

Gridders Prep for Spartans; Anders Will Miss Contest

Shopa Replaces Injured Fullback For MS Game

Penn State's hopes for an upset over Michigan State this Saturday were dimmed somewhat yesterday when the Lions learned that their number one fullback Paul Anders will be missing from the lineup.

Alfred H. "Doc" Greiss, team physician, said yesterday that Anders suffered a fractured rib cartilage in the Nebraska game and will probably be out of action for two weeks. He will miss the Michigan State game and probably the West Virginia contest.

Good Shape

Aside from Anders, Penn State is expected to be at full strength for the Homecoming game on Beaver Field.

With Anders out, the starting fullback job will go to Pete Shopa, five-foot, eight-inch, 172 pound sophomore. Shopa has proven himself at the bucking post despite his size. In the three games the Lions have played, Shopa has scored four touchdowns to tie Ted Shattuck for top scoring honors.

Yesterday afternoon, Coach Rip Engle sent the Lion gridgers through a long practice session in preparation for Saturday's game.

Powerful Offense

Recognizing the fact that his team will be up against one of the most explosive offensive teams in the nation in the Spartans, Rip had the Lions working a great deal to improve their defense.

As the Spartans run from almost every formation in the books, the Nittany gridgers will have a doubly tough job this weekend with their defense which they will have to pattern to stop three variations of the T-formation, the single wing, and the double wing.

Pass Defense

In preparation, the Lion pass defenders went through a long drill against an offensive backfield which worked from all the formations. Tony Rados and Bob Szajna got in some passing practice while the pass defenders were sharpening their defense.

The whole squad went to work against the blocking machines before practicing some kickoff returns.

The spirit of the team as a whole seems to be picking up as each day goes by. The blocking and tackling is getting hard and sharp and the men are showing that they really mean business with the Michigan State game only two days away.

Engle is expected to put the Lions through their last contact work today with a light practice session scheduled for Friday.

Michigan State will stay in Philipsburg and work out there tomorrow.

Louis, Marciano Bout To Be Home Televised

NEW YORK, Oct. 17—(AP)—Seven television manufacturers have joined with the Gillette Razor Co. to foot the bill for rights to put the Joe Louis-Rocky Marciano boxing bout Oct. 26 on home television, it was disclosed today.

It marks the second time that set makers have joined forces to assure home viewers of seeing a top sports event, which might otherwise have been seen exclusively on theater TV as has happened on a number of recent major bouts. The first time was for the Ezzard Charles-Joe Wolcott fight.

Big Job for Little Guy . . .

COACH RIP ENGLE tells Pete Shopa, Lion fullback, that he will have to carry most of the load at the fullback spot this Saturday against Michigan State. Regular fullback Paul Anders is injured and will miss the Homecoming game. Shopa weighs only 172 pounds and stands 5 feet 8 inches tall. He is currently tied with Ted Shattuck for the scoring lead with 24 points.

Post-Season Assignment

Rip Engle, Penn State mentor, is a member of the North coaching staff for the Blue-Gray post-season grid game at Montgomery, Ala.

Penn State and Navy will be seeking to get back on the winning side Saturday when the two clubs collide at Annapolis.

Both clubs lost their last games. State dropped a 4-1 decision to Army while the Midshipmen bowed to Princeton, 5-3, in overtime. The Middies now possess the better record with a 2-1 log. Coach Bill Jeffrey's charges, on the other hand, have split in their two contests.

Typical Navy Team

Coach Floyd (Glenn) Warner, starting his sixth year as the Middle soccer coach, will open with a typical Navy team. A fast, aggressive, and well conditioned. Navy, however, will be decidedly lacking in experience since eight of its first eleven from last season have been graduated.

The Middies will also be seeking revenge for a 1-0 win State scored over them last year. The loss was one of four sustained by Navy, all by one-goal margins. Both clubs played Gettysburg last season. The Lions defeated Gettysburg 5-2, and Navy downed the Bullets 5-1.

Warner, a former All-American soccer player at Springfield, Mass., College in 1931 and 1932, will probably open with six seniors, four juniors, and one sophomore. Navy's scoring threat will be Captain Gordon Jayne, who will open at left wing. Jayne was practically the whole offensive show for the Midshipmen against Princeton, scoring two of the three Navy tallies, including a penalty kick with three seconds left that tied the game.

Other lettermen who are expected to start in addition to Jayne all will play on the left side with the exception of Bob Kampe, a senior, who will handle the center halfback post. John McKeown and Bob Michaels, both seniors, will take care of the other two posts of inside left and left halfback.

The Lions came out of the Army match in poor condition. Jack Pinezich and Frank Follmer, two mainstays of the team, will probably play although both are not in good shape. Pinezich suffered a pulled back muscle, while Follmer required two stitches in his head from a bad cut. Hap Irvin, left wing, is also a doubtful starter as a result of a twisted ankle in practice.

Dons Tops in Defense

NEW YORK, Oct. 17—(AP)—The unbeaten San Francisco Dons are the toughest major college football team in the nation to gain ground against, according to NCAA statistics.

San Francisco moved front and center as the top defenders when Holy Cross fell from the top rung. In fact, Holy Cross fell right out of the top 10 as a result of Tulane's job of rolling up 397 yards rushing and passing against the Crusaders last Saturday.

The Dons, coming east for a Saturday date with Fordham here, have allowed four rivals an average of 139.3 yards by both rushing and passing. Along the ground, they gave up only a skimpy 40 yards per game. Wisconsin, second to San Francisco, in both total and rushing defense, held three top flight opponents to an average total gain of 155.3 yards. This was accomplished against Illinois, Ohio State and Marquette.

Denver moved into third place in total defense by its performances against Montana and New Mexico. Montana gained only 11 yards on Denver and New Mexico 142 yards.

Purdue is the top pass defender with a per game yield of 45 yards to three opponents. Wisconsin will send Johnny Coatta's short-passing talents against the Purdue record Saturday.
