

'Bottoms Up' Opens Tonight at Schwab

Thespians open their 1951 season at 8 tonight in Schwab Auditorium with an original student musical comedy revue, "Bottoms Up."

Tickets for tonight's show, which also runs tomorrow and Homecoming night, can be purchased at the Student Union desk in Old Main. Many 90 cents tickets for tonight and $1.20 tickets for Friday are unsold, while a few tickets are still available for Saturday.

Weekend Plans Made For Alumni

Alumni returning for Penn State's 31st Homecoming Day this weekend, will find a full program which has been outlined by the College.

Registration of the "old grads" begins tomorrow in Recreation Hall and continues through Saturday morning. An alumni golf tournament is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon and Saturday morning.

Tomorrow night the ten honored gridders from the 1887 to 1901 and the 1926 teams will be the guests of the Varsity S club in Hamilton Hall.

Saturday morning the Alumni Council, governing body of the association, will hold its annual meeting. This will be followed by the alumni luncheon in Recreation Hall starting at 11:30 a.m.

Saturday's football game with Michigan State College will start at 1:30 p.m. instead of the usual 2 p.m. for home football games.

Saturday evening a cider party and dance will be held in Recreation Hall for the alumni.

Olympic Collection

Temporary end-zone tickets at $2.40 are still on sale in Old Main for the football game. The expected filling of these temporary stands will swell the normal seating capacity of 28,500 to 30,000, the largest crowd in Beaver Field history. Previous high was in 1948 when the same foes played a 14-14 tie before 24,500.

During the halftime of the game, 200 WRA girls will take a collection for the 1952 Olympics. The Penn State Olympic Contribution, like other similar drives throughout the country, will help send United States' athletes to Helsinki, Finland next summer.

AIM Publication To Appear Today

The first issue of the Independent, Association of Independent Men publication, will be distributed today in the men's and women's dormitories and downtown.

The issue will feature a lead editorial by Moylan Mills, editor, on the role of AIM in student government this year. Also in the issue will be a profile on John Laubach, AIM president, by Lee Stern, feature editor.

The Independent will follow new policies set last year by continuing to use photographs and keeping a circulation of 2000, Mills said.

Marshall Donley and Alvin Goodman have been added to the editorial staff.

TODAY'S WEATHER

FAIR AND WARMER

Gleesingers Open Show

Presented in conjunction with Masquerettes, "Bottoms Up" was written by Frank Lewis and Dave Weiner, and is under the direction of Ray Fortunato, Thespian director. Fortunato also wrote two songs for the production.

The two-act musical opens with the Gleesingers singing "Everybody's a Critic." Scene two has Jackie Cohen and Ed Korber singing "You Went and Did It Again." Scene three is a Rip Van Winkle skit with Dick Brown, Dick Brugger, Pat Marsteller, Betty Richardson, and Alan Miller doing the acting. Glee chorus and dancers will do the number "Kum Klein Kinder."

WSGA, WRA Finals Today

Final elections for four Women's Student Government Association and Women's Recreation Association offices will take place from 10 a.m. to 7 tonight.

Women will vote in their own living units, with the exception of those in Grange Hall and in cottages, who will vote in McAllister Hall.

Town women and women in co-ops can vote at any station. Home management women may vote in Woman's Building.

Candidates for WRA sophomore representative are Virginia Hinner and Patricia Colgan. Marcia Ferguson, Ellie Gwynn, Barbara Weyand, and Dorothy Williams are finalists for WRA freshman representatives.

Finalists for WSGA treasurer are Carolyn Peiczar and Barbara Werts and finalists for WSGA freshman senator are Ann Cunningham and Louise Glud.

This year's primary elections showed a 73 percent vote, as compared with 79 percent in last year's primaries. In the finals last year, 60 percent of women students voted.

Pep Rally Tomorrow Will Launch Homecoming

Cheers will echo in front of Old Main tomorrow night as Homecoming Weekend preparation reaches its peak with the fourth pep rally of the season.

A parade headed by the Blue Band will begin at 7:15 p.m. at the corner of Fairmount avenue and Allen street. It will proceed to the Mall where the band will march to Old Main.

The pep rally, scheduled to start at 7:30 p.m., will be made up of speeches, cheers, music and a skit.

Speakers for the pep rally will not be known until Friday. Thomas Hanna, head cheerleader, announced that President Milton S. Eisenhower, and Gov. John S. Fine were asked to speak, but that neither was available.

President Eisenhower has several conflicting meetings and Gov. Fine will not arrive in State College until Saturday.

Sam Marino, chairman of the pep rally committee, refused to disclose the type of skit to be performed, but said that "everyone would get his laughs." Also included in the program

Arthur C. Cloetingh

Drama Prof To Play Lead In 'Our Town'

Professor Arthur C. Cloetingh, head of the dramatics division, will play the lead role of the stage manager in the forthcoming Players' production of Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer prize-winning play, "Our Town."

The Wilder classic, a great hit on Broadway in 1938, will be presented by Players Nov. 8, 9, and 10 in Schwab auditorium.

Cloetingh, a veteran actor, appeared in the same role on campus in a 1944 Players' presentation.

Other featured roles were won by Morris Sarachek, who will portray Dr. Gibbs; Prim Diefenderfer, as Mrs. Gibbs; Shirley Gallagher, as Mrs. Webb; Rodney McLaughlin, as George Gibbs; Jolly Oswald, as Emily Webb; and Dick Anderson, as Editor Webb.

Robert D. Reitsneider, dramatics professor, will direct the play.

Other Players winning roles are Don Barton as Joe Crowell; Ivan Ladizinsky as Honre Newsome; and Mary Kozelnicky as Rebecca Gibbs. Bill Valmont plays Wally Webb, and Richard Neuweiler plays Professor Wilder.

AIM Will Probe Sale Of Rings

A committee to gather information regarding the discontinued sale of class rings by the Book Exchange was named last night by the Board of Governors of the Association of Independent Men.

Milton Bernstein, BX chairman, had announced earlier in the week that the sale of class rings would be discontinued pending investigation of the matter by the BX and the College administration.

John Stoudt, AIM vice president, was appointed chairman of the committee which includes Weston Tomlinson, president of Westcott Dorm Council, and Ralph Griffith, vice president of Westcott Dorm Council.

Discussion of the ring situation was added to the agenda by unanimous consent of the board. Tomlinson introduced the motion before the board and it was passed unanimously.

Members of the board quoted a report by Wilmer Kenworthy, director of student affairs, in yesterday's Daily Collegian that "certain questions" had been raised over the matter, and suggested that the committee meet with Bernstein and Kenworthy in an attempt to learn for the board the nature of the "questions."

The board also empowered a committee to make arrangements to send delegates to a regional convention of the National Independent Students Association.

The region, of which the campus AIM is a member, is the east- (Continued on page eight)

State Party To Nominate Clique Officers

Preliminary nominations for State Party All-College, freshman, and sophomore clique officers will be held at the first party meeting at 7 p.m. Sunday in 10 Sparks, Murray Goldman, clique chairman, said yesterday.

Party organization, committee openings, and work done by the various committees will be discussed at the meeting.

Voting cards cannot be obtained until a student attends two party meetings. Attendance records are kept to eliminate non-members from voting, a system used successfully last spring, Goldman said.

Thomas Farrell, ward committee head, explained that both town and the campus are divided into units with leaders and committee members who have personal contact with students. Better student government and recognition of students' wishes are afforded by this system, Farrell said.

Both Goldman and Farrell stressed the fact that lower class members will be placed on committees because they are the people who ultimately will manage the party.

Inkling Material

Material for the forthcoming issue of Inkling, campus literary magazine, is still being accepted. All material may be turned in at the Student Union desk in Old Main addressed to Bud Fenton, Inkling Editor. Material may include essays, fiction, and poetry.

Inter-Fraternity Council last night issued suspensions to Pi Lambda Phi and Kappa Sigma fraternities for violating the pledging code. The suspensions will go into effect Sunday.

Pi Lambda Phi received a four-week suspension for pledging two men who had averages below one. It was ordered that the men be depledged and be moved out of the house.

Kappa Sig Suspension

Kappa Sigma was suspended from the IFC for a two-week period because it had pledged a man who was a hardship and scholastic problem. A more lenient penalty was given because the house had notified the IFC and the dean of men's office when it learned of the violation. The man is to be depledged but will be allowed to remain in the house.

A suspension from IFC results in a social probation period for the houses involved. In these cases, however, both houses will be allowed to participate in intramural sport and in the IFC workshop.

Civic Committee Set

The council also approved the establishment of a civic responsibility committee designed to coordinate and expand the activities of Penn State fraternities. Joseph Lemyre, Sigma Chi, was appointed chairman of the committee by Stanley Wengert, IFC president. Robert Fitzpatrick, Sigma Chi, who worked on plans for the committee, said that it would exemplify the fraternity's awareness of its civic responsibility, prove to "outsiders" that an interest in civic responsibilities does exist in the fraternities, and aid in eliminating unfavorable publicity and securing favorable notice for the fraternities.

Housing Functions

Assistant Dean of Men H. W. Perkins told the council that the Department of Housing would make available rooms in the Pollock Circle area to help ease the housing situation caused by the Homecoming Weekend. He said assignments to rooms would be made on a first come, first served basis.

Kendall Tomlinson, chairman of the lawn display committee, reported that Wilmer E. Kenworthy, director of student affairs; H. K. Wilson, dean of men; and Dr. J. R. Bracken of the Horticulture department would be the judges of the fraternity lawn display. Judging will start at 7 p.m. Friday and the winning house will be awarded the cup at the alumni luncheon in Recreation Hall Saturday noon.

Lion Party to Elect All-College Chairman

The Lion party members will meet at 7 tonight in 119 Osmond Laboratory to discuss plans for reorganization and elect an All-College chairman to succeed Milton Bernstein who resigned his post as clique chairman Tuesday.

Bernstein will explain plans for reorganization and act as temporary chairman until a new chairman is elected. Any student interested in Lion party politics may attend.
