

PRETTY AS A PICTURE!

Be sure all your pictures are the best possible . . . Take them to the Centre County Film Laboratory for the best in foto finishing. Due to the purchase of the most modern equipment and the special skill of our lab technicians the Film Lab can give you a beautiful print the size of the above sample in one day for just 6c. Remember, in by 5:00 today and you get them back by 5:00 p.m. the following day. MAKE THE FILM LAB YOUR PHOTO HEADQUARTERS TODAY!

Centre Co. Film Lab.

122 W. Beaver Ave.

State College

20
Century-Fox presents

DAVID AND BATHSHEBA
TECHNICOLOR

starting
GREGORY PECK SUSAN HAYWARD

Begins Monday

Prices For This Engagement As Set By Producer!
ADULTS—MAT. 76c; EVE. $1.00 CHILDREN 25c

Mighty as Goliath!
Fiery as their love!