

Turk Official Cites Republic's Advances

By SHIRLEY VANDEVER

Nezih Manyas, assistant director of the Turkish Information Office in New York, in his illustrated lecture at the International Festival Saturday and Sunday pointed out the many advances that Turkey has made since it was founded as a republic in 1923.

A series of three similar talks on Turkey, given by Manyas on Saturday afternoon and evening and Sunday, was one of the important features of the festival.

Manyas pointed out that the emancipated women of Turkey are playing an increasingly important part in all aspects of Turkish life. This is especially evidenced, he said, by the fact that 13 women serve on the Turkish parliament. This is the largest number of women of any national governing body in the world, Manyas added.

Strategic Position

Manyas explained that Turkey has advanced enough in education to make it free, from the grades to the doctorate. Each year Turkey sends 700 of her students to the United States to receive educational training. Seven of these students are at Penn State now, he said.

He explained Turkey's strategic position in world affairs by pointing out that it is next to Russia in Asia and Bulgaria in Europe.

The talk on Turkey, moving pictures on the Belgian Congo, singing of folk songs, demonstrations of foreign household gadgets, and a display of foreign costumes were features repeated both Saturday and Sunday afternoons and Sunday evening.

Scholarship Fund

In addition, the festival included programs that were given only at one time. These included a talk on today's Japan given Saturday afternoon, a talk about Europe and a demonstration of two South American dances Saturday evening. A lecture on life in India was given on Sunday afternoon.

The festival was planned by the international committee of the School of Home Economics to raise money for the foreign scholarship fund.

WRA-IM Schedule

Table Tennis

Tuesday

6:30 Phi Sigma Sigma vs Kappa Kappa Gamma. Chi Omega vs Phi Mu.

7:15 Sigma Delta Tau vs Co-op. Beta Sigma Omicron vs Alpha Chi Omega.

8:00 Kappa Alpha Theta vs Theta Phi Alpha. Alpha Epsilon Phi vs Alpha Xi Delta.

Basketball

Tuesday

7:00 Delta Gamma vs Delta Zeta. Kappa Delta vs Zeta Tau Alpha.

8:00 Gamma Phi Beta vs Delta Delta Delta. Alpha Omicron Pi vs Thompson A.

Bio-forum Speaker

Dr. Hubert Frings will talk on effects of radio waves on fruits and insects at the Bio-forum meeting at 4:15 p.m. tomorrow in 214 Frear Laboratory.

Belle Hop Queen

JEAN MASTIN, new Belle Hop Ball queen, is crowned at Saturday night's ball by Marilyn Franklin, last year's winner.

Spring Grads In Air ROTC To Be Called

College students enrolled in the AROTC will be called to active duty within 90 days after graduation, according to an announcement by Lt. Col. Jack W. Dieterle, professor of air science and tactics at the College.

The call will affect those students who have had no previous military service and who complete baccalaureate degree requirements in AROTC between Jan. 1 and March 23, 1952. The Air Force is presently determining its requirements for spring of 1952 graduates, and an announcement concerning military service for these graduates will be made at least four months before graduation, the release stated. An estimated 1100 students will be eligible.

Following graduation last June, approximately 5000 newly commissioned graduates of the '51 AROTC class were called to active military duty.

Coal Operators To Meet Here

Reports on research projects will be made by College staff members to more than 100 coal operators at the sixth Technical Conference of the Central Pennsylvania Coal Producers' Association being held here today.

Various demonstrations are being conducted this morning as part of an open house at the Coal Combustion Laboratory.

Dr. A. W. Gauger, director of the Mineral Industries Experiment Station, will open the afternoon program with a resume of the cooperative research program conducted for the association.

Research reports will be presented by Dr. C. C. Wright, professor of fuel technology; Robert J. Grace, assistant professor of fuel technology, and Theodore S. Spicer, associate professor of fuels technology.

The program will close with a dinner at the Nittany Lion Inn at 5:30 p.m.

Phys Ed Council

The Physical Education Council will meet at 6:15 p.m. tomorrow in the main lounge of Old Main. After the meeting pictures will be taken for La Vie.

WRA Sports Second Week Underway

Intramural activity in White Hall began its second week with table tennis and basketball still featured. In one of the closest games yet played, the Town Girls came from behind in the third quarter to take a 22-19 basketball game. The Co-op edged a victory from Ath West, 36-31, in another keenly fought contest with Whitney, tallying 28 of the winner's points.

Continuing the high scoring spree, Graves with a total of 27 points, led McAllister as they soundly trounced Ath East 32-8. In another one-sided scoring game, Leonides overwhelmed Women's Building 34-11. Gleim took the scoring honors for the evening by garnering 29 tallies for the winners.

Table tennis results found Thompson B overcoming Simmons, Alpha Gamma Delta stopping Ath East, and Ath West winning over McAllister. The other scheduled games saw Leonides forfeiting to Women's Building, the Town Girls to McElwain, and Thompson A. to Thompson C.

Harvey, Kelly Promoted To Froth Junior Board

Andrew Harvey and Frank Kelly, members of the Froth staff, were promoted to junior board, it was announced yesterday by Anne Hibbs, promotion director of Froth.

Those promoted to sophomore board were Walter Doran, Howard Giles, Lee Harrison, Katharine Mason, Grace Metford, Ann Patterson, Adith Raak, Lolita Robinson, Joan Rosenberger, and Eileen Wandel.

No Parking --

(Continued from page three) we've moved back 30 years.

Then one day, the stone obelisk, legend or no, will fall, and be reduced in a pile of stone—and presto—we're back in the 1800's. Confederate flags and a rebel All-College president have already taken us back to the days of the Civil War.

The linotype machines used by the Daily Collegian break down, and we're back to the days of Gutenberg and hand set type.

You see how easily it could happen, so let's not bother with the details, but get down to brass tacks—or, as the historians would have it, stone tacks.

We're back in the paleolithic period. All that can be heard are the bells of Old Main chiming backwards (they play "How Dry I Am").

Men in black uniforms known as the Pampus Patrol pace up and down in front of the caves the women live in, watching for gorillas and the like who come from homes to the east of the caves. We can't call them wooden because it isn't time yet.

A few women are gathered around a large stone tablet which has the day's news chiseled on it. It seems the Empire finally got a press, but too late to do any good. Anyway, the headlines on the "Stony Coliseum" read "No, I won't run—Ike" "You'd better not—Bob," and tell of other up-to-the-minute events.

Off to the west, but not too far off, a mighty roar fills the air. Today, the Nittany Lion roars, for somebody is tickling him, or her, or whatever it is.

A strange man, balding slightly, walks about mumbling something that sounds like, "The five values of education, as I see them..."

"As we go on, familiar landmarks of the campus can be distinguished, but the sight is one that fills us with awe and amazement that the once-mighty Empire could be reduced to this.

If you stop and think, you realize that such a backsliding is not impossible, but that it can be avoided.

How? It is a stern decision, but one that must be made. Ukes, rebel presidents, and no-parking signs must go, else—it's back to the paleolithic period for all of us.

Co-Edits

Theta Chi

Theta Chi held a party Saturday for fathers of chapter members. Following the football game, the fathers were honored at a banquet and stag party.

Zeta Tau Alpha

Zeta Tau Alpha initiated Mrs. Mary Engle, Mrs. Jean Forster, Mrs. Dorothy Gullo, and Elizabeth McDowell Sunday afternoon.

A banquet honoring the new initiates was held at the State College Hotel Sunday night. Guests of honor were Pearl O. Weston, dean of women, and Mary Brewer, her assistant.

Dean Jackson Home

Lyman E. Jackson, dean of the School of Agriculture, who was taken to the Geisinger Memorial Hospital in Danville Oct. 8, for surgery, has returned to his home in State College.

BE SURE YOU RATE A "3" IN APPEARANCE AT THE PROM

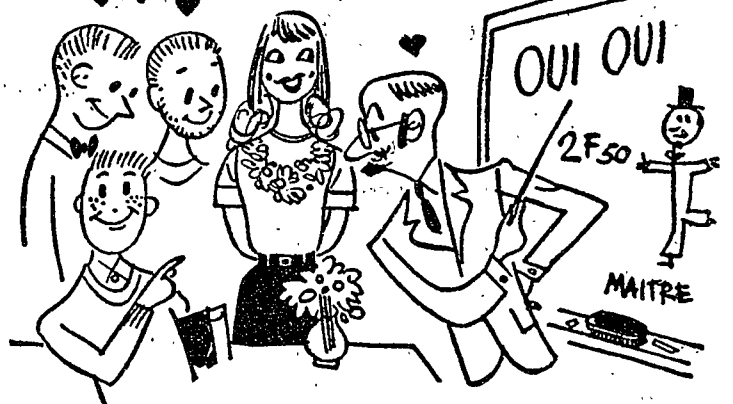

Experienced Hair Stylists
Specializing in Modern Hair Cuts

RAND BEAUTY SALON

Daily 9 to 3
Thurs. Eve. by appt.

Phone 4229
139 Frazier Street

Majoring in FRENCH?

Mais oui, Mam'selle, you'll be tres chic in a jolie Judy Bond! These blouses combine Paris inspired styling with wonderful American value...terrific in any language!

Judy Bond BLOUSES

AT BETTER STORES EVERYWHERE

See them in Altoona at the WM. F. GABLE CO.
Judy Bond, Inc., 1375 Broadway, New York 18, N. Y.

NITTANY

• NOW PLAYING •
DOORS OPEN AT 2:45

Presenting
William Shakespeare's

"A Midsummer Night's Dream"

With an All Star Cast Including ..

JAMES CAGNEY
OLIVIA DeHAVILAND
HUGH HERBERT

Be a DuBarry Beauty

Miss Arnold from Richard Hudnut Beauty Salon here to tell you how

Miss Harriet Arnold, direct from New York's famous Richard Hudnut Beauty Salon, is here for one precious week. She'll be delighted to discuss skin care, make-up, hair care with you . . . to advise you on your beauty problem . . . to give you an advance preview of the newest DuBarry make-up techniques . . . in short, to become a DuBarry beauty! Consultations are private, so phone 6797 for your appointment.

Here One Week Only At

McLanahan's Drug Store

134 S. Allen Phone 6797