president, Kenneth White and Arnold Rosenberg. There were no nominations for secretary treasurer.

Freshman president nominee is James Lafler. Nominations for vice president are George Walker and James Brownlee; and for secretary treasurer, Jayne Taraci, Barbara Garrett, and Nancy Hensel.

The drawing of the State Party raffle will be held Thursday, Nov. 29 instead of Nov. 13 as erroneously reported last week.

Locked Desk Stops Losses at News Stand

No further losses have been reported at the West Dorm daily newsstand since a locked desk with slots was installed last Wednesday.

Burton Jones, manager of the Student News Agency, said the appearance of some 25 cent pieces in the box indicates that some students may have solved the problem of getting change by paying for several days' papers at one time.

The SNA sells about 1000 papers a day during the week and averages 3500 on Sundays.

WD Facilities Are Only for Residents

The Dean of Men's office yesterday reminded students that the privileges of the West Dorms are maintained for the use of residents of the dormitories only.

Frank Simes, chief resident adviser of the West Dorms, said that a number of reports had been received from counselors that students living in town have been using the shower facilities in the West Dorms, especially on Saturday nights.

He said that the students living in the area are paying for the use of the facilities in their room rent, and that it is unfair for other students to make use of them.

Free Election Trip Canceled

An offer for free transportation to Philadelphia for next Tuesday's election was canceled because of the poor response, Lorraine Dalphin, who was in charge of arrangements, said yesterday.

Only 13 students answered the ad which first appeared in the Daily Collegian Sept. 25.

After hearing that Penn State students could afford neither the time nor money necessary to return home to vote, Richard Dilworth, Democratic candidate for Philadelphia city treasurer on the ticket headed by Joseph Clark, offered free transportation to Philadelphia and a lunch to the first 50 students who signed for the trip.

A greater response to the ad was expected by Miss Dalphin because of the large number of students who signed the National Student Association's absentee voting petition last spring.

A bus was to be chartered by Dilworth so that the trip was to be made in one day.

Parking Lots--

with spaces for 65 cars; and north of the Service Building with spaces for 60 cars.

The new parking area north of the Jordan Fertility Plots should be especially helpful in alleviating the parking problem near the new women's dormitories, Wiegand said.

Polls Open--

the Engineering elections will be held behind Main Engineering Building. In case of bad weather, the elections will be inside the respective buildings.

The museum of the MI building will be the site for School of Mineral Industries elections. Chem-Phys elections will take place in the lobby of Osmond Laboratory. Education Student Council elections will take place in 105 Burrowes.

Elections for the School of Physical Education will be held in White Hall and Recreation Hall, while the lobby of the Home Economics Building will be the site for Home Economics elections.

fessed and was sentenced to 15 years imprisonment in solitary confinement.

The work of his Austrian wife and negotiations between the United States and Hungarian governments resulted in Vogeler's release on April 28, 1951.

Vogeler is the first of five speakers scheduled to appear on the forum. Other lecturers will be Eric Johnston, economic stabilizer, Nov. 28; Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., historian, Jan. 8; Dr. Bernard Iddings Bell, consultant on education, Feb. 14; and Kurt von Schuschnigg, former Austrian chancellor, March 25.
