No Way Found To Bring Back 4 Other Sports

Varsity golf, one of five sports dropped from the College athletic program last May, has been restored, Dr. Carl P. Schott, dean of the School of Physical Education and Athletics, announced yesterday.

The sport had been dropped along with rifle, fencing, swimming and skiing in a move described as an economy measure to offset the almost certain loss in income which would result from an expected reduction in enrollment.

The reinstatement was made

Golf Coach

known by Dean Schott in a conference yesterday afternoon with the coaches and captains of the five sports involved. He said that the economic situation had been re-examined in the months since the five sports had been dropped, and that no way had been found to restore the complete program at this time.

It will be a matter of weeks, however, before it will be possible to determine whether or not a full schedule for the 1951 golf season can be arranged, according to H. R. Gilbert, graduate manager of athletics. He said he is now trying to contact Penn State's traditional rivals in the hope of arranging a schedule.

Finished Seventh

Under the direction of Coach Bob Rutherford Jr., the Lion golf team last season finished with a record of six wins and three losses, losing twice to Georgetown and once to Navy.

The Lions also entered the Eastern Intercollegiate Golf tournament last spring, and turned in a 665 card to finish in a seventh place tie with a Georgetown team they had previously beaten 7-0.

Leonides Heads To Be Elected

Leonides, independent women's organization, will hold elections from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. tomorrow for the offices of president and vice president.

Voting boxes will be placed in Atherton, Simmons, McElwain, Thompson, and McAllister dormitories. Girls in Womans Building and the cottages will vote in McAllister.

The offices were vacated when President Doris Sher transferred to the University of Tennessee and vice president Alice Hennessey resigned.

Edna Baylson and Vivian Peterson are the candidates for president. Betty Johnson and Janet Magrini will run for the office of vice president.

Posters with pictures of the girls will be placed at the voting places.

The elections committee, with Muriel Amsel as chairman, will supervise the voting.

Committee members are Barbara Mancini, Grace Hampel, Maggie Meyer, Mildred Martin, Marcy McDonald, Sandra Gonchar and Hilda Hogeland.

2 Foreign Delegates Open UN Week Today

Nuri Eren, a member of the Turkish delegation to the United Nations, and Dr. Jan-Albert Goris, a member of the Belgian delegation to UNESCO, will discuss "United Nations—Debating Club or True Peacemaker?" at 8 tonight in 121 Sparks as United Nations Week opens on campus with a celebration of United Nations Day.

Dr. William H. Gray, professor of Latin-American history and chairman of the All-College Committee on International Understanding, will preside at the lectures which will be followed by a discussion period. The lectures are open to the public.

Was Press Attache

Eren is director of the Turkish Information Office in the United States. Before accepting the position, he was employed by the Ministry of Commerce in Ankara and as counselor at the Prime Ministry. Later, he was named a press attache in London. He has represented Turkey at various international conferences, including the United Nations since 1946.

Goris has been commissioner of information for Belgium in the United States since 1941. He has published many books on historical, artistic, and literary subjects in Dutch, French, and English. Some of those published in English include "Belgium in Bondage," "Strangers Should Not Whisper," and "Growth of the Belgium Nation."

Marshall Plan Films

Tomorrow's program for United Nations Week includes a series of three different films on the Marshall Plan in action. These films, (Continued on page eight)

Tribunal Gives Two Students Traffic Fines

Tribunal last night fined two men students and gave another a suspended fine for infractions of campus traffic regulations.

One student, a seventh-semester senior, was given a suspended fine of $1 for driving on Pollock Road between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. Student driving on campus is not permitted during class hours.

Another, a third-semester student, was fined $2 for continuous illegal parking and ignoring Campus Patrol warnings. He claimed patrol officers used illegal methods to see him in that they went off campus and into his fraternity house to talk to him.

A first-semester freshman was fined $1 for double parking in the Thompson Hall area and for driving on Pollock road during class hours. He claimed he could not get to class on time if he walked. He said he had to go from Recreation Hall to Temporary Building in ten minutes.

Lists of the traffic rules on campus will be sent to all fraternities and all living units in an attempt to get all students acquainted with the regulations, David Mutchler, tribunal chairman, said.

Open Forum To Discuss Loyalty Oath

The Pechan loyalty oath will be discussed at a public forum sponsored by the Graduate Students Association at 8 tonight in 117 Osmond.

Neal Riemer, professor of political science; Jo Hayes, supervisor of State College schools; Guy Mills, former professor on military science and justice of the peace; and Scott Keyes, professor of economics, will speak.

Passed by Senate

The Pechan bill, which would require all employees of every state supported institution to sign an oath of loyalty to the state and federal governments, has been passed by the Pennsylvania Senate and by a House committee.

Faculty members of the College along with those from the University of Pittsburgh, the (Continued on page eight)

Family Feeding Survey Results Are Published

The results of a year-long survey on family feeding conducted with the aid of a faculty member at the College have been revealed in the November issue of McCall's magazine.

Dr. Pauline Beery Mack, assisted by her staff at the College and experts from other colleges, helped conduct a study of an 18-family cross-section of this country to discover if the families ate "as they should."

Dr. Henrietta Fleck, New York University; Dr. Doretta Schalhoff, University of Nebraska; and Dean Velma Phillips, Washington State College, worked with Dr. Mack in the study.

Results of the work are now appearing in an article entitled "Come On, America, Let's Eat!" in that issue of the magazine.

Dr. Mack is director of the Ellen H. Richards Institute and professor of household chemistry at the College.

Council Nominations Open Until Friday

Nominations for student council representatives in seven of the College's eight schools are open until 5 p.m. Friday, Edward Shanken, president of the Inter-Student Council Board, announced yesterday.

All nominations except those for the Engineering Student Council, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day.

Council representatives nominated this week will be elected Oct. 30-31.

The School of Agriculture is the only school which will not have representatives nominated. The Ag school nominates and elects its representatives through school clubs.

LA to Elect Freshmen

Two freshmen representatives will be elected to the Chemistry-Physics Student Council. The representatives must have an all-College average of at least 1 at the end of the semester. Once elected, the representative remains on the Chem-Phys council throughout his college years.

Four freshmen will be elected to the Liberal Arts Student council. Each individual nominated in the School of Liberal Arts must obtain 25 LA freshman signatures.

Any registered undergraduate Home Economics student who has attained an all-College average of 1 or better will be eligible for membership in the council.

Report to Department

Twelve positions are open in the Engineering Student Council. A freshman and sophomore from each of the six departments will be elected.

Each engineering student council nominee must be reported to the department in which he is enrolled.

Two freshmen representatives will be elected to the Education (Continued on page eight)

Sophomore Meeting

Sophomore class colors, dance, and a football rally will be discussed at a class meeting at 8 tonight in 105 White Hall.

Turk, Wife To Lecture At Festival

Nezih Manyas, assistant director of the Turkish Information Office in New York City, will give an illustrated talk on his country as part of the life in Turkey feature of the International Festival to be held Saturday and Sunday in the School of Home Economics.

Mrs. Manyas, assisted by Fait Atila, a Turkish student at the College, will demonstrate Turkish cooking.

Traveled Widely

Manyas will speak at 4 and 8:30 p.m. Saturday and 3 p.m. Sunday. The Turkish food demonstration will be given at 7 p.m. Saturday and 4:30 p.m. Sunday.

Educated in London and Istanbul, Manyas has traveled widely. Speaking four languages, he has been in charge of Radio Ankara's foreign language broadcasts where he personally edited and read the news in English. His "Talks on Turkey" have been a regular feature of the Ankara program since 1939.

Joins With UN Week

Mrs. Manyas is a graduate of Constantinople Women's College at Istanbul.

The festival will be held in conjunction with the United Nations Week celebration and the Turkish feature is important as Turkey recently entered the Atlantic Pact nations.

Pledge Cards To Be Mailed To Commuters

Students who commute to the College and will not be reached by solicitors for this year's Campus Chest drive will have pledge cards mailed to their homes, Murray Goldman, solicitation chairman, said yesterday.

This year's Campus Chest opens a two-week drive for $12,000 on Saturday.

Commuters who receive cards in the mail and wish to pledge to the drive may turn their pledges in to the Penn State Christian Association office, 304 Old Main. Cash donations will also be accepted.

Students may either pledge or give cash to the drive. Those who pledge support will have that amount added to their second semester fees.

Members of men's hat societies and Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, will aid in downtown solicitations, Goldman said.

Solicitation chaimen and dormitory heads for the drive will meet at 4:30 p.m. today in the presidential mansion for a tea with President Milton S. Eisenhower.

Plans for faculty solicitations to this year's drive are being handled by Rev. Luther Harshbarger, College chaplain.

Miss Junior Class

Sponsors of entries for Miss Junior Class are requested to leave pictures at the Student Union Desk in Old Main this week.

The name and address should be included on the back of the picture.

Dram 61 Films Tonight

Two films, "Target for Tonight" and "The Memphis Belle," will be shown at 7 tonight in 119 Osmond for students in Dramatics 61.
