

Purdue Hosts Gridders Today

Lions Will Try For 4th Win At Lafayette

The Nittany Lion football team will try for its second straight win and its fourth of the season today when the Penn State gridgers meet Purdue University in an intersectional clash in Lafayette, Ind. Kickoff time is 2:30 p.m. E.S.T.

Today's meeting between Penn State and Purdue will mark the first time the two teams have met on the gridiron. Penn State is a ten point underdog.

Coach Rip Engle's Lions will help the Boilermakers celebrate one of the annual "High School Days" at Purdue Memorial Union Stadium.

Purdue Seeks 2d Win

While the Nittany Lions will be out for their fourth win of the season today, Coach Stu Holcomb's Boilermakers will be in search of their second win of the year.

After losing to Texas in its opener, 14-0, Purdue defeated Iowa, 34-30, on a last minute touchdown pass by quarterback Dale Samuels for its only win. After that, the Boilermakers lost three straight games to Miami of Florida, 7-0; Wisconsin, '31-7; and Notre Dame, 30-9.

The Nittany Lions will be bucking the even game jinx when they tackle the Boilermakers today. Engle's team won the opener from Boston University, 40-34, but dropped the second game to Villanova, 20-14. State came back to beat Nebraska in the third game, 15-7, but the following weekend dropped the even numbered game to Michigan State, 32-21.

Even Numbered Jinx

Last weekend, the Lions defeated West Virginia University, 13-7, for their third straight win in an even numbered game. Today's clash with Purdue will be Penn State's sixth game of the season.

Penn State will be up against a strong passing team today in Purdue and the Boilermakers should put the Lions' pass defense, which hasn't been too strong, to a stiff test. Reports are that the Boilermakers' passing attack makes up 40 per cent of their offense. And if the Lions are going to upset Purdue today, they will have to stop Holcomb's star passing artist, Dale Samuels.

Samuels, Offensive Star

At the quarterback slot, Samuels is the main cog around which Purdue's T-formation operates. In five games, Samuels has thrown 110 passes, completing 53 of them for 624 yards. In five games, Penn State's two quarterbacks, Tony Rados and Bobby Szajna, combined, have thrown only 81 passes. They've completed 32 for a total of 525 yards.

Samuels has three top-notch receivers in ends Bernard Flowers, Darrel Brewster, and Leo Sugar. Flowers has pulled in 15 of Samuels' tosses for 138 yards. Brewster at ends, Dave Whiteaker and

Against the Boilermakers today, the Lions will again be without the services of fullback Paul Anders and halfback Bill Leonard, neither of whom made the trip to Lafayette because of injuries.

Vesling Replaces Leonard

Anders' fullback slot will go to either Matt Yanosich or Petie Shopa. Leonard will be replaced in the defensive backfield by Keith Vesling. Buddy Rowell will kick the extra points in the absence of Leonard, while Joe Gratson will probably do the kicking off.

Offensively, Engle will probably start Co-captain Art Betts and Joe Yukica at ends, Ed Hoover and Bill Hockersmith at tackles, Len Bartek and Don Barney at guards, Jim Dooley at center, either Rados or Szajna at quarterback, Ted Shattuck at halfback, Bob Pollard at wingback, and either Yanosich or Shopa at fullback.

On the defense, Pat McPoland and either Charlie Wilson or Dave Simon will start at ends, Stew Scheetz and Dick Cripps at tackles, Pete Schoderbek at guard, Co-captain Len Shephard, Gratson, and Joe Shumock at the linebacking positions, Pollard and

Lawrence Thinks Rivals Improved Bucknell Passing

LEWISBURG, Pa., Nov. 1—(AP)—Coach Harry Lawrence, whose unbeaten Bucknell Bisons face their biggest test of the year against Temple on Saturday, credits rival teams with developing his team's passing attack.

"We have been throwing more passes the past few games because we have found that our opponents in trying to stop our running attack have been packing the line," Lawrence said today.

Attempts to stop Bucknell's split-T rushing, Lawrence said, have left the passing lanes "wide open."

Running his boys through another passing drill in preparation for the highly-regarded Owls, Lawrence said Joe Gallagher's return to his usual form also has given the Bisons new effectiveness in forwards.

Gallagher, of Newark, N.J., sustained a collar-bone fracture two months ago and did not get into the lineup until the Lehigh game on Oct. 7.

Harriers Race NYU Today In Home Season Windup

Foreign Soccermen Oppose Lions Today

One of the most colorful soccer matches in recent years will take place at 2 p.m. today on the baseball field when Penn State's soccer team takes on a team made up of foreign students on campus.

And for the first time in many years, Lion Coach Bill Jeffrey will not handle the team. Jeffrey will hand over his duties to Captain Ron Coleman while he himself directs the foreign squad.

Eleven countries will be represented on the foreign team, including nations from Asia, Asia Minor, and Central and South America. Thailand, Indonesia, India, and French Indo-China will represent Central America, while Bolivia, Argentina, Brazil, and Uruguay will represent South America.

Double Duty

Jeffrey will open with the lone faculty member of the team, Rustam Roy, a research associate in geological chemistry, at goalie.

In the front line, Jeffrey will use Navueto Ban, French Indo-China, at inside left, while on the other side will be Carlose Wright, Brazil, at inside right.

At center forward, either Joe Mijares, Guatemala, or Harry Solomon, Argentina, will get the nod. Mijares also plays for Penn State's varsity, having seen action against Colgate at center forward.

Starting at the two wing spots will be two or three men—Fred-erico Bascope, Bolivia, or Abdurrahman Kurin, Turkey, on the left side and Faik Mehmet Atila, also of Turkey on the opposite side.

Same Eleven

The fullback slots will be handled by Dick Hamer, Uruguay, on the right side and Louis Cantave, Haiti, on the left.

At the halfback positions, Jeffrey will probably use Dick Rice, Indonesia; Prodipto Roy, India; and Phanom Smithananda, Thailand. Smithananda will probably hold down center halfback while Roy and Rice will handle the left and right halfback duties.

Penn State, on the other hand, will probably use the same eleven men that beat Colgate last week, 3-1, at Colgate.

Emig to Referee

In addition to the foreigners, Jeffrey indicated that he might play "if they need me." Jeffrey's presence would add another country, Scotland, to the already large list.

Red Emig, a former star with Jeffrey's club last year at left halfback, has offered his services as a referee.

Charge Cage Ref With Taking Bribe

NEW YORK, Nov. 2—(AP)—Referee Sol Levy was charged today with taking a bribe to fix a professional basketball game last November and held under $15,000 bail for a Nov. 13 hearing. Police said six National Basketball Association games were involved in three of which the referee failed in fix attempts.

An assistant district attorney said the baldish 41-year-old referee from Brooklyn helped involve college players in the mushrooming national scandal by withholding vital information from the police.

Vincent A. G. O'Connor, assistant district attorney, said Levy had information in the spring of 1950 that could have prevented the bribing of many college players. The prosecutor said the referee helped bring about the "tragedy" that came to the families of many of the youths involved by not divulging information to the police.

State Rates Edge On 3-1 Season Log; Smith Not Running

Penn State's national champion cross-country team runs its final home race of the season against New York University at 2 p.m. today on the College course.

The five mile run starts on Beaver Field, goes over the golf course and finishes on Beaver Field again.

On the basis of season records the Lions rate the edge. Chick Werner's harriers successively beat Pitt, 19-36, Cornell, 16-48, and Michigan State, 19-41. Then just last week the Lions had a nine straight dual meet win record extending from 1949 stopped by Army, 22-35.

Trimmed Violets

Against State's 3-1 mark, NYU has split in four meets. The Violets coached by one of the country's most famous track coaches, Emil Von Elling, lost their opener to Army, 18-45; won its next from Rutgers, 19-36; lost to St. Johns, 27-33; and Tuesday of this week evened its record at 2-2 with a 16-41 rout of CCNY.

One year ago the Lions, who went on to win the IC4A title, trimmed the Violets, fifth in the IC's, on the Van Cortlandt course with a clean sweep 15-48 win.

Two of the Lions who were in on the five-way tie for first place, Bill Ashenfelter and Captain Dud Foster, will run against the Violets again today.

Top Five

Otherwise the Lion lineup is weakened due to the sickness of regulars Lamont Smith and Pete Sarantopoulos who aren't running, and the sprained ankle (Continued from page six)
