Fine to Watch

Penn State's 31st annual Homecoming today will turn State College into a one-day "boom town" with the largest number of people ever to crowd into the borough anticipated.

Approximately 30,000 persons, including Gov. John S. Fine, are expected to pack Beaver Field to see the Lion football team play Michigan State.

two teams that play today.

Coverage of Game

With more alumni expected back than ever before, all the hotels in Bellefonte, Philipsburg, and State College have been booked for weeks. Private homes in Boalsburg, Center Hall, Pine Grove Mills and other surrounding towns have accepted weekend boarders to ease the heavy demand for rooms.

Hatmen Participation At Game Requested

Hatmen were asked yesterday to gather at the 50-yard line on the Penn State side of Beaver Field at 1:20 p.m., ten minutes before the start of the Penn State-Michigan State football game.

The request was made by Maryin Krasnansky, Hat Society Council president. Krasnansky asked all hatmen to participate in the traditional cordon made for the football team by members of the men's hat societies.

"Oct. 20 will be the biggest day in Penn State football," Krasnansky said, "and I would also like to make tomorrow's cordon the longest yet seen on Beaver Field."

James Wharton, president of Parmi Nous, will be in charge of the cordon.
