State Will Try For Third Win Of '51 Season

By ERNIE MOORE

Penn State's football team will go after its third victory of the season this afternoon when the Nittany Lions meet West Virginia University on Beaver Field. Kickoff time is 1:30 p.m.

The second annual Band Day will be celebrated before today's game. Twenty-four high school bands will participate in pre-game ceremonies starting at 12:30 p.m. The West Virginia University band will also perform today as will Penn State's Blue Band. Frosh, Sophs Help

West Virginia comes to the Nittany Vale in search of its fifth win of the season and its third straight victory. The Mountaineers, coached by Art Lewis, have been beaten only once. Washington & Lee, last year's Southern Conference champion, handed the Mountaineers their lone setback, 34-0.

With only 11 lettermen returning from last year's squad which won three games, Lewis, in his second year as head coach of the Morgantown school, wasn't figured to come up with too tough a ball club this season. But with a group of good sophomores up from last year's crack freshman squad and some talented freshmen, Lewis seems to have a winning combination.

Whipped Lions in '44

In their first game of the season, the Mountaineers defeated Waynesburg College. Furman fell, 18-7. Washington & Lee stopped the Mountaineers' streak at two. But Lewis' squad bounced right back the next weekend to down Richmond, 24-0, and last Saturday walloped Geneva College, 89-0.

STATE COLLEGE, PA., SATURDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 27, 1951

$12,000 Set For Two-Week Campaign Goal

The second annual Campus Chest drive officially opens its two week campaign for funds today. This year's goal will be $12,000.

The Chest, a combination drive for nine agencies, will be the only fund-soliciting campaign on the campus this year. Before the inception of last year, the Chest separate drives were conducted by each agency. Last year's drive missed its goal of $14,000 by $3500.

During the drive, students will be solicited in town and on campus. Those who wish to pledge support will have the amount added to their second semester fees. Cash will also be accepted.

Organizations to Get Funds

Pledge cards will be mailed to commuting students according to William Klisanin, chairman of the Campus Chest. The cards with contributions should be returned to 304 Old Main. Students who are missed in the two week drive may secure pledge cards at that office.

Organizations which will receive funds from this year's drive and the percentage of the income they will receive are the Penn State Christian Association, 46 percent; World Student Service Fund, 12 percent; Scholargram program, 8 percent; Leo Houck Cancer Fund, Women's Student Government Association Christmas party, March of Dimes, Heart Fund, and Salvation Army, six percent each; and State College Community Fund, one percent. Operating expenses will consume three percent of the drive's income.

Milton Bernstein and Walter Sachs are in charge of publicity. Chairman in charge of publicity material distribution for the (Continued on page eight)

300 Attend Pep Rally At Old Main

Approximately 300 students were on hand last night to witness Penn State's fifth football pep rally of the season. The rally took place in front of Old Main.

The rally featured songs by the College Blue Band, cheers, and a skit put on by Richard Hartle, master of ceremonies and Ross Lytle, who posed as a West Virginia student with a fancy fling for guitar music.

Hillbilly Background

Lytle set the audience laughing with a rendition of a hillbilly song pertaining to "old mountain dew." The audience also helped out in the chorus.

Following a selection by the band and a cheer, Lytle then gave forth with "Blue and White," accompanied by a hillbilly background and Hartle.

No Speakers

Three coeds dressed as animals, advertising the Mardi Gras, were also included in the rally. The "animals" carried a large white cloth with the letters "Mardi Gras—Nov. 2."

The rally lasted but 20 minutes, somewhat shorter than most rallies, because there were no speakers.

Coeds Whoop It Up

COED CHEERLEADERS and members of Motar Board, senior women's hat society, let go with a husky feminine cheer for the Nittany Lion football team at the pep rally last night. The Lions meet West Virginia today on New Beaver Field.

Band Day Program Features Parade

Penn State's second annual Band Day program will get underway at 12:30 p.m. today on Beaver Field.

Invitations were issued to 56 bands throughout the state, of which 24 accepted. Prof. Hummel Fishburn, director of the program, said that the basis of invitation was that each band director must have earned at least one of his degrees in music here at the College.

A parade starting at 10 a.m. today will take the bands through both town and campus. It will begin at Beaver Field, go down Burrowes avenue, turn left at the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity house, then right on Shortlidge road to College avenue, and then west on College to Burrowes again.

Bands Play en Masse

The pre-game mass formation will be a giant PSC which will include over 1500 players and majorettes. Since there was difficulty in finding a system which would take only one practice to grasp, members of the State College High School band will be stationed at various spots on the field to serve as markers for the (Continued on page eight)

Huber to Play At Ball Tonight

The Belle Hop Ball, an annual informal dance sponsored by the Pennsylvania Junior Greeters, will be held from 9 to midnight tonight in Recreation Hall.

Jack Huber and his orchestra will play for the dance. Tickets are available at the Hotel Administration department in the Home Economics Building, at the Corner Room, or from any hotel administration student. Tickets are $2.40 per couple.

The final selection of the Belle Hop queen will take place at the ball. Applause will determine the winner. Judges will be James Worth, All-College president, John Lee, manager of the Nittany Lion Inn; and R. A. Bower, professor of hotel administration. Marilyn Franklin, last year's winner, will crown the queen.

School Council Officers Report Few Nominations

Few nominations for student council representatives have been turned in for the seven schools holding elections, according to the respective council presidents.

The Engineering school was without freshmen and sophomore nominees in the Architectural Engineering department and without freshmen nominees in Electrical, Aeronautical, Industrial, and Civil Engineering.

In order to obtain freshmen nominees in the respective departments of Engineering the council will talk to the freshmen at a lecture on Monday. The council will also try the same method to obtain sophomore and freshman Architectural Engineering nominations.

Home Ec Nominees

The Education council nominations have been held over until 12 noon today because of the small number of nominations turned in.

Home Economics nominees are Mary Lynch, Marian Romberger, Gail Green, Lee Weber, Janice Holm, Joanne Sherts, Elaine Tocht, Esther Weiss, Carolyn Werts, Maggie Myers, Polly Moore, Rita Gillb, Loraine Schaeffer, and William Shifflett.

Two freshmen, Merle Brubaker and Joseph Price, and a sophomore, John Smith, were nominated for the Mechanical Engineering council.

Sophomore nominees in Electrical Engineering are Bryan Troutman, James Shirey, William Jost, and Richard Dorshimer; in Aeronautical Engineering: Robert Hess and Frank Leader, in Industrial Engineering; James Hand and Robert Collins.

The Liberal Arts School council has three freshmen nominees: Catherine Stark, Leonard Goodman, and Alexander Ayers.

Candidates for the two freshmen positions in the Chemistry and Physics Student Council are Harry Blacic, William Warrender, George Tice, Angelo Collura, Marvin Daley, Neil Walp, Robert Toepfer, Edward Senyter, David Meckler, Freda Lozanoff, John Mallicke, John Mallinoski, Charles Stone, Dick Bouchet, Paul Austin, John Pesivak, Stokes Lazarus, Charles Leech, and Clarke David.

Mineral Industry freshmen council nominees are Richard Taglang, Roy Brunjes, William Boyce, and Jose Schmidt.

Gayle Thruh, Beate Maron, and Patricia Gilbert, are the women nominees to the Physical Education student council. The men's names were not available.

Elections for Physical Education will be held in White Hall and Recreation Hall, while the lobby of the Home Economics Building will be the site for Home Economics elections.

Lion, State Parties Will Hold Meetings

Both the Lion and State parties will meet tomorrow night in Sparks as the Nov. 15 freshman and sophomore class elections draw near.

The State Party, which will meet at 7 p.m. in 10 Sparks, will hold final nominations and elections of class clique officers and will open preliminary nominations for class officer candidates.

Evert to Name Advisers

The Lion Party, which will meet at the same time in 121 Sparks, will open nominations for class officer candidates. Class clique officers were elected last Sunday. The Lion Party began to organize a week before the first State Party meeting.

Ray Evert, Lion Party clique chairman, said the completion of freshman and sophomore class cliques will be carried out with the election of two members-at-large for each class. He will also name a board of senior advisers for the elections.

Amole Announces Raffle

Robert Amole, State Party clique chairman, said there will be no more steering committee nominations. All nominations will be made from the floor.

He also announced that the party will begin selling chances on a $25 Defense Bond in order to obtain operating funds for the party. The winner will be announced Tuesday, Nov. 13.

Campaign Begins Nov. 12

Evert reminded students to attend tomorrow's meeting and the Nov. 4 meeting if they desire to become Lion Party members. Only party members are permitted to vote for party nominees for class offices.

Campaigns will begin Nov. 12 and will conclude the evening before the election.
