

The Daily Collegian

Successor to THE FREE LANCE, est. 1887

Published Tuesday through Saturday mornings inclusive during the College year by the staff of The Daily Collegian of The Pennsylvania State College.

Entered as second-class matter July 5, 1934, at the State College, Pa., Post Office under the act of March 3, 1879.

Collegian editorials represent the viewpoints of the writers, not necessarily the policy of the newspaper. Unsigned editorials are by the editor.

Marv Krasnansky Editor Edward Shanken Business Mgr.

STAFF THIS ISSUE

Night editor, Mimi Ungar; copy editors, LaVonne Althouse, Pat Nutter; assistants, John Sheppard, Dick Witney, Elaine Roth, Marjorie Cole, Sheldon Smoyer, Dot Bennett.

Ad manager, Bob Potter; assistants, Don Jackel, Nancy Supplee, Phyllis Kalson, Ruth Pierce.

Women Give Points Against Vote Release

There has been much said and written to date in the current squabble over whether the results of the elections conducted by the Women's Student Government Association, Women's Recreation Association, and Leonides should be made public.

Criticism of the proposed amendment to the All-College Constitution which would require the release of these results has taken two principal forms. In the first place, cabinet has been told that "it's none of cabinet's business;" in the second instance it has been argued that the release of the election returns would hurt the feelings of the women who lose.

Whether it is or is not the business of cabinet to see that election returns are made public is a question which cabinet itself will have to decide. Since the amendment requiring the release of these figures is a test of the very structure and power of All-College government, that question has been postponed so that a clear, precise definition of the problem and all its entanglements can be investigated.

Whether or not the feelings of losing women candidates are hurt is in itself an interesting phase of this problem. We don't think they are, and if they are, they shouldn't be. It is no shame to lose an election, nor to lose it by a large, small, or in-between margin.

Further—and this is directed squarely at Miss Mary Jane Wodrow, WSGA president; Miss Marilyn Williams, WRA president; Miss Edna Baylson, Leonides president; and Dean of Women Pearl O. Weston, if you sincerely, earnestly, and honestly believe that women students at the Pennsylvania State College are being hurt by the publication of election returns, you are failing to do the job of representing the interest of your groups by not advocating that the votes polled by women in All-College and class elections should be similarly withheld.

The next move is theirs.

220 Donors Needed

There must be 220 more Penn State students who would give a pint of blood for the members of their generation fighting and dying in Korea.

There should be many more than 220, but 220 volunteers are needed by Monday to pledge a pint of blood when the Red Cross bloodmobile stops at the TUB Nov. 14 and 15.

So far, the drive has netted 180 volunteers with several fraternities signing up 20 to 25 members. However, by Monday the 400 pint quota must be filled. The time is short; so volunteers should sign a pledge at the Student Union desks in Old Main and in West Dorm lobby, the TUB, and 112 Old Main.

As we said before, there should be many more than 220 College students who would be willing to make this small but urgent sacrifice.

—Moylan Mills

Safety Valve—

Blood Drive Goal of 400 Pints is Disgraceful

TO THE EDITOR: The men and women of the campus of Pennsylvania State College are very fortunate indeed. The women, for the most part live in extremely luxurious "hotels." There are a chosen few men who live in the new modern men's "hotels." Even the men of Nittany and Pollock areas are privileged. All have much to be thankful for. We are in America. That is much for everyone to be thankful for.

However, the plea for blood, blood needed by our unfortunate men and women in Korea leaves this person doubting if the students of Penn State realize how really fortunate they are. This doubt is caused by the students' indifference to the blood drive.

In another few weeks we will be going home for our Thanksgiving vacations. Our service men cannot do the same.

However, their Thanksgiving can certainly be made more promising by the knowledge that we are behind them.

We can show them our support by donating blood on November 13th and 14th.

We cheer our football team on to victory. We take pride in our cross-country team, our soccer team and all other teams that represent our college. Why not also cheer our servicemen and women on to victory by donating a pint of blood.

A pint of our blood will never kill us, but a bullet from a "Red" can.

We can take pride in our beautiful campus, our buildings and fraternity homes. But one thing we should be ashamed of is our lackadaisical effort in the blood drive. A goal of 400 pints of blood from among 12,000 students is disgraceful.

—Howard Seymore

Gazette . . .

Friday, November 2

GRADUATE STUDENTS ROLLER SKATING PARTY, Coliseum, meet in front of Old Main, 7:30 p.m.

NAVAL RESERVE RADIO UNIT, Nov. 5, 200 Engineering E, 7 p.m.

PENN STATE BIBLE FELLOWSHIP, 405 Old Main, 7:30 p.m.

SABBATH EVE SERVICES, Alpha Epsilon Pi hosts, Hillel, 8 p.m.

COLLEGE HOSPITAL

Richard Armstrong, Charles Brown, Ross Davis, Edna Kline, George Pelkey, Katherine Scheetz, James Stitt, Louis Webster.

COLLEGE PLACEMENT

Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corp. will interview January graduates in E.E., M.E., I.E. and Metal Thursday, Nov. 8.

Carbide and Carbon Chemical Co. will visit the campus Thursday, November 8, to interview January graduates in Chem., M.E., Ch.E., E.E., and I.E.

International Latex Corp. will interview January graduates and M.S. candidates in M.E., and I.E. Wednesday, November 7.

Penn Mutual Life Insurance Co. will interview January graduates in A&L and C&F Friday, November 9.

Standard Oil Development Co. will interview January graduates in E.E., Ch.E., M.E., C.E., and I.E. Friday, November 9.

Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co. will interview 1952 M.S. and Ph.D. candidates, and January graduates in Chem., Com. Chem., Ch.E., and Science Monday, November 12.

Procter and Gamble Manufacturing Co. will interview January graduates in C.E., E.E., I.E., M.E., S.E., Ch.E., Chem. and Metal, Monday, November 12. They will interview M.S. candidates in C.E. and Ch.E. also.

Boeing Airplane Co. will interview January graduates in Aero. E., C.E., E.E., I.E., M.E. and M.S. and Ph.D. candidates in Phys. and Math, Monday, November 12.

Factory Mutual Engineering Division will interview January graduates in Ch.E., Phys., Aero. E., Arch. E., C.E., E.E., I.E., M.E., S.E., Min.E., and Arch. Tuesday, Nov. 13.

Bell Telephone System will interview January graduates at the B.S. level, and 1952 M.S. and Ph.D. candidates in M.E., I.E., E.E., and Phys. Tuesday, Nov. 13.

Texas Co. will interview M.S. and Ph.D. candidates, who will receive their degrees in 1952, in Chem. and Ch.E. Thursday, Nov. 15.

United States Rubber Co. will interview Ph.D. candidates in Organic Chemistry Tuesday, Nov. 13.

Air Preheater Corp. will interview January graduates in C.E., E.E., I.E., M.E., and Fuel Tech. Wednesday, Nov. 14.

STUDENT EMPLOYMENT

Man to set pins for bowling league.

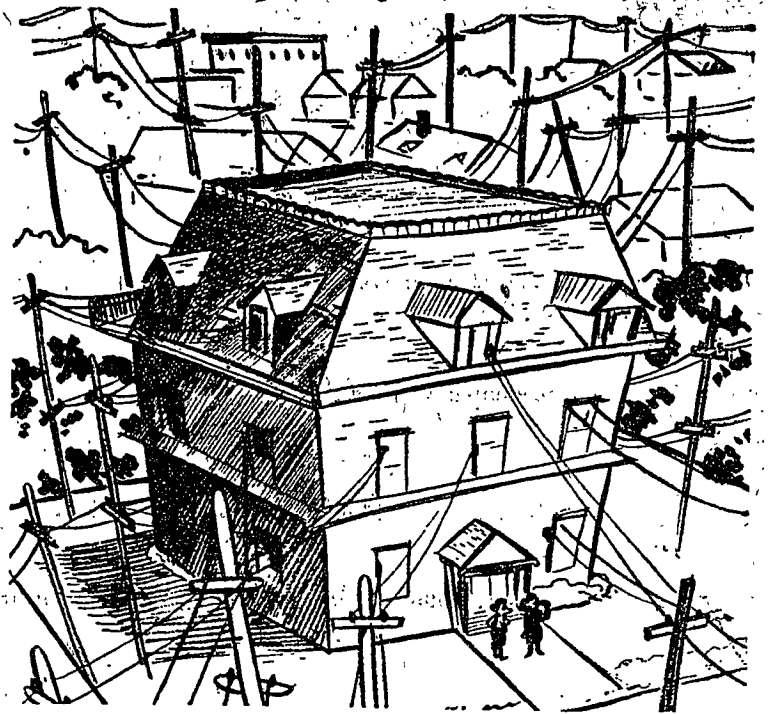

Piano player for Wednesday, Friday, and Saturday nights.

Graduate Student in Chemistry or Chemical Engineering for special project.

Man to work two hours every morning Monday through Friday as a messenger.

Student wife or student to cook noon meal.

Little Man On Campus By Bibler

"You would be pledging the most popular sorority on campus— Ask the telephone company."

The Old Millstream

By MOYLAN MILLS

For some time now, we've heard plenty of Penn Staters griping about the Student Union fee recommended by All-College Cabinet and passed by the Board of Trustees about a year and a half ago.

Rarely have we heard anyone defend the fee, so we've decided to stick our neck out and come to its defense.

First, we must realize that Penn State will never have a Student Union if the students don't set up some scheme to pay for it. The state legislature, through the General State Authority provides money for educational buildings only, and a Student Union is not classified as an educational structure by the legislature.

Then, too, when other parties connected with the College see the students are willing to help themselves get a SU, these parties will be much more amenable to shouldering some of the financial burden. The parties will feel much safer chipping in when they realize they won't be stuck with paying for the entire building.

Another point to keep in mind is the fact that we would be enjoying the advantages of a Student Union right now if a student assessment had been levied before 1950.

It was in 1950 that the Board of Trustees approved cabinet's recommendation to impose a SU fee of $7.50 per semester for that year and $10 per semester for following years. Early this fall, the executive committee of the Board of Trustees voted to keep the $7.50 this year since the building had not been started according to plans.

The College is now waiting for federal approval to begin construction and federal okay to purchase scarce materials, according to Walter Weigand, director of the College physical plant.

We admit that $7.50 a semester amounts to a lot of money by the time graduate rolls around. But looking at the problem in a detached way, someone has to get the ball rolling so it might as well be us.

Anyway, if we want to be purely selfish about it, we will be benefiting from the Student Union in the long run. Our children or our children's children may come to Penn State and make use of the SU facilities. Almost every third person at State has had a parent or relative who has attended the College.

Then, too, the general educational level of the state and nation will be in some way raised by the addition to the physical plant of the College.

As for students being kept from coming to State because of the $15 per year, we think that's a lot of hogwash. Perhaps $150 would make such a difference, but not $15.

And coming right down to it, cabinet has not gone overboard burdening us with fees. Only two fees of any consequence have been levied on the students in the past five years—the SU fee and the Daily Collegian fee raise of last year.

CATHAUM Now Showing

• FEATRETIME — 1:59, 3:57, 5:55, 7:54, 9:52 •

High, Wide, and Handsome Musical!!!

Texas Carnival

Color Technicolor

STARRING ESTHER WILLIAMS, RED SKELTON, HOWARD KEEL

PAULA ANN RAYMOND MILLER, KEENAN WYNN, TOM TULLY

PLUS—"EXCITEMENT"—A DAY WITH THE F. B. I.

KOSHER

CORNED BEEF SANDWICHES

(On Rye Of Course!)

Enjoy Them at

The Nittany Dell

Home Of Delicious Sandwiches

Across From Ath Hall

CATHAUM TONITE MIDNITE SHOW

DOORS OPEN 11:30 ALL SEATS 60c

"The Hit-Em-First Heroes Who Spearheaded the Way to Glory!"

"The TANKS ARE COMING"

"There's nobody like 'em on land, sea or air! Warner Bros. happy scrappy story of the Spearhead 3rd, Uncle Sam's wonderful Yanks in Tanks!"

STARRING

Steve Cochran • Philip Carey