THE LATE ARTHUR R. WARNOCK, dean of men emeritus, chats with Pres. Eisenhower and the Hon. Frank M. Myers, principal court judge of the District of Columbia, before the annual IFC-AFC banquet Saturday night. It was Dean Warnock's last appearance before his death Sunday morning.

Arthur R. Warnock, Dean Emeritus, Dies

Arthur R. Warnock, dean of men emeritus, died in his sleep at his home early Sunday morning from a heart attack. He was 67. At the request of the family, no services will be held at the College or in State College. The body will be removed to Petersburg, Ill., where funeral services will be held Thursday. Dean Warnock was Penn State's first Dean of Men, a position he held for 30 years until his retirement in 1949.

Besides being active in community affairs, Dean Warnock was instrumental in the founding of Penn State's fraternity system. At the time of his death he was chairman of the National Interfraternity Conference, an organization in which he was active for many years. Charles E. Pledger, Washington, D.C., will succeed him in the post.

Dean Warnock helped organize the student government system here which is now looked upon as one of the model setups in the country.

In addition to being a popular after-dinner speaker, Dean Warnock for 27 years wrote his "Daily Half Colyum" for the Centre Daily Times and was

The day before his death Dean Warnock spoke at a luncheon meeting of the Pennsylvania State Historical Society and in the evening addressed the annual banquet of the Interfraternity Council-Association of Fraternity Counselors.

Dean Warnock came to Penn State from the University of Illinois, his alma mater, after serving for nine years as assistant dean of men there. Originally, he planned to stay here only five years but the challenge offered by the growing College and his love for the community of State College prompted him to remain.

Frank Schrey, State Party vice-clique chairman, presided at his party's meeting in the absence of Robert Amole, clique chairman. He said there would be no party meetings this year, but that all election work would be done through the ward system.

Lion Party

Schrey said the State party platform would be submitted to the elections committee for approval and should be made public by Wednesday or Thursday.

Lion party chairman Ray Evert said "the new organizational meetings of the party are one of the greatest things to happen on campus." He also said that more of these meetings would be held to mould the organization into a real political party.

3 Faculty Men Discuss Timely Issue at Hillel

The question: "Can Communism and Democracy Exist in the World Together?" was discussed by three faculty members in the first program of the 12th annual series of Hillel town meetings Sunday.

Solutions toward East-West cooperation may be found in the Marshall Plan, economic blockades, education, the United Nations, and World Federalism according to John Mourant, head of the philosophy department.

Russian participation in the 1952 Olympics and the fact that the UN Assembly may meet in Moscow were regarded as good signs for world cooperation by Carroll Champlin, professor of education, who has studied in many Communist-dominated countries.

The only way Communism and American Democracy can live side by side is to take a scientific and relative view towards man's symbols, said Walter Coutu, professor of sociology.

Rabbi Benjamin Kahn, director of the Hillel Foundation, served as moderator.

A total of 397 pledges have been received for scheduling by the All-College Cabinet blood drive committee, officials reported yesterday. The drive, with a 600 pledge goal, will end at 5 p.m. Thursday.

Drive leaders were optimistic as to whether the drive would hit the goal. They said that if student donations go past the goal it will be possible to secure the Red Cross bloodmobile on Nov. 16. The bloodmobile is scheduled to be at the TUB from Nov. 13 to 15.

SPA Gets Award for Scholarship

Sigma Phi Alpha was awarded the Sigma Chi scholarship trophy at the annual IFC-AFC banquet Saturday night at the Nittany Lion Inn.

The award, which is given each year to the fraternity which has improved most in scholarship during the year, was presented by Stan Wengert, Interfraternity Council president, and received for the fraternity by Donald Mercer.

The banquet climaxed the second annual IFC-Workshop program which began last Wednesday. Principal speaker was the Hon. Frank H. Myers, associate judge of the municipal court for the District of Columbia and past chairman of the National Interfraternity Conference.

Speaking on the subject of drinking, Judge Myers said, "The question of drinking is the individual's responsibility up to and until he fails to live up to that responsibility, when it becomes the fraternity's responsibility—and the college's."

The judge stated he did not mean to imply that only fraternity men get drunk. He said, however, there is a difference between the fraternity drunk and the college drunk. The latter, he maintained, does not hurt the prestige and name of the American college fraternity system, but when the fraternity member drinks too much, both he and the fraternity stand trial.

Judge Myers also hit the "sadistic" hazing and hell week practices of some fraternities, declaring they are absolutely without justification and should be eliminated.

Arthur R. Warnock, dean of men emeritus and chairman of the NIC, introduced Judge Myers.
